

opinion she was an extremely intelligent girl who was well educated and it was furthermore my impression that she was 'worldly' in that she had a great amount of sophistication and did not in the slightest appear to be naive. It further appeared to me that she spoke freely to me of her most personal matters concerning her operation above referred to and her general relations with men and as a result of this I received the impression that she was what I would consider a 'fast girl'. In this connection I mean that she had discussed frankly with me going out with many men and I had the distinct impression she had had relations with several of them. As she was quite free in discussing the most intimate details of her personal life with me though we had been acquainted but a short time, I was of the impression that she was a very adventurous type.

"I would describe her sympathies as being those of a 'New Deal Liberal' although I cannot recall any specific matters which we discussed along these lines. On no occasion did I receive the impression that she was interested in or sympathetic to Communism or the Communist Party or its ideologies. For this reason I do not believe she would be an idealist, Communist Party member or follower but feel that if she is involved or was involved in the Communist Party for espionage matters it would be through a personal reason; that is, a love affair with some man. It is my recollection that she was making a good salary in her work and I do not recall that she was pressed for money nor is it my recollection that she lived beyond her means. It is my belief, though this is pure conjecture, that if she is involved in espionage matters as has been alleged, that her involvement was caused through a love affair with some man; for example, one she may have met in Paris who by one means or another induced her to engage in this type of activity.

"I have read this statement consisting of this page and the previous two pages and it is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

want to Cornell with her, [] was also aware that the subject's father was sick and COPLON recently advised her that the family purchased a television set for her father's entertainment.

Concerning meetings in Washington with the subject, [] stated that they varied; sometimes two or more times a week for lunch and then again she would not see the subject for approximately three or four weeks. She last saw the subject on Thursday, March 3rd, the day before the subject was arrested in New York, at which time [] stated she ran into the subject in a bakery store on Pennsylvania and 9th Street, and the only conversation concerned a statement that COPLON would call [] for lunch sometime the next week. On this occasion [] noted no difference in subject's appearance and there was no worried expression on her face.

Concerning her boyfriends, [] advised that she heard that HAROLD SHAPIRO was rushing COPLON although COPLON never mentioned SHAPIRO to her. [] claims not to know of any other boyfriends of COPLON.

Concerning the incident in question, namely the disclosing of confidential information to outside sources, [] stated that she cannot account for it and knows no motive for it on the part of COPLON; that COPLON was very easy to get along with and that she, [] can't believe that COPLON is interested in Communism or is sympathetic towards Communism or Russia; that COPLON at no time showed any personal grudge against society or against the United States; that the subject never lived beyond her means and never borrowed money and that she had no outside pressing financial obligations as she never supported her family financially. On the other hand, [] stated that to her knowledge the subject had no outside income. She wore good clothes, moderate in cost and was interested in modern dancing. [] advised she considered herself a friend to the subject but never a real close friend. She was close enough, however, that the subject confided in her concerning her female troubles which necessitated hospitalization. [] advised that the subject was in Garfield Hospital on one occasion although she never visited her there, and may have been in Emergency Hospital on another occasion.

Concerning her European trip, [] advised that the subject had mentioned it before, stating that her mother was opposed to her making the trip. However, the subject stated that she had the time off to make the trip and decided to go. [] stated she received no letters or cards from the subject and received no gift from her upon her return. [] has no idea as to the cost of this travel but presumes that the purpose was for a vacation and the money probably came from the subject's savings account. Concerning her ability to save a large sum of money to make a trip which other witnesses have described as costing approximately $2,000, [] advised that while employed in New York City for the Department of Justice, subject lived at home with her parents and presumably was in a position to save a substantial part of her salary.

Concerning her character, [] advised that she did not think subject could be approached without disclosing the approach to the proper authorities. Further, that she did not think subject could be compromised or blackmailed into disclosing confidential information. Concerning the ideological basis or motive on the part of the subject, [] advised that the subject never discussed politics with her and accordingly she is not in a position to describe subject's views concerning such topics as the Marshall Plan, Aid to Greece, Turkey and China, the Berlin Blockade, Universal Military Training and other subjects which the Communist viewpoint is diametrically opposed to U. S. foreign policy. Subject never discussed the loyalty program with [] and never expressed any feeling of being involved in a loyalty program. [] advised that the subject of conversation mostly pertained to clothes. During the past year, namely 1948, [] has met the subject at various times which ranged from three or four times a month to only once a month.

Concerning subject's trip to New York, [] advised that she was aware that subject went to New York often but this knowledge mainly was hearsay and came from subject's friends, namely, BERNICE SHAMOWITZ and SARAH BECKER, the latter two of which only last week mentioned subject was going to New York and also mentioned the fact that the subject had been in New York approximately a week or ten days previously. Further, that the subject had talked to [] about either going to New York or just having gone to New York. On one occasion subject said she wanted to look for a job in New York City.

[] stated she had no knowledge that the subject ever took home files from the Department of Justice to work on them at her apartment. Further, that subject never asked her for any information, it being noted that [] is an Economist with the Antitrust Division and on one occasion Miss COPLON asked [] how to go about registering a complaint regarding an antitrust matter.

Concerning subject's future status of whether she decided to get married and settle down or continue in the Government in a career, [] advised that the subject wanted to get married but mentioned about going to American University and George Washington University Law School. She also talked about writing a thesis at Columbia University Library, taking the summer off to do this. [] did not know the subject of her thesis.

[] did not know of any love affair with anyone at United Nations on the part of subject and stated that she would rule out any thought that subject was motivated by a love affair with GUBITCHEV. [] was asked why the subject desired to live alone and whether her desire to live alone was motivated by the fact that the subject did not want any other person to know of her typing confidential reports for outside sources and [] advised that she assumed that the subject preferred to live alone and on one occasion subject told [] she did not like to have male company in her apartment. As far as she knew, the subject's moral reputation was good. However, [] advised that the subject sought out the company of other girls to attend concerts and go places because she told SARAH BECKER that she did not like the idea of going places alone. However, [] advised that the subject never sought a roommate or to room with anyone else.

Concerning her character further, [] advised the subject was never sour on the world, was attractive and not repulsive. In fact, [] advised she never suspected the subject at all and if it is true that she is involved in this matter then she stated the subject certainly was a good actress. [] advised the subject was not religiously inclined and never attended to her religious obligations. In fact, subject never discussed religion and therefore [] does not know whether the subject is either an atheist or an agnostic.

[] advised that the subject has kept up her Barnard College acquaintances as she recalls that subject has purchased wedding gifts for some of them. [] was positive the subject did not spend her entire salary on clothes for herself, stating the subject received many clothes from her sister-in-law and she was always dressed well.

[] could furnish absolutely no information regarding the motive for the subject doing what she did.

Washington, D. C.

[redacted] was interviewed on March 8, 1949, by Special Agents EDWARD F. HUMMER and ROBERT K. McQUEEN.

[redacted] stated that she first met JUDITH COPLON in October 1947 when she was employed in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice. She was at that time a stenographer and occasionally took dictation from COPLON from October 1947 to July 1948 when she terminated her employment with the Justice Department. She said, however, that the majority of the work was copy work and she assisted COPLON only as a member of the stenographic pool.

With regard to COPLON's friends and contacts within the Department, she said that the subject's particular friend appeared to be [redacted] but that she was friendly with NATHAN LENVIN and [redacted]. According to [redacted] however, the subject was friendly with everyone in the section with one exception which will be set forth below.

With regard to the subject's outside activities, [redacted] assumed from the subject's conversation that she saw [redacted] and his wife after hours and perhaps SYDNEY BRODIE. [redacted] however, knew of no other outside associations.

With regard to the subject's work, the interviewee did not know if the subject took work home but stated she was always carrying something with her, the nature of which [redacted] did not know. [redacted] did not think that it was necessary to take work home and said that if there was an overload of work it was the custom to work overtime rather than to take material home.

As to political activity of the subject, [redacted] has never noticed any Soviet or Communist sympathies on the part of the subject. She said that when she worked with COPLON the latter handled the French nationality. She did not remember that she had ever discussed controversial subjects, such as the Marshall Plan, the universal military training program, the Berlin blockade, the loyalty program or similar subjects wherein the Communist viewpoint is diametrically opposed to American policy, with subject nor did she know if COPLON belonged to any organizations.

With regard to subject's finances, [redacted] did not know of any outside support which the subject may have received. She said she did not think subject lived beyond her means although she had never discussed finances with her. She said she dressed plainly and did not believe that subject supported relatives nor had she borrowed money from anyone in the section to her knowledge.

~~SECRET~~

With regard to the subject's trip to Europe, [] only knew she was going and received a postcard from the subject which she believes was sent from Paris, France.

[] knew of no relatives of subject in Europe or behind the iron curtain.

As to her moral reputation, [] thought it was good. She considered her of high character and does not believe that she could be bribed or blackmailed. She said that the subject was very likable although she had a temper and could be very stubborn on occasions. She said that the subject did not get along with Miss RUTH LONGLEY in the FAR Section and believes that the latter resented COPLON's having such a good job at such an early age.

[] considered COPLON to be a typical American girl. She did not know who her boy friends were although she assumes that she had some. Her main interest at this time, according to [] was her schooling.

[] does not think that the subject is religious and can not recall that she observed her religious obligations by keeping high holidays and other days which the Jewish faith celebrates. She had never heard her speak of religion.

[] stated that the subject's trips to New York appeared to be of no regularity although she believes subject went two or three times a month and the purpose of her visits was to see her parents. With regard to the subject's hospitalization she said that the subject would not tell anyone what it was for but as she recalls, it turned out to be an appendectomy. [] with other members of the section visited subject at Garfield Hospital.

According to [] the subject liked music but her studies were her primary interest. She knew subject was interested in photography and she saw subject's camera on one occasion and remembers it as an ordinary box camera. She did not see a personal typewriter of subject.

With regard to other employment, [] stated when reduction was threatened in the Department, subject did apply for several other jobs but does not remember where. She had the opinion, however, that subject was primarily tired of working in the section. [] thought that the subject made an application for overseas service at that time but does not know under which branch of the government.

[] last saw COPLON about three weeks ago when the former had lunch in the Department cafeteria with a friend. She said COPLON looked tired, worn out and nervous and that her mind was apparently not on their conversation. She said she noticed COPLON's taking pills and inquired as to the reason but obtained no response. At that time COPLON asked her if she would type her thesis but [] refused due to the pressure of work at her home.

[] said that COPLON never did anything in moderation but when she did anything, she did it with full effort. She believes she was ambitious for a career yet was generous, good hearted and emotional. She stated that the subject had a very complex nature, one day being "kiddish" and the next posing some brilliant remark. It was [] opinion that COPLON would be the type to break down under any emotional strain.

[] did not know if the subject associated with anyone who had a stepmother or stepfather.

She suggested that VAN BUREN SKIPPER, a colored messenger for the Department of Justice, might be interviewed with regard to COPLON. She said that SKIPPER used to wrap things for her, as he did for anyone who asked him, and he might be able to furnish some information.

[] was interviewed by Special Agents TOM MENDENHALL and ROBERT SMELTZER on March 25, 1949, and furnished the following information concerning JUDITH COPLON:

He first met her in the summer of 1947 at which time [] later his wife, was visiting him in Washington from New York and was staying at the Statler Hotel. [] had called JUDITH and invited her to the hotel and during the time the latter was there, the two girls renewed their acquaintance and chatted generally. [] paid only slight attention to the conversation as he was not acquainted with their mutual school friends and not particularly interested in their reminiscing. Some time after the marriage of the [] in October 1947 they visited JUDITH for about two hours at her apartment in Tunlaw Road where again the conversation was general and innocuous.

Approximately two or three months after their marriage they invited JUDITH to their apartment for dinner, which invitation she accepted. On either this occasion or subsequent thereto, [] was invited to the [] apartment at which time they were entertaining FLOYD GUNTHER, a friend of [] and [] who was known to [] through his employment at the patent office. At the end of the evening [] escorted JUDITH home but, according to [] did not thereafter see her.

During the Christmas season of 1948, JUDITH again came to dinner at the [] this time escorted by a young attorney from the Department of Justice, whose name he could not recall. The man was described partially as 5' 10", dark hair and complexion, about thirty-two years old, 170 pounds. It was not recalled if he wore glasses nor could [] state that the individual's name was HAROLD SHAPIRO. []

According to [] this was his entire personal acquaintance with JUDITH COPLON, as he had never known her in New York nor had he met her family with the exception of her brother, whom he and [] chanced to see with JUDITH at Union Station one evening last spring or summer, at which time they exchanged pleasantries after being introduced by JUDITH.

[] could recall no controversial discussions with JUDITH on world or domestic affairs and attributed this to the fact that she seemed to be of the same political disposition as he and his wife, namely a Liberal, Roosevelt Democrat, pro-labor and convinced of the benefits of health insurance and social security. He never received the impression that JUDITH was sympathetic to Communism or affiliated in any way with the Communist Party nor possessed of any affinity to the Soviet Union or its form of government.

[] recalled that JUDITH had discussed generally her European trip, having been fascinated with the beauty of Florence, Italy, and the culture of its people. Nothing was known of any contacts made by her in Europe or of any ulterior motive for her trip other than the natural desire for travel. It was not felt peculiar that she could afford such a trip, for as [] noted, JUDITH evidently received a moderately good salary and lived within her means; consequently being able to save the money for such a trip. As [] stated; [] was much better acquainted with JUDITH than was he, but both of them were shocked to read of JUDITH's apprehension for espionage; and could recall no actions or words on her part which would even slightly indicate that she was engaged in the activity with which she is charged.

It was [] impression, gained either from conversation with his wife or JUDY; that the latter's main reason for coming to Washington, D. C., had been the natural inclination of a young person to "be on her own" and that although it was not recalled that she was displeased with her position in the Justice Department; [] felt that she had wanted to return to New York as she was "tired of Washington".

[] did not specifically recall any of JUDITH's trips to New York but felt that it would have been natural for her to have periodically visited her father whom she had mentioned was ill. No friends or associates of COPLON's were known to [] either by name or description; however, he stated that subsequent to the publicity of her arrest, he and his wife have spoken with a Miss EDITH STERN; a teacher at the Georgetown University Medical School, and one CONRAD POLEGY (phonetic), now employed in Richmond, Virginia, with the publishing or printing firm of the Berg (or Byrd) Press. These individuals, primarily friends of [] had recently visited their apartment and it was revealed that both were acquainted with COPLON. [] was of the impression that such acquaintance was formed in grammar school in New York and that they had had no recent contact with her.

[] noted his date of birth as [] Brooklyn, New York. The additional background and employment information elicited from him coincides substantially with that previously reported and is not being here repeated.

The following interview of [redacted] was conducted by Special Agents EDWARD F. HUMMER and HOLLIS W. BOWERS on March 25, 1949, beginning at seven o'clock p.m. and ending at eight-fifty p.m.

[redacted] informed that she first became acquainted with JUDITH COPLON when COPLON was thirteen years of age and she was fourteen. They lived in the same neighborhood in Brooklyn, New York, [redacted] living at [redacted] and COPLON living in the 2500 block of Avenue S. [redacted] said they were high school friends at the James Madison High School, Brooklyn, and attended a number of classes together graduating together in 1939. Thereafter, COPLON went to Barnard College and [redacted] attended Brooklyn College.

According to [redacted] she saw COPLON only on week ends after their high school days as COPLON was very busy at college because of her "extra-curricular activities," which consisted of working on college newspapers, as she [redacted] recalled. [redacted] said she didn't know any of COPLON'S Barnard friends with the exception of a girl whose first name was MARCELLA, and who had been mentioned by COPLON. The only mutual friends she could recall were high school friends SELMA RUBINSTEIN nee AUGUST, presently living in Queens and who lived in Brooklyn Heights about one year ago; CISSIE RAIDER nee KLEIN, who lives on Avenue M, Brooklyn, between East Eighteenth and East Nineteenth and AMY STONE, who lived near COPLON on Avenue S.

The only organization [redacted] could recall that COPLON belonged to during their high school days was the "Arista" Honor Society, which is throughout New York City. [redacted] said she didn't know whether COPLON had ever been a member of the American Students Union at Barnard College.

Continuing, [redacted] said she joined the Waves on February 19, 1943, and was assigned to Georgia for training, after which she went to Floyd Bennett Field. While assigned to Bennett Field, she was off duty one night and had a chance meeting with COPLON. [redacted] said she recalls the meeting as she had handled a highly confidential dispatch that day and was very nervous from thinking about the fact she had handled such confidential material and was walking alone at night down a Brooklyn street, together with the fact that a "Nazi" might like the information. It was, thereafter, that she ran into COPLON and both discussed what they were doing without divulging anything to one another. COPLON told her she was working for the government and was handling some very "heavy" work.

[redacted] said she didn't see COPLON again until 1947. This meeting was brought about as a result of seeing someone on the street in New York who said

COPLON was in Washington. [] made the inquiry in view of her impending trip to Washington to see her fiancé [] said that one year and ten months ago, she came down to Washington to see [] and while here phoned COPLON at her Tunlaw Road number and asked her over for cocktails at the Statler where she was staying. She introduced COPLON to her fiancé and after cocktails, she and [] took her home. [] said she had obtained COPLON'S phone number by calling COPLON'S mother. One month later, she again came to Washington, stayed at the Statler for a week and spent one afternoon with COPLON.

[] said she married [] in October 1947, and came to live in Washington. They lived in several hotels, until they obtained a furnished apartment at [] for one month, thereafter, they moved to their present address, []

[] said COPLON came to visit her sometime in the Spring of 1948, during which visit, she recalls a discussion about law school and the New York Bar requirements which made attending school and working at the same time too difficult. [] said she didn't know that COPLON had ever attended the American University.

[] recalled that she and her husband were out walking one day in the vicinity of Union Station and had gone into the station looking for a soda bar where they ran into COPLON and her brother, BERTRAM. BERTRAM had been to Baltimore, Maryland, on a selling trip, after which he came to Washington to visit COPLON and at the time of this meeting, BERTRAM was about to entrain for New York. [] said she and her husband prevailed upon BERTRAM to take a later train, which he did, and the four of them went for drinks. [] believed this meeting to be prior to COPLON'S European trip. b6

[] remembered a phone conversation with COPLON during which COPLON said she had saved some money and annual leave and was going to Europe to visit France and Italy. [] said she asked COPLON how much it would cost, and was told she thought she could do it on $1,000, by flying. [] said she didn't know how long COPLON was gone, didn't know whether COPLON was fluent enough with French to handle conversation and neither of them discussed going to Russia. Upon her return, COPLON phoned several times and one time, said she had a small gift, but that she had never received it.

[] said she has only had personal contact with COPLON twice since her return from Europe, although, they have had a number of phone conversations. According to [] she had lunch with COPLON, at which time, COPLON said she was very impressed with Italy and especially Florence; that she spoke of the art, music and culture of Italy and the fact she had purchased some MICHAELANGELO prints. [] said COPLON didn't speak of having met anyone..

~~SECRET~~

[] said her second personal meeting with COPLON since the European trip, took place between Christmas and New Year, 1948, at which time, COPLON and an attorney friend from Justice who had attended Yale and was from New Haven (probably HAROLD P. SHAPIRO, although [] didn't recall the name) came for dinner after having attended an office party. []

[] said her husband and COPLON'S friend discussed law and played records while she and COPLON discussed clothes and psychoanalysis. The question of psychoanalysis was brought up by COPLON, who spoke of some friend in McLean Gardens who was in the field of psychology. Further, COPLON asked [] if she knew anything about Freudanalysis. [] said she explained what she knew about it and asked COPLON if she had been going to a psychoanalyst or was considering. COPLON said no and laughed, saying she had her little neuroses.

[] said she phoned COPLON on Monday, February 28, 1949, concerning a luncheon engagement planned for Tuesday, March 1, 1949, and learned that COPLON had a cold. COPLON suggested that [] phone her office the next day to determine whether she would be able to make the luncheon. Subsequently, she called COPLON on Tuesday night March 1, 1949, and made plans for luncheon the following week.

[] continuing, said most of their conversations were over the phone. On one conversation in the past several months, COPLON said during a phone conversation that her thesis had to be in by December of this year. During another phone conversation, COPLON, speaking of her government employment, said once a person becomes a government employee, it becomes difficult to break away. Further, that she didn't especially want to go back to New York, nor did she particularly want to stay in Washington. [] said she and COPLON were both very interested in politics and both were free in their discussions and she [] felt free to make any comments to COPLON. COPLON never carried the conversation when they discussed any political matter and it never occurred to her that there was any significance to the fact that she didn't carry the conversation. Specifically, [] said they did not discuss the Marshall Plan, Berlin Blockade, American Military training, Loyalty Program, and that she could not recall, particular conversation standing out in her mind. She considered COPLON of being right of herself then changed, saying COPLON was perhaps "middle of the road". When asked what she meant, [] said, "Well, I voted for HENRY WALLACE, if that means anything."

[] said she did not know COPLON to be a member of the Communist Party and was positive she never knew COPLON to have been associated with Communists or Communist activities. Further, that she knows COPLON to be a bright and generous girl and she cannot figure out the reasons for her present situation. [] said she and her husband, in discussing the case, have ruled out bribery and love affair, which leaves only ideology. The bribery was ruled out as they didn't believe she needed the money, and the love affair because the papers indicated GUBITCHEV was happily married.

Regarding ideology, [] said she couldn't furnish any information to justify this reason; further, that COPLON had never approached her to furnish any information.

[] said she never knew COPLON to have been associated with Presentation, Inc., however, that she and her husband, [] know HUGH BARTON and were introduced to CARL MARZIANI on Sunday night February 27, 1949, at which time, they had a conversation of approximately five minutes. [] said that on Monday night, February 28, 1949, when talking to COPLON by phone, she mentioned having met MARZIANI and said it was hard to believe he was guilty, especially since he was such a nice person. [] said MARZIANI was to have his hearing before the Supreme Court on Monday February 28th.

According to [] no member of her family; or COPLON'S family is a member of the Communist Party or connected with Communist activities. She then added "As far as she knows" and also said her sister SOPHIE and SOPHIE's husband voted for WALLACE.

[] was asked if she was or had ever been a member of any Communist or Communist front organization. She replied no. Then she was specifically asked if she had ever been a member of "The Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade." She then informed she was a member of the American Veterans Committee and as such, had met MILTON WOLF, who was also a member. WOLF told her he had been working on the tenth anniversary dinner for the Brigade and needed some part-time volunteer help to solicit funds as they had very little money. Continuing, she informed that the dinner was in February 1947, and LOUIS BROMFIELD was slated to speak, however, he never appeared. Further, that ERNEST HEMINGWAY sent a recorded speech from Cuba; DASHA HAMMETT and DOROTHY PARKER, the playwright, appeared in person, along with an artist from Mexico. [] said all the speeches were principally concerned with lauding the Brigade. [] was asked her opinion of the Brigade and said, "Well, they fought FRANCO who was a Fascist."

[] said she considered MILTON WOLF a Communist. When asked how to tell a Communist, she said anyone who openly professes belief in Communism.

General information supplied by [] was that she didn't know any of COPLON'S Washington friends; she didn't think COPLON especially liked a social life, although, she probably had her share of dates; COPLON wasn't unattractive and didn't seem to be hard pressed for gentlemen friends; never knew her to own a typewriter; never was in her apartment at McLean Gardens; COPLON lived alone because she didn't like people; COPLON is maddy and certainly knows right from wrong.

[] ability to specifically recall the dates around the end of February and first part of March 1949, were attributed by her to COPLON'S arrest on March 4, 1949. After the close of the interview, [] when about to depart, said, "Oh, I have something I must confess." "I wrote JUDY a letter last night asking if I could be of some help concerning her clothes."

The following additional background information was obtained during the course of the [] interview:

She served as [] in the Waves from February 19, 1943, to January 23, 1946, when discharged as Yeoman First Class, NSN 7321797.

GERTRUDE M. SLINDEE
Department of State
Washington, D. C.

Miss GERTRUDE M. SLINDEE, Room 2221, United States Department of State, was interviewed by Special Agents WILLIAM V. SLEVIN and HAROLD W. BRUEGGEMAN on March 10, 1949, and the following information was obtained:

~~SECRET~~

Miss SLINDEE is a clerk in the Office of the United National Affairs of the United States Department of State. She advised that she was unacquainted with JUDITH COPLON and to the best of her recollection had never been contacted by Miss COPLON, either personally or telephonically. She further stated that to the best of her recollection she had not contacted within the past three years the Foreign Agents Registration Act Section, of the Department of Justice, nor had she been contacted by anyone in this section.

Miss SLINDEE stated, however, that approximately one and a half years ago she had interviewed around 5,000 applicants for positions with the Department of State and suggested that perhaps she had interviewed Miss COPLON at this time, although she could not state from her own recollection that she had ever seen Miss COPLON.

[REDACTED]
Washington, D. C.

[REDACTED] were interviewed by Special Agents CARL N. DE TEMPLE and LAMBERT G. ZANDER on March 6, 1949, at their apartment, No. 702, 2500 Q Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

[REDACTED] advised that he had served in the United States Army from May 1943 to January 1946. During that period he was also assigned as a military government officer in Frankfurt, Germany. Upon his release from the Army he was employed in the office of Mr. Justice WILEY B. RUTLEDGE. In July 1948 he was employed by the Economic Cooperation Administration in the Office of General Counsel.

He advised that he has never met JUDITH COPLON, that he failed to recognize her picture in the papers, and knows nothing concerning her with the exception that his wife had advised him that she was a classmate of COPLON at Barnard College and on several occasions he recalls his wife's informing him that she had met her and referred to her as a classmate at Barnard College. He recalls that about a month ago his wife advised him that JUDITH COPLON had telephoned her and requested his wife to speak to him about the possibilities of JUDITH COPLON's obtaining a position with ECA. However, the request was indefinite and inasmuch as he was not familiar with the personnel situation due to his employment in the Office of General Counsel, he made no inquiry in pursuance of this request. [] could not furnish any additional information regarding JUDITH COPLON. He was not familiar with any of her friends and associates and indicated that his wife would have additional information inasmuch as she was a classmate of JUDITH COPLON and had met her upon occasions in Washington, D. C.

[] advised that she is presently employed at the National Labor Relations Board as a legal assistant and that she was previously engaged in the practice of law in New York City, having graduated from Barnard College in 1942 and from Columbia Law School in 1945. She and her husband have been in Washington, D. C., since August 1947. She recalls JUDITH COPLON as her schoolmate at Barnard College and when [] left Barnard to attend Columbia University Law School, she believes JUDITH COPLON remained in school and graduated in 1943.

She describes JUDITH COPLON as a very intense individual, possibly an introvert, and knew her at college only through JUDITH COPLON's work on the "Barnard Bulletin", the school paper. She considered JUDITH COPLON a member of an intellectual group who did not engage in the usual social activities of the school. Through her contacts with JUDITH on the "Bulletin" she believed JUDITH to be a liberal but not a "leftist". [] stated she never discussed politics or political philosophies with COPLON and that she was never closely associated with her other than indicated.

The entire episode of JUDITH COPLON's involvement in the matter that has received such publicity within the last few days came as a complete surprise to []. She could advance no reason and could furnish no motivation for COPLON's actions. She had always believed that JUDITH COPLON was financially well situated due to her family but knew nothing of her family's background and could furnish no foundation for this belief. [] further stated that she had given considerable thought to her association with JUDITH COPLON since reading of the current disclosures made in the press regarding JUDITH COPLON's activities and she has recalled that she has seen COPLON on only four occasions since they last saw each other at Barnard College.

The first occasion was some months after [] arrival in Washington, D. C., when she met JUDITH COPLON on a bus. At that time she recalled that JUDITH was alone and this was the first occasion upon which they renewed acquaintances. Subsequent to this meeting she recalls that she had a luncheon engagement with JUDITH COPLON and another mutual acquaintance of theirs at Barnard College, [] but cannot definitely place the time of this luncheon engagement. The next occasion that she saw JUDITH COPLON was approximately one month ago at a Barnard College luncheon. The only other occasion that she recalls was that she had called JUDITH COPLON at her apartment at McLean Gardens a few days after JUDITH's return from Europe, she having been previously advised by [] that JUDITH COPLON had returned to Washington. She called JUDITH COPLON on this occasion because a friend of her husband from out of town was visiting them and they desired to obtain a dinner date for him; thought that JUDITH COPLON might be available, and attempted to reach her upon this occasion. JUDITH COPLON, however, was unable to accept the invitation.

[] further related that some weeks before the Barnard College luncheon COPLON called her and inquired of her whether she could arrange to have her husband get information regarding prospective employment at the ECA. She indicated she had enjoyed Europe so much that she would like to obtain employment there and wondered about the possibilities of ECA's offering such an opportunity for her. [] discussed the matter with her husband but indicated that the inquiry was not pressed or made definite.

At the Barnard luncheon [] had occasion to talk briefly with JUDITH COPLON at which time she expressed some apprehension regarding the possibility of loss of her position at the Department of Justice as her status was only temporary and she was a war service appointee. She had not at any time discussed the nature of her work with [] and [] had no idea of the nature of her employment through JUDITH COPLON or others. [] could furnish no information regarding JUDITH COPLON's associates in Washington or New York. She was not familiar with any of her male companions or friends. When questioned about JUDITH COPLON's frequent trips to New York, she could offer no reasons other than that it was considered perfectly natural for girls in government service in Washington, D. C., who had homes in New York to make frequent weekend trips to see their families and did not consider her frequent trips to New York as indicative of any untoward activity on her part.

She evinced considerable surprise at a statement in the press with reference to JUDITH COPLON's "tall dark boy friend" because as far as she knew COPLON did not have any boy friends and was not cognizant of any in Washington or during her previous association with COPLON at Barnard College.

Washington, D. C.

On March 8, 1949, Special Agent HOLLIS W. BOWERS and LYNN W. BEDFORD interviewed JONATHAN THURSZ, Room 316, State Department Annex 1.

THURSZ, upon interview, advised that he did not know JUDITH COPLON, had never heard her name until the recent exposé in the newspapers, had never had any contact with her and was at a loss to understand how his name was involved. THURSZ advised that once or twice a Mr. NEMZER of the Justice Department had telephoned him at the State Department concerning some matter which he has now forgotten. THURSZ said that these phone calls were approximately a year or eighteen months ago.

Referral/Consult

The following background information was supplied by THURSZ concerning himself at the time of the interview. He stated he arrived in the United States on August 9, 1941, from Casa Blanca, Morocco, and spent one and one half years studying English in this country and then went to work for the Jewish Periodicals, Inc., of 220 5th Avenue, New York City, and while with this concern worked with an associate editor, Mr. COWAN. THURSZ said he worked there from January, 1943, until September of the same year. After leaving Jewish Periodicals, he went to work for Pilot Radio Company in New York for five months. In May, 1944, he went to work for the OWI in New York at 57th Street and Broadway and stayed with them until December 1944. THURSZ said he was unemployed until April 1945, when he went to work for [redacted]

[redacted] at which time he went to work for the State Department and is presently Section Chief of the Biographical Information Section covering the countries of Russia, Poland and Finland.

According to THURSZ, he has made no trips abroad since his arrival in this country and when in New York lived at 40-37 77th Street, Jackson Heights, New York. Since living in Washington, D. C., he has resided at the Allen Lee Hotel and presently resides at 1230 New Hampshire Avenue, N. W., Apartment 701.

THURSZ informed that prior to coming to this country, he was editor of a newspaper in Casa Blanca for twenty years and also was a correspondent for the Associated Press. He said the name of the newspaper was "The Future" (L'Avenir).

THURSZ states he speaks French, German, Polish, Russian and Dutch but the latter two not fluently. He states he was naturalized in Brooklyn, New York, in December 1946.

Pursuant to Bureau instructions, on March 7, 1949, Special Agent COURTLAND J. JONES contacted Mr. WILLIAM E. FOLEY, chief, Foreign Agents Registration and Internal Security Sections, Criminal Division, Department of Justice, in order to make arrangements to conduct a survey of the contents of Room 2220, formerly occupied by JUDITH COPLON.

Mr. FOLEY stated that Miss COPLON was the last remaining political analyst employed in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department. He explained that on June 28, 1942, the Department of Justice took over the function of administering the Foreign Agents Registration Act which previously had been handled by the Department of State. In order to carry out this new duty, a section was created in the Special War Policies Unit of the Department of Justice which unit had been formerly known as the Special Defense Unit. The unit for a considerable period of time had been engaged in the preparation of a brief directed at probable prosecution of the Communist Party, U.S.A. With the advent of World War II the Special War Policies Unit became the War Division of the Department of Justice.

At the time that JUDITH COPLON became associated with the Foreign Agents Registration Section in 1945 it was located in the Hutchins Building, 10th & D Streets, NW. She was one of a number of political analysts who reviewed material available to the section concerning Foreign Agent Registration matters. At one time there were approximately 15 of these political analysts and approximately 10 attorneys who handled such matters. In 1947 the Foreign Agents Unit moved to the Department of Justice Building and was housed on the 6th floor where it remained until June 1948 when it was physically consolidated with the Internal Security Section and secured office space adjacent to the Internal Security Section on the second floor of the Justice Building.

The political analysts in reviewing FBI reports, newspapers, periodicals and other sources designated material of interest to foreign agent matters, which material was abstracted from the source and typed on 5 x 8 slips of paper, described as "data slips." Over a period of years the number of data slips amounted to 500,000 in about 1945. The theory was that data slips properly filed would provide a ready reference on foreign agent matters and avoid the necessity of constant reference to investigative reports, etc. The preparation of these data slips was left entirely to the discretion of the analysts.

When the Foreign Agents Registration Unit moved from the Hutchins Building, a number of data slips, which in the opinion of the analysts were obsolete or of no further value, were destroyed. In 1947 a similar deletion was made from the files and in fact COPLON was engaged in a file survey at the time of her arrest and had destroyed a number of data slips in February 1949. In this connection Mr. FOLEY said that the messenger took wastepaper baskets full of data slips to a furnace and burned them. FOLEY said further that over a period of years the political analysts decreased in number and that the last three were LOUIS NEMZER, who resigned May 8, 1947, [redacted] who resigned October 15, 1948, and JUDITH COPLON.

Mr. FOLEY produced assignment sheets which reflect that shortly after Miss COPLON became associated with the Foreign Agents Registration Section she was assigned the duty of analyzing material received concerning Belgium and France. Soon her field extended to cover the Baltic States and at the resignation of Mr. NEMZER she took over the duty of analyzing material pertaining to the USSR. At the resignation of [] she was left with the responsibility of covering the entire field.

Mr. FOLEY related that Miss COPLON has had specific cases involving violations of the Act assigned to her within the past year and that she has the additional responsibility of reviewing registration forms submitted by those who comply with the Act, as well as reviewing supplements the Act requires to be submitted every six months. In view of this assignment, it has been Mr. FOLEY's impression that very few data slips have been prepared by Miss COPLON within the past year.

In October 1948 due to a transfer of personnel COPLON was assigned the duty of reviewing investigative Internal Security reports received by the Internal Security Section of the Department of Justice. In this connection it is observed that the Internal Security Section receives "Internal Security - R, Security Matter - C, and Espionage - R" investigative reports submitted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It is necessary for someone to review these reports to ascertain if they contain any violations of federal laws. JUDITH COPLON received this assignment in October 1948 and kept it until Mrs. RUTH E. ROSSON, an attorney, became affiliated with the section on February 7, 1949. Inasmuch as Mr. FOLEY was aware of the investigation under way concerning JUDITH COPLON, he transferred this duty to Mrs. ROSSON. COPLON objected, stating that it was a reflection against her status as a political analyst and caused a scene in Mr. FOLEY's office. Afterwards Mrs. ROSSON advised Mr. FOLEY that COPLON had requested that Mrs. ROSSON send her investigative reports concerning internal security matters, as well as all reports that mentioned embassies, and consulates. Mr. FOLEY informed Mrs. ROSSON that she should comply with Miss COPLON's request.

It is the practice for the reviewing employee to mark the internal security reports after ascertaining that they contain no violations of federal laws. Miss COPLON initially would write the word "FILE - J.C." on the reports and later had a stamp made which read "FILE - J.C." It is observed that this assignment was separate and apart from Miss COPLON's duties as a political analyst and for the most part the material which she reviewed in the Internal Security - R, Security Matter - C and Espionage - R reports had little or no bearing on Foreign Agents Registration matters. It is not the practice nor is there any necessity for making data slips reflecting information in these reports, according to Mr. FOLEY. The doing of this by anyone would be acting beyond the scope of their duties.

Mr. FOLEY related that when Miss COPLON desired to have a data slip made, she would mark the material she desired quoted by brackets and would underline the subject matter with two lines and indicate by underlining other matters she desired cross referenced with one line. As an example, if six names were mentioned in a report concerning AMTORG, two lines would be drawn under AMTORG and one line would be drawn under the other six names. This would indicate to Miss ETNA TAYLOR, stenographer, that an original and six carbons of the data slip should be made. Mr. FOLEY said that up until October 1948 Miss MARY HAWKINS did most of the filing of these data slips but since that time COPLON has done her own filing.

An examination of Room 2220 indicates there are 83 file drawers containing data slips relative to approximately 40 nationality groups in addition to the Communist Party, U.S.A., and enumerable "left wing and individuals." An analysis of this material is being made and will be reported in the near future.

The desk of subject and her personal file drawer were examined. Nothing of interest was found in her desk. There were a number of FBI investigative reports in her file drawer. A number related to Foreign Agent Registration matters and there were 53 FBI reports which pertained to Internal Security matters and which in the opinion of Mr. WILLIAM E. FOLEY have no bearing on Foreign Agent matters. These reports had been routed to COPLON by Mrs. RUTH M. ROSSON at COPLON's request. The description of these reports is not being set forth in this portion but can be found under the section indicating what Special Agent COURTLAND J. JONES can testify to.

The originals and carbons of data slips Q-25 through Q-29 and Q-33 were located in a wooden file box located on a bookcase on the west side of Room 2220. In the rear of this box in an unfilled section, the aforementioned data slips were found.

In a paper bound file box located on a file cabinet on the south side of Room 2220 the originals and available carbons of Q-31 and Q-32 were located.

The original and available carbons of Q-30 were found in a file drawer properly filed under a section entitled "Roumanian."

In the interest of brevity, the full details concerning the location of the described data slips are not being set forth in this section but may be found under the section indicating what Special Agent COURTLAND J. JONES may be expected to testify to.

Re Documents Found in Purse of JUDITH COPLON

~~SECRET~~

When JUDITH COPLON was arrested in New York, March 4, 1949, she had in her purse a number of 5 x 8 pieces of paper, some of which are forms used by the Foreign Agents Registration Section and which are known as "data slips". On these forms were summaries and in some instances verbatim quotations from FBI investigative reports. The material on these "data slips" has been compared with the FBI investigative reports on which they were based and the results will be set forth.

When the material was taken from COPLON, the pieces of paper were numbered 1 through 39 by New York agents. The FBI Laboratory in its examination, gave the documents the same numbers and referred to them as Q-1, etc. In this report in the interest of brevity and clarity the 5 x 8 pieces of paper will be referred to as "data slips" and called Q-1, etc.

An analysis of the data slips reflects that Q-1 through Q-34 are based on Internal-Security-R and Security Matter-C, F.B.I. investigative reports which do not deal with Foreign Agents Registration matters. The FBI Laboratory advised by report of March 5, 1949 that these data slips were prepared on Royal Typewriter #KMM-2562236 which is located in Room 2220, U.S. Department of Justice Building. This typewriter stands immediately behind the desk which was occupied by JUDITH COPLON. The data slips described are "originals" and no carbons are designated on the forms.

The FBI investigative reports on which Q-1 through Q-14 and Q-34 are based reflect initials and the word "file" indicating that an employee has reviewed them for violations of federal laws. The duty of reviewing these reports is separate and apart from the duties of employees in the Foreign Agents Registration Section. It is observed that from October, 1948 until February, 1949, COPLON was temporarily assigned the duty of reviewing Internal Security reports due to a shortage of personnel.

The reports on which data slips Q-1 through Q-14 and Q-34 are based bear the following initials:

Q-1 -- JC	Q-6 -- JC	Q-11 -- JC
Q-2 -- RMR	Q-7 -- RMR	Q-12 -- RMR
Q-3 -- JC	Q-8 -- JC	Q-13 -- RMR
Q-4 -- RMR	Q-9 -- RMR	Q-14 -- JC
Q-5 -- JC	Q-10 -- RMR	Q-34 -- JC

The initials of "JC" are those of JUDITH COPLON. The initials of "RMR" are those of Mrs. RUTH M. ROSSON, an attorney who took over the duty of reviewing Internal Security-R investigative reports in February, 1949 and who was specifically requested by JUDITH COPLON to furnish her, COPLON, with all Internal Security-R and reports making mention of Embassies and Consulates.

It is observed that it is contrary to practice and acting upon the scope of her duties for COPLON to make "data slips" on Internal Security reports since they do not have a bearing on Foreign Agents Registration matters.

The data slips Q-15 through Q-34 have been identified by the FBI Laboratory as having been written on a Corona Portable Typewriter which was obtained by a search warrant; March 5, 1949 from the apartment of JUDITH COPLON. It is observed that only Q-17 and Q-18 are written on the regular "data slips" whereas the remainder of Q-15 through Q-24 are written on similar size sheets of plain paper.

These FBI investigative reports on which Q-15 through Q-24 are based are Internal Security-R, Espionage-R and Security Matter-C reports which had been reviewed by JUDITH COPLON with the exception of Q-15 which is based on a Foreign Agents Registration Act file. They are in connection with the specific duty assigned as described above. The reports bear the following initials:

Q-15 -- WF	Q-20 -- JC
Q-16 -- JC	Q-21 -- JC
Q-17 -- JC	Q-22 -- JC
Q-19 -- JC	Q-24 -- JC

The data slips Q-25 through Q-33 were prepared in accordance with procedure of the FARS and have been identified by the FBI Laboratory as having been written on a Royal Typewriter #KMM-2585483, which is used by stenographer ETTA TAYLOR. These data slips relate to Foreign Agents Registration matters.

Comparison of Data Slips with FBI Written Reports.

There is reported as follows the information reflected on "data slips" Q-1 through Q-34 and the identity of the FBI reports on which these slips are based. The specific paragraphs in the FBI investigative reports on which the data slips are based are quoted.

him to make of the material but has received no reply. He stated that he is not in correspondence with the Russians now and for well over a year has not received any communication from Russians. He stated the material used to come to him via diplomatic pouch but he has not received any for many months. He said for a long time any material which he has forwarded to Russia has gone at his own and the society's expense. He said this has been exclusively medical literature. He pointed out that in the last year and a half the quality of the Russian material has been very low and thoroughly unscientific, hence, unsuitable for publication.

"Concerning his contacts with individual Russians, LESLIE said that since the departure of FEDOTOV and FEDASIMOV he has had no contacts with any Russians. He knows VLADIMIR BYZKIN and has written him concerning the above mentioned material but has received no reply. He has never had any contact with YAKOV LOMAKIN, former Consul General, and added that he had a very poor opinion of him. LESLIE deplored the suspicious and hostile attitude of the Russians and felt that the cause of this friction between the United States and Russia lay on the side of the Russians. He said that their policies of non-cooperation were stupid and short-sighted and that the Russians are foolish in not seeing that they, through cultural exchange of information and students, would be greatly benefited..

"LESLIE said that he himself now is persona non grata. He illustrated by saying that on November 7, 1948, he was not invited to the Embassy reception, however, Dr. JULIUS HYMAN, editor of the Society's magazine was invited and LESLIE accompanied him to the reception at Washington. While they were there one of the Russians, namely, STRIGANOV, called Dr. HYMAN aside and asked him what he meant by bringing to the Embassy 'an AMERICANSKI Agent'. He told Dr. HYMAN that LESLIE had no right to be present therefore LESLIE and HYMAN left the reception and shortly afterwards returned by plane to New York.

"Concerning ANATOLI GROMOV, LESLIE said he had difficulty placing GROMOV but believed that he was one of the Russians several years ago for whom he made hotel reservations. "LESLIE said that in all his relations with the Russians his most important contact was with Dr. VLADIMIR LEBENDENKO. However, he added that all his work with LEBENDENKO concerned medicine and science.

The Russians had his and an enlarged and greatly improved model which they had devised. LESLIE termed Dr. MIDD a 'good Republican'.

"LESLIE mentioned that Dr. HENRY SIGERIST was in Switzerland at the present time.....

"LESLIE was very cooperative during the interview and was outspoken. He said that he is not ashamed or apologetic about any of his associates or contacts. He said he is well acquainted with some Communists and some ultra-conservatives as well as numerous liberal thinkers like himself. He said it is one of his purposes in the Society to get to the Russians some concept of American democracy and the progress that can be attained by it. Special Agent GLASCOOK's report reads on page 1 as follows:

"Reference Bureau letter states that Source A has advised that LIDIA PAVIL DE PAVIGLI (TACCONI), PIAZZA DONATELLO #25, Florence, Italy, is attempting to enter the United States. She applied to the Questura in Florence for a passport attaching to her application a letter supposedly from WILLIAM H. SANDERS, 547 West 125th Street, Apartment 40 ?, New York, New York, who presumably was once a member of the U. S. armed forces. Letter states that SANDERS desires that subject be permitted to enter the United States for the purpose of marrying him.

"On July 11, 1946, the subject previously made an effort to obtain an Italian passport. To this was attached a letter from S. A. PIETRO BAZZANTI, a firm of Florence, Italy, stating that the subject was commissioned to represent their firm in Los Angeles, California. She stated that the consent of her husband, ALBERTO TACCONI, was not necessary since she had been granted a legal separation by the Tribunale of Livorno on July 3, 1946, Decree #994.

"The records do not substantiate this decree and her proposed departure is opposed by Italian Intelligence authorities on the grounds that she was an enemy agent suspect. The passport was denied her.

"During German occupation of Italy DE PAVIGLI was under surveillance of Italian Counter Intelligence and she was suspected of espionage on behalf of Tito partisans.

"On February 9, 1944, she was arrested and released through the intervention of a German officer by whom she was employed as an interpreter.

"DE PAVIGLI was the mistress of a man employed by the allies as an undercover agent who was suspected as actually being a double agent. At the present time the subject is suspected of being an agent of OZNA and is under surveillance."

"Files of Los Angeles Office reveal subject previously came to attention of LA Office in case Re ATANAS SIMOFF KATCHAMAKOFF, Espionage - R, in which LA is office of origin of a pending investigation. On 12-30-47 Source B revealed that KATCHAMAKOFF while in conversation with an unidentified woman was asked whether or not he knew BORIS ATANASSOV. "RONKSLEY, Los Angeles, 12-3-48, Re: BAEG, Was, Int. Sect. -R (Bulgarian)"

The foregoing is based on the report of Special Agent ROBERT I. RONKSLEY dated December 5, 1948 at Los Angeles, California, entitled, BORIS ATANASSOFF EVANOFF GOUGOFF, Was., Internal Security - R, Bulgarian. Page 2 reflects the following:

"Source A revealed by referenced teletype that GOUGOFF was a Bulgarian citizen whose residence was 141 North Avenue 64, Los Angeles and that he recently met TSEKO ETROPOLSKY, Bulgarian Second Secretary of the Bulgarian Legation and representative of the Bulgarian Communist Party. The informant revealed that GOUGOFF worked with ETROPOLSKY in Bulgarian Intelligence matters on the West Coast and that at the time of the teletype the subject was in Washington, D. C., residing with ETROPOLSKY."

On page 9 of referenced report there appears the following:

"On or about August 10, BORIS ATANASSOFF appeared in Washington and called at the Legation. It was revealed that he had been in close touch with ETROPOLSKY ever since the latter's visit to Los Angeles and that ETROPOLSKY had made all arrangements regarding reservations for a trip to Bulgaria for him. ETROPOLSKY had also arranged to supply the subject with a letter from the Legation to the effect that he was acting in the capacity of diplomatic courier and requesting all foreign governments to extend to him all possible aid regardless of the fact that this person was not in possession of a diplomatic passport nor did he in any way qualify as a courier. On page 9 there also appears the following:

"It is Source A's impression that the subject has for a great many years associated himself with the progressive (Communists) elements among the Bulgarian groups in this country and definitely has established a good reputation among them. ETROPOLSKY met him during a visit to Los Angeles and evidently considers him sufficiently trustworthy to entrust him with a pouch of diplomatic mail. ATANASSOFF is of advanced age and has been in this country for approximately forty years. It was conceivable that the pouch which ETROPOLSKY is preparing to take back to Bulgaria may include reports to the government by both Dr. MEVORAH and ETROPOLSKY which they would not have trusted to the ordinary mail."

On page 4 of the report of Special Agent ROBERT I. RONKSLEY, the following appears:

"The files of the Los Angeles Office reveal that the subject of this case previously came to the attention of the Los Angeles Office in the case entitled, "ATANAS SIMOFF KATCHAMAKOFF, Espionage - R' in which the Los Angeles Office is the office of origin of a pending investigation. KATCHAMAKOFF was born January 31, 1898 in Lescovetz, Bulgaria, and presently resides at 8530 Louise Avenue, Northridge, California."

"On December 30, 1947, Source B revealed that KATCHAMAKOFF while in conversation with an unidentified woman was asked whether or not he knew BORIS ATANASSOV who recently arrived in Los Angeles from San Francisco and resides at 141 North Avenue 64, telephone Cleveland 63535. KATCHAMAKOFF stated that he wanted to talk to BORIS about some medicine which he had for the Bulgarian government. Source B then revealed that KATCHAMAKOFF attempted to contact BORIS at Cleveland 63535 at which time he was advised that the subject did not reside at that address and could not be reached."

The synopsis of this report reflects in part:

Agent DORNLAS' report reflects stamps indicating it was received by the Records Division, Department of Justice, December 9, 1948, and the Criminal Division of the Department on December 10, 1948. It bears Department of Justice file number 146-1-11-324. The report was one of a number which was found in COPLON's file drawer, Room 2220, Department of Justice Building, March 7, 1949. (u)

The Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory has advised by teletype of March 5, 1949, that documents Q-35 through Q-38 were written on a portable Corona typewriter, which typewriter has been identified as one personally owned by subject and which was obtained by a search warrant on March 5, 1949.

Q-35 is as follows:

"I have not been able (and don't think I will) to get the top secret FBI report which I described to Michael on Soviet & Communist Intelligence activities in the US. When the moment was favorable, I asked Foley where the report was (He'd previously remarked that he'd had such a report); he said that some departmental official had it and he didn't expect to get it back. Foley' remarked there was nothing 'new' in it.
When I saw the report, for a minute, I breezed through it rapidly, remember very little. It was about 115 pages in length; summarized first Soviet 'intelligence' activities, including

"Beginning with the spring semester of 1946, I attended The American University, Washington, DC until the spring semester of 1948, during which time I completed my class credits for an MA in International Organizations and International Relations. All I need for my degree is the completion of a thesis. While I'm not enthusiastic about it, I think I should complete this thesis by the summer. My subject will deal with certain aspects of international propaganda and its control." ~~(S)~~ - (U)

According to Mr. WILLIAM E. FOLEY, Chief, Internal Security and Foreign Agents Registration Section, Department of Justice, the very first paragraph of the above quoted material makes reference to a "Summary of Soviet and Satellite Espionage and Communist Activity in the United States:", dated December 15, 1948. This summary was submitted to the Department of Justice by cover memorandum dated December 21, 1948, directed to Assistant Attorney General ALEXANDER M. CAMPBELL. ~~(S)~~ - (U)

Mr. FOLEY advises that he received the Summary and cover memorandum from the office of Mr. CAMPBELL at approximately mid-January 1949, which time would have been four or five days before the report was submitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory for fingerprint processing, and that he perused the report immediately thereafter. He advises that he probably was not able to finish the Summary in its entirety the day that it was received and in his absence from the office he normally placed such "restricted" material beneath other files on his desk and at the close of the day placed such material in a locked file cabinet. He related that it is very possible that in his absence for a limited period JUDITH COPLON perused the Summary. He specifically recalls that Miss COPLON asked for the Summary on two occasions subsequent to the time when it was processed for fingerprints by the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory (February 4, 1949); at which time he stalled her and gave her the impression that there was no 'new' information in it not subsequently furnished to the Department.

The Summary [of the "Summary of Soviet and Satellite Espionage and Communist Activity in the United States"] which was directed to Mr. CAMPBELL is copy Number 13 and is 115 pages in length. It is presently in a double sealed envelope in the safe in the Criminal Division, Department of Justice. It has been in this safe since its receipt from the Bureau after the fingerprint processing. Mr. WILLIAM E. FOLEY
Chief, Foreign Agents Registration and Internal Security Section, Criminal Division, Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Mr. FOLEY can testify that he is the Head of the Foreign Agents Registration and Internal Security Section, Criminal Division, U. S. Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

He can testify that since June 28, 1942, the Foreign Agents Registration Section has administered an Act of Congress approved in 1938 which requires those who act as agents of foreign principals to register, report their activities, funds, etc. He can testify that the Foreign Agents Registration Section, in administering the Act, reviews material received from newspapers, publications, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other sources concerning foreign governments, foreign political parties, organizations and individuals engaged in propaganda work who generally act in a manner indicating they should be registered under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

Mr. FOLEY can testify that the Internal Security Section of the Department of Justice receives investigative reports pertaining to Internal Security matters from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and that it is customary for an employee of his section to review these reports to ascertain if they reflect any violations of Federal laws. This employee is required to initial the first page of the report and mark it for file.

Mr. FOLEY can testify that JUDITH COPLON was employed as a Political Analyst, Foreign Agents Registration Section, Criminal Division, Department of Justice, at Washington, D. C., until March 4, 1949, when she was suspended. He can say her last salary was $4,479.60 per annum, Grade P-3. He can produce records reflecting COPLON entered on duty with the Department of Justice in the Antitrust Division June 15, 1943, at New York City; that she transferred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section, War Division, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., January 16, 1945; that effective December 29, 1945, she transferred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section, Criminal Division, Department of Justice, in Washington, D. C.

He can testify that a job analysis sheet relating to Civil Service Commission P-3 Number 427, held by Miss COPLON from April 4, 1948, to March 4, 1949, indicates the following description of the duties and responsibilities of the position:

"Under the general supervision of the Chief of the unit performs difficult research assignments concerning activities and connections of agents of foreign principals in one or more minor nationality fields, such as Latin America and Scandinavian areas.

"1. On own initiative, but subject to review by a higher-grade analyst, prepares preliminary and final summaries and reports concerning specific persons and organizations in one or more nationality fields who are registered as agents of foreign principals or whose registrability should be considered and makes appropriate recommendations for legal action pursuant to Section 2, 3 and 4 of the Act."

"2. Is responsible for reviewing original, supplemental and amended statements, propaganda items, propaganda dissemination reports and other documents and files pursuant to the provisions of the Act and for preparing appropriate official agency letters.

"3. Maintains contacts with certain representatives of other government agencies, such as the State Department, OSS, Censorship, etc., for the purpose of obtaining and disseminating information.

"4. Confers with attorneys in the Foreign Agents Registration Section concerning additional factual information needed in specific cases within one or more nationality fields; assists in the preparation of requests for investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation; and recommends that informal hearings or conferences be scheduled in appropriate cases.

"5. Advises higher-grade analysts with respect to policy questions arising due to the inter-related character of the activities of two or more agents of foreign principals within one or more nationality fields.

"6. Attends informal hearings or conferences with persons or organizations in one or more nationality fields who are or may be subject to the Act, and advises the Chief of the section with respect to factual issues which may arise in the course of such hearings or conferences.

"7. Subject to review by a higher-grade analyst recommends specific cases in one or more nationality fields which should be considered for prosecution under Section 8 of the Act, and prepares factual and political memoranda in support of such recommendations.

"8. Subject to review by a higher-grade analyst prepares factual surveys on the national sources and content of political propaganda disseminated or distributed in the interests of foreign principals in one or more nationality fields for inclusion in the Attorney General's periodic reports to Congress, pursuant to Section 22 of the Act.

"9. Performs other related services."

Mr. FOLEY can produce records of the Foreign Agents Registration Section which reflect that among the duties assigned Miss COPLON shortly after employment began in Washington, D. C., was the assignment to analyze information received pertaining to Portugal, France, Belgium and Italy. He can produce records which reflect that the number of analysts diminished and later Miss COPLON began analyzing information received concerning the Baltic States, Poland and Yugoslavia, left-wing and Communist affairs.

~~SECRET~~

He can produce records which show that on or about May 3, 1947, (the date of resignation of LOUIS NEMZER) COPLON began analyzing information relative to the USSR. He can testify to his own knowledge that since October 15, 1948, (date of [redacted] resignation) JUDITH COPLON has been the only analyst employed in the Foreign Agents Registration Section.

He can testify that from October 1948 until February 1949 he had assigned to JUDITH COPLON the duty of reading Federal Bureau of Investigation investigative reports pertaining to Internal Security matters. He can testify that it is contrary to practice and not within the scope of her duties to prepare data slips for these reports unless they have a bearing on Foreign Agents Registration matters.

b7C

Mr. FOLEY can testify that it has been the practice of Political Analysts to abstract material received from a review of newspapers, publications, and Federal Bureau of Investigation investigative reports, which pertain to Foreign Agents Registration matters. He can testify that it is customary for the Political Analysts to indicate on Federal Bureau of Investigation investigative reports, by notations or brackets, the material the Analysts desire placed on data slips. He can produce a blank form, 5 x 8 in size, which is referred to as a "data slip" in the Foreign Agents Registration Section. He can testify that it is the practice of the Political Analysts to underline the "title or subject matter" twice, on the Federal Bureau of Investigation investigative reports, and to underline matters or names the Analysts desire cross referenced one time. This practice indicates to the Stenographer who prepares the data slips the number of carbons necessary. Mr. FOLEY can produce a "data slip" and illustrate this procedure described above.

He can testify that since October 1949 JUDITH COPLON has filed the "data slips" according to subject matter in files located in Room 2220, U. S. Department of Justice Building, Washington, D. C. He can say that prior to October a clerk did some of the filing.

Mr. FOLEY can testify that data slips Q-25 through Q-33 were prepared according to the manner prescribed in the Foreign Agents Registration Section.

Mr. FOLEY can testify that on March 3, 1949, at approximately 6:30 P. M. he received from Mr. PEYTON FORD, in the presence of RAYMOND P. WHEARTY, a document directed to "Mr. PEYTON FORD. The Assistant to the Attorney General" entitled [REDACTED] INTERNAL SECURITY - R" bearing the date of March 3, 1949. Mr. FOLEY can testify that the document was locked in a file cabinet overnight in Mr. FOLEY's office and on the following morning, March 4, 1949, at approximately 9:10 A. M. he gave the document, accompanied by two other pieces of mail to JUDITH COPLON.

Mr. FOLEY can testify that on the afternoon of March 4, 1949, he asked Mr. NATHAN B. LENVIN, Attorney, who has shared Room 2220 with Miss COPLON, if he had received the memorandum concerning AMTORG from Miss COPLON. He can testify that Mr. LENVIN answered in the affirmative [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Mr. FOLEY can further testify that he cautioned Mr. LENVIN to note the classification on the document; that it was classified "Strictly Confidential", and that it should be locked up.

Mr. FOLEY can testify that on the late afternoon of March 4, 1949, NATHAN B. LENVIN came to his office and suggested that Mr. FOLEY place the memorandum in question in a locked file since LENVIN's desk contained no lock. Mr. FOLEY can testify that thereafter he placed it in a sealed envelope and put the sealed envelope in a locked cabinet where it has since remained.

Mr. FOLEY can testify that the reports which Special Agent COURTLAND J. JONES observed in the file drawer of Miss COPLON on March 7, 1949, and which bear the notation "FILE - RMR" and which pertain to Internal Security matters do not have bearing on Foreign Agents Registration matters. These reports are numbered 1 through 53 and set forth under the section of this report indicating to what Special Agent COURTLAND J. JONES can testify.

Washington, D. C.

Miss TAYLOR can testify that in connection with her official duties she prepares "data slips" on 5 x 8 pieces of paper at the request of the Political Analysts in the Foreign Agents Registration Section. She can testify that generally the material that the Analysts desire placed on the data slips is marked by pencil and names of individuals underscored when copies are desired as cross references.

Miss TAYLOR can testify that it is customary for the subject matter of the data slip to be underscored by two lines by the Political Analysts and when carbons are necessary the subject matter to be cross referenced will be underscored one time.

Miss TAYLOR can testify that data slips Q-25 through Q-33 are prepared in line with the procedure usually followed by her in making data slips. She cannot specifically recall typing data slips Q-25 through Q-33 nor she can recognize the subject matter as that of data slips she has prepared. (In this connection, the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratory Examiner can testify that Q-25 through Q-33 were prepared on Royal Typewriter KMM 2585483.

Miss TAYLOR can produce three investigative reports of the Federal Bureau of Investigation which are clipped together and which bear a 3 x 5 piece of paper on which COPLON has indicated data slips should be prepared on the investigative reports. The original and 2 carbons of data slip Q-27 entitled "NOVAYA ZARYA" with carbons designated for "VICTOR AFANASIEV", "OLGA NIKOLAEVNA ARTEMOFF" and "Russian Consulate in San Francisco".

The original data slip of Q-28 entitled, "NOVAYA ZARYA" with carbon designated for "SOOHOFF".

The original and 2 carbons of data slip Q-33, entitled "~~NICHOLAS w/a~~" with carbons designated for "~~Yugoslav Embassy~~". (This is an exception to the rule in that two carbons were made, making a sum total of original and 2, whereas the data slip would indicate that only an original and one carbon should be made.).

Agent JONES can testify he examined a paper file box located on a file cabinet on the south side of Room 2220 and that in an unfiled section of this file box, he located the following: (u)

The original and 5 carbons of data slip Q-31 entitled "Czechoslovakian Metal and Engineering Industry" with carbons designated for "KRAMAR", "Industrial Operations, Inc.", "ANTHONY FRIED", "KAREL KALINA", "Overseas Mercantile, Inc." and "Omnipol Ltd. in Prague".

This agent can testify he located the original data slip for Q-30 on March 7, 1949 in a file drawer located on the north side of Room 2220. The file drawer is marked, "Miscellaneous" and it contains a section devoted to "Rumanians". He can testify that in the section marked "Rumanians", he found a tab entitled, "General NICOLAE RADESCU". Behind this tab, he found the original data slip of Q-30 which is entitled "General NICOLAE RADESCU". ~~(S)~~ (U)

He can testify that he found a tab entitled, "NICOLAE MALAXA" and behind it, he found a carbon of the data slip Q-30, the carbon having been designaged for "NICOLAE MALAXA". He can testify that he found a tab in this section entitled "M. BARBU NICULESCU" and that behind this tab, he found a carbon of Q-30, the carbon having been designated for "M. BARBU NICULESCU". ~~(S)~~ (U)

Agent JONES can testify that he examined the section marked "Rumanian" for a tab and a carbon of Q-30 entitled, "M. NICHOLAS ~~KARANFIL~~" but was unable to locate either.

SA JONES can testify that SA JOE R. CRAIG and he made a search for the "missing" carbon copies of Q-25 through Q-33, including Q-33 of which a extra copy had been made but were unable to locate them in the file cabinets of Room 2220. This search covered both logical and illogical places of filing.

JOE R. CRAIG
Special Agent
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Agent CRAIG can testify that he, assisted by Special Agent COURTLAND J. JONES, made a search for the "missing" carbon copies of Q-25 through Q-33 in the file cabinets in Room 2220, but was unable to locate them. This search covered both logical and illogical places of filing.

Agent CRAIG can testify that he has made an analysis and inventory of the data slips located in Room 2220, Department of Justice Building and has observed that numerous carbons of data slips are missing and there are other discrepancies.

Attention: Mr. Raymond Whearty

ESPIONAGE - R

We have received information which is absolutely unverified and reaches us third hand that one of the jurors in the instant case remarked that he felt Judith Coplon was not guilty of the crime for which she was being tried. This juror reportedly stated that he would vote for acquittal at the completion of the trial. The juror who was identified to us as being Jewish stated that the case was more one of discrimination against the Jewish Race than it was of Espionage.

I desire to emphasize that the veracity of the above is not known but it is being submitted to you as of interest.

This is to advise that on Saturday, April 30, 1949, [redacted] advised me of a recent conversation that he had with one of his co-workers. [redacted] is an examiner with the National Labor Relations Board and his home address is [redacted]. He told me that I could use the information for what it was worth but did ask that I withhold his name inasmuch as he did not want to become involved in the affair.

The subject of his conversation was in regard to the jury of the Judith Coplan Case. Although the information being submitted to you is now thrice told it may have become somewhat distorted and enlarged, however, the facts as given to me are thus:

A co-worker, name undisclosed, of [redacted] advised him that he, the co-worker [redacted] The juror, in conversation with [redacted] advised that he felt Coplan to be not guilty of the crime for which she was being tried and would vote for an acquittal at the completion of the trial. The juror, a Jew, felt that the case was more one of discrimination of the Jewish Race rather than Espionage.

It is felt that this matter should be referred to the Bureau for whatever it may be worth.

DATE: May 5, 1949

Reference is made to Buffalo letter to the Bureau dated April 28, 1949.

Mr. ALEX CESTARO, Owner-Manager of a butcher shop located at 1492 Amsterdam Avenue, New York City, advised that he had recently spoken to Inspector NELSON CLYDE of Immigration and Naturalization Service. CESTARO stated that he told Inspector CLYDE that he had cause to be suspicious of MIRIAM ZELNICK, who currently occupies the third floor apartment above his second floor apartment located at 3317 Rochambeau Avenue, Bronx, New York. CESTARO indicated that he has owned this three story - three apartment building since 1944.

He stated that during the conversation which he had with Inspector CLYDE, that he produced a newspaper clipping which reflected a photograph of the "Twelve Communist Party Leaders" which are currently on trial in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. CESTARO further stated that he identified the picture of EUGENE DENNIS as the person his wife had seen entering and leaving the ZELNICK'S apartment a short time before his arrest by the FBI. He further advised Inspector CLYDE that he intended to send this newspaper clipping anonymously to MIRIAM ZELNICK, with a message attached or on the clipping stating that she, meaning Mrs. ZELNICK, would be next.

CESTARO failed to identify the pictures of JUDITH COPLON, VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV or LIDIA N. GUBICHEVA as anyone he had observed entering or leaving the ZELNICK apartment.

It is to be noted that there are several variances, particularly the basic facts which were presented to the Buffalo Office by Inspector CLYDE and the information furnished by CESTARO.

CESTARO further stated that the ZELNICK'S apartment is currently occupied by ABEL A. ZELNICK, MIRIAM'S husband, MIRIAM ZELNICK and their two small children. He also advised that this apartment had been jointly occupied in the past by ISADORE and JENNIE HALPERN, the father and mother of MIRIAM ZELNICK and the ABEL A. ZELNICKS, and for short intervals by MORTON HALPERN, also known as Mannie, Morten, Manny and Mendle Halpern, and by HYMAN HALPERN, also known as Herman and Hy Halpern, brothers of MIRIAM ZELNICK.

CESTARO stated that he believes that each of these individuals are Communist Party members. In this connection, CESTARO furnished considerable information concerning their Communist activities. This information is being reported separately, as each have Security Matter-C case file in the New York Office.

Mrs. ALEX CESTARO, Apartment No. 2, 3317 Rochambeau Avenue, Bronx, New York, advised that she had observed EUGENE DENNIS enter and leave the ZELNICKS' apartment a short time before his arrest. She identified DENNIS from the newspaper clipping previously mentioned in this letter. DENNIS, according to Mrs. CESTARO, spoke to a group of Communists while at the ZELNICKS and she believed that this group was made up entirely of women.

Mrs. CESTARO, her sons, RICHARD, ALEX Junior, and PATRICK CESTARO could not identify either the photographs of JUDITH COPLON, VALENTINE A. GUBITCHEV or that of LIDIA N. GUBITCHEV as identical with anyone observed entering or leaving the ZELNICKS' apartment. Mrs. CESTARO and her three sons furnished information concerning the ZELNICKS' and the HALPERNS' Communist Party activities. This information is being reported separately, as that of Mr. CESTARO.

The following letter was recently received from former Special Agent Alfred H. Erwin:

"I am a former Special Agent having left the Bureau in November of 1945. While assigned to the New York Field Office the ALTO case, New York file 100-31551, was assigned to me.

"I have been reading the newspapers for the past two or three days concerning the arrest of Judith Coplon at New York City by Special Agents. I recall that on September 16, 1943 a secret writing communication was transferred by a suspect to an unknown woman on Amsterdam Avenue in New York City which unknown woman succeeded in eluding the surveillance and later disappeared in the subway beneath the Pennsylvania Railroad Station. As I recall this unknown woman was observed by Special Agent Chester Airhart and another agent whom I believe was Robert McCaslin. I recall that a great amount of investigation was conducted in an unsuccessful attempt to identify this unknown woman.

"I do not distinctly recall the exact physical description of the unknown woman. However, it appears to me that there is a possibility that she is identical with Judith Coplon. I believe that Judith Coplon has approximately the same physical description with a possible discrepancy in the age.

"I would like to suggest that the New York Field Office compare the physical descriptions of these two women in the event the Bureau is still desirous of identifying the unknown woman involved in the ALTO case."

Former Special Agent Erwin's suggestion that Judith Coplon might be identical with the unknown woman who met Ruth Wilson on September 16, 1943 is highly unlikely. Judith Coplon was not recruited into Soviet intelligence operations until the Fall of 1944.

You should, however, consider the possibility that the unknown woman might be identical with Flora Novschin who has recently been identified as the unknown subject Zora. It would appear that Novschin was recruited as a Soviet agent at an earlier date than Judith Coplon.

At 12:55 p.m. today, Special Agents Runaldue and May called Mr. Whitson and advised that a few minutes previously they had noticed a girl and a man get off at the 5th floor and they asked the elevator operator the way to Room 5119. The Special Agents believed that these persons were Judith Coplon and her attorney, Archibald Palmer.

A check was made and it was ascertained that Room 5119 is the Public Information Office of the Department, part of the suite of offices being occupied by Dean Schedler.

At 1:20 p.m., Mr. William E. Foley of the Department called me and stated that he had heard a rumor that Coplon and her attorney had been in the building. I told him we had heard something along the same line and we also understood they were going to Dean Schedler's office. Mr. Foley stated he would check and call me back. He came to my office at 1:50 p.m. and furnished me copies of press releases made by the Department on March 5 and 6, 1949, which were the releases made subsequent to the arrest of Coplon and Gubitchev. He stated these releases are what Palmer wanted to obtain. He was furnished copies. Mr. Foley asked that I furnish copies of the same releases to Mr. Whearty in the Court Room so that he would be aware of what Palmer had obtained from the Department. I told ^{him} it would be handled.

For Immediate Release:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Attorney General Tom C. Clark announced tonight that FBI agents had arrested Judith Coplon, 27, an employee of the Department of Justice, and Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, a member of the Russian delegation to the United Nations, in New York City, on charges of conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States pertaining to the removal of Government records and to defraud the United States of the faithful and impartial services of Miss Coplon.

The Attorney General said: The FBI investigation, under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover, culminating in the arrests, was originally initiated as a part of the Federal Employee Loyalty Program; an extensive investigation was initiated. The resulting investigation disclosed clandestine meetings between Miss Coplon and Gubitchev. Gubitchev is described as the Third Secretary of the USSR Secretariat of the United Nations assigned to the Manhattan Office of the United Nations. Continued investigation disclosed that Miss Coplon's activities on March 4, 1949 paralleled her activities prior to other meetings with Gubitchev and, accordingly, her activities were closely scrutinized from the moment she departed from Washington at 1:00 P.M. on Friday, en route to New York City.

Director J. Edgar Hoover stated that FBI agents observed extreme caution on the part of Miss Coplon from the moment she arrived in New York City until her contact with the Russian U.N. employee. From 7:23 P.M., when both appeared at the appointed meeting place at 193rd Street and Broadway, until after 9:00 P.M., both of these individuals avoided direct contact while they employed the numerous techniques used to detect surveillance. They finally effected a contact when both dashed aboard a bus near 42nd Street. The two were taken into custody on 3rd Avenue between 14th and 15th Streets.

Miss Coplon had concealed in her purse a flat package containing typewritten summaries of information abstracted from confidential documents involving security data and restricted information.

The Attorney General, immediately upon being informed by the FBI of Miss Coplon's suspected affiliations, insured against the misuse of restricted information coming into the possession of the Department.

As the investigation progressed the Attorney General, department officials, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI, and State Department officials closely cooperated in bringing the case to a conclusion. Since Gubitchev was an employee of the United Nations Secretariat, the matter is being discussed between State Department officials and officials of the Secretariat.

For Immediate Release:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Attorney General Tom C. Clark announced today that necessary legal action against Miss Judith Coplon and Valentine Gubitchev was moving swiftly forward.

The Attorney General made public these developments following the arrest on Saturday morning by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice.

Mr. Raymond P. Whearty has informed the Department of Justice that, up to Sunday night, Miss Coplon has not provided bail, and was being held in the Women's Detention Ward of the City Jail.

The Attorney General said that Mr. Whearty will present the case to a grand jury in New York City beginning at 11:00 A.M. tomorrow.

b3

It was also stated that the Russian Embassy and the United Nations representatives of the USSR, the First Secretary Lev S. Tillokonnikov from Washington, Mr. Soldatov, a legal counsel for the USSR delegation to the United Nations in New York, Thomas Powers of the United States State Department, Mr. Whearty, and an interpreter, held an interview with Mr. Gubitchev last night.

The Department of Justice representative at this meeting, Mr. Whearty, advised the Attorney General that the Russians told the prisoner that he was fully protected by diplomatic immunity.

They also explained to him that they were making immediate and strong protestations to the State Department for Gubitchev's immediate release.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Valentine
I hope you will not allow an unscrupulous defense attorney get away with a legal trick in the case of Judith Coplon. The story about marrying Gubitchev, the Soviet Government plant in the U. N. for espionage purposes is a lie, and here are my reasons for thinking that way:

1. No Soviet citizen sent here by the Soviet government (and none others can come here under normal circumstances) would dare even dream of marrying an American woman and expect to return to the Soviet Union and remain at liberty. This is particularly true in the case of a man who had been with the Foreign Office and was apparently planted into the U. N. for espionage work. Judith is not so stupid as to not be aware of such condition. Even if she were the most ardent American communist, no Soviet official would marry her. That would place him immediately in the ranks of "spies" for foreign powers, as the MVD terms it.

2. Defense counsel's claim that Miss Coplon's father's death on March 29th "followed by a period of mourning in accordance with the deponent's (Miss Coplon's) faith" betrays his claim that her relations with Gubitchev was social and she intended marrying him. Orthodox Jews have a seven-day mourning period after the death of a family member. That would make her an orthodox Jewess. Such a person would not marry a gentile even if he were second to God himself. Therefore, defense counsel is lying from beginning to end.

When the time comes, it would be well to invite as witness an orthodox Rabbi to dispose of lie number 2, and an outstanding Russian authority to smash lie number one.

If you need any assistance, please call on me.

Sincerely yours,

J. Anthony Marcus

MISS COPLON TROTH NO RUSSIAN HINTED

Her Attorney Says Gubitchev and She Were on 'Social'
Terms—Jury Chosen

By LEWIS WOOD

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, April 26—

Broad hints that Judith Coplon contemplates marriage to Valentin Gubitchev, the Soviet engineer arrested with her in New York, were a feature of the second day of the espionage trial of the 27-year-old woman.

Archibald Palmer of New York, defense attorney, threw out the strong intimation just before a jury was finally drawn to try the former Justice Department employe on charges of stealing Government security secrets so as to aid a foreign country.

Mr. Palmer requested Judge Albert L. Reeves to ask the prospective jurors if they had any prejudice against a divorced person or one seeking divorce. The defense lawyer said he knew this would be a "pertinent" question during the trial. Mr. Palmer then commented that Soviet Russia did not allow Russian wives of foreigners to leave that country. Immediately afterward, through Judge Reeves, the jurors were asked if they would entertain a prejudice against an American marrying a foreigner.

Miss Coplon Bows Her Head

Miss Coplon, small, slight, and dressed in black, bowed her head during these questions. During a court recess, reporters flatly asked Mr. Palmer if he meant that the defendant wanted to marry Gubitchev. The lawyer told them to draw their own conclusions, but he would not sue them for libel.

Gubitchev is married and has two children. At the time of his arrest, it was said he was living in Manhattan.

Mr. Palmer made no secret of Miss Coplon's personal attitude toward the 32-year old Russian engineer. At one time during the questioning of jurors, the lawyer leaped to his feet and said:

"We don't deny there was a social relationship. Judith Coplon will take the witness stand to tell all about it. She was with this man many times."

THE NEW YORK TIMES, WEDNESDAY

Gubitchev Is Released in $100

Selection of the jury occupied virtually all day. A panel of twenty-eight persons were closely examined to ascertain if they had prejudices of various kinds. Her black head held close to that of her attorney, Miss Coplon advised him at each step whether to accept or reject a prospective occupant of the jury box. Finally, four negro women, two negro men, and six white men were chosen to pass on Miss Coplon's fate.

Half the jurors are present or past Government workers, a fact attracting special attention in view of Mr. Palmer's attitude toward persons in this category. The defense lawyer, in fact, asked Judge Reeves to exclude all Government employes from the jury, but the request was denied.

"In view of the fact that this case involves the security of the Government," Mr. Palmer inquired at one time, "don't any of you folks who are working for the Government feel you'd rather not serve on the jury, because if you acquitted Miss Coplon you might be embarrassed in explaining to your superiors?"

Fourteen Challenges in All

The prospective jurors shook their heads negatively. Similar denial of prejudice followed questions put by Judge Reeves on various other matters. Mr. Palmer could not draw from any of the panel an admission that he or she would not hear Miss Coplon's case fairly. However, before the jury was selected, the defense challenged eight persons, and the Government, six.

When the trial resumes tomorrow, Mr. Palmer will argue that the papers and other articles seized in Miss Coplon's handbag when she was arrested with Gubitchev in New York March 4 should be returned. In a formal motion filed today, he alleged that the handbag was seized on Third Avenue by FBI agents without a warrant for the arrest of the young woman. The motion demanded also the suppression of the papers as evidence in the case.

Government counsel will resist the motion in arguments when the jury is excluded from the court room. The Government says that the papers were taken from the Justice Department's secret files.

The death of Miss Coplon's father on March 29 in New York was cited as an explanation for a delay in filing the motion. The death of the father, the motion stated, was followed by a period of mourning in accordance with the deponent's (Miss Coplon's) faith. Thereafter, your deponent was engrossed in the care of her ill mother."

In connection with the trial in this case you will recall that two female workers of the New York Office testified. They were Sappho Manos, the chief clerk of the New York Office, and Catherine Condon, a stenographer. Mr. John Kelley and Mr. Raymond Whearty, the two prosecutors in this case, advised Special Agent R. J. Lamphere that both girls made excellent witnesses and reflected credit on the Bureau.

If you approve it is recommended that this memorandum be routed to the Administrative Division for the preparation of letters of commendation for these two employees.

THE WAY... with BILL HENRY

WASHINGTON—You, my fine feathered friend, may go down to Fowler Bros. and purchase yourself a detective story with which to give yourself a thrill. Me—I'll take mine direct, by just dropping in on the Judith Coplon trial.

MATA HARI—Judith Coplon is the little government girl who is accused of stealing secrets from the files of the Justice Department and turning them over to Valentine Gubichev, a Russian. Whether she did it or not is, of course, for the jury to decide. But this trial has everything. There is the defendant, a pinous little girl seated by herself at a desk. A few feet away is her recently widowed mother, in mourning, and reputedly in ill-health. There is the excitable little defense lawyer, Archibald Palmer, with his incessant arguments, objections, flowery phrases, asides, quotations from the Bible, the classics, the Bartlett's glossary. There is the even-tempered judge from the Middle West, who manages to be firm without being dictatorial. And there is the anonymous and super-efficient FBI.

DOUBLE-HEADER—This is the first of two trials. This one merely charges Judith Coplon with taking secrets from the Justice Department files. The next one, scheduled for New York, will cover the same territory but will include the Russian Gubichev on a charge of conspiracy. It has been a revelation, this week, to see the manner in which the FBI goes to work. It is now evident that, early in January, the government became convinced that Judith Coplon was up to some sort of funny business. We aren't told what went on behind the inscrutable facade of the building on Pennsylvania Ave., but, as the evidence unfolds, it is evident that once the FBI moved into the case, plenty happened.

EVIDENCE—What the little girl thought about it, you could not tell. She doesn't have an expressive face. There were times, earlier in the trial, when she smiled—laughed, in fact. Now she doesn't. She protests to the reporters that she is trying to keep up her mother's spirits. "You don't want me to cry in front of her—with her weak heart—do you?" she asks. Bouncy Archibald Palmer, her attorney, is going to work this sympathy angle to the hilt. He refers to his client as the "little girl." He is picturing her as the misunderstood, defenseless, girlishinnocent private citizen being buried under a huge mountain of trumped-up suspicion and innuendo by a vast, clanking, cruel, Gestapolike government agency.

EFFICIENCY—As you sit there, watching and listening, you get an education. The Justice Department attorney is cold, factual, undramatic—all business. He has charts, photographs, an enormous file, a vast notebook, heaps of data. He speaks quietly. He calls to the stand a procession of witnesses, explaining first, that there were "three surveillances—Jan. 14, Feb. 118, March 4"—and his witnesses will describe them in order. As they talk, identify photographs, follow their movements on a map of uptown New York, they impress you with the utter thoroughness of their methods. You get the idea that on that first day, January 14, Judith Coplon left her neat Washington apartment, went down to Union Station and boarded the 1 o'clock train and thereupon set off quite a chain of events.

FACTS—Nobody says so but, as the witnesses testify, you get a picture of an "alert" from Washington, and a young army of young men sprinkled along the platform of Penn Station in New York a few minutes before 5 p.m. to meet the train. Somebody put the finger on Judith—that's clear. Some of the operatives followed her. And how! She went to the subway, to a drugstore, she walked around the block, she went into another store, she doubled back around the block, she met Gubichev. They went to a restaurant; they came out, they went to another subway station, Gubichev leaped out of the train at the last moment before the doors slammed shut and took another train, he got in a cab and circled about. The details are vivid and complete—even to a 45-minute stay by Judith in the ladies' powder room.

EVIDENCE—You aren't sure what this is all leading up to, but you're convinced that it is a mighty thorough, itemized check that has been carried on. There is something inexorable about it. You get the feeling that you wouldn't particularly care to have anything happen that would let loose, on your trail, this body of remorseless young men who move so mysteriously, so efficiently, and so quickly. You can have Fu Manchu—I'll take the FBI.

Hear Bill Henry, Monday through Friday, KJL, 6:35 p.m.

Supervisor Ken Delavigne, Washington Field Office, called at 4:40 p.m. today and referred to the activity of Special Agent Mendenhall in connection with this case. It will be recalled that Mendenhall, because of his complete knowledge of all of the technicals utilized, is, after discussions with Messrs. Whearty and Kelley, not to be used as a witness.

Special Agent Mendenhall is being married tomorrow, May 7. He expects to take his honeymoon within one day's trip of Washington, approximately 200 miles. Mr. Delavigne said that he had Agent Mendenhall talk with Mr. Kelley of the Department today and Mr. Kelley told Mendenhall that there is not a "chance in a million" that he will use him as a witness in this case. Delavigne said accordingly, unless instructed to the contrary, he will permit Agent Mendenhall to carry out his plans for a honeymoon.

Special Agent Miller of the New York Office advises me that during the examination of Special Agent Wilson on the stand today, at one point, Palmer, the defense attorney, made Special Agent Wilson his witness for the purpose of two or three questions. These questions were worded to get across to the Jury that the relations of Gubitchev and his wife were very strained. They went to the knowledge of Special Agent Wilson to this strained relationship. In answering the questions, he advised in effect that he had no such information.

Mr. Whearty and Mr. Kelley now, on cross-examination of Special Agent Wilson so far as this particular direct examination is concerned, desire to ask questions of Special Agent Wilson which will relate to transcripts of conferences held with Gubitchev when he was confined in default of bond. These conferences were always attended by Mr. Donegan and one or more representatives of the Soviet Embassy, and a State Department representative.

In these transcripts there is conversation in which the Soviet Embassy representative conveyed to Gubitchev the good wishes of his wife, and in one instance ^{explained} his wife stated that she did not come to the jail because she did not want to remember her husband as having been in jail. Also one of the Soviet representatives on one occasion delivered a letter to Gubitchev from his wife. This letter is set out verbatim in the transcript and is replete with endearments.

Mr. Kelley proposes to ask Special Agent Wilson if he has read any such transcripts. Special Agent Wilson has and so he will answer yes. Then, Mr. Kelley will, for example, ask a question, "And did you read the letter from Mrs. Gubitchev to her husband which reads as follows....." and then he will read off the entire letter. Even though there is an objection to the question, the effect desired by Kelley is achieved. Kelley's strategy is merely an adaptation of Palmer's minute to minute tactics.

The only problem presented from the Bureau's standpoint is that Mr. Donegan furnished the transcripts on a confidential basis. It is not known why he stated they were furnished on a confidential basis. I phoned ASAG Belmont, and he is checking with Mr. Donegan to see if there is any objection to Mr. Kelley and Mr. Whearty asking such questions of Special Agent Wilson, which really are questions designed to have him say yes he has read such transcripts.

ADDENDUM:

Since the dictation of the foregoing it has been ascertained that SA Wilson actually has read some of the transcripts but he actually has not read the transcripts where it is indicated that the relationship of Mr. and Mrs. Gubitchev is good. If the questions are asked and he answers, his answer will be no, he did not read any letter in the transcripts. Since SA Wilson was put on the stand in the first instance as a Government witness and since it would be clear to everyone that Mr. Kelly would know that the answer to the question is no, it would appear to be most undesirable that he should ask SA Wilson such questions knowing that the answer is no. Mr. Kelly, in fact, makes his speech to the jury and it would appear to be a prejudicial error.

Also, Mr. Belmont called back and talked to night Supervisor Milnes and advised that he had talked with Mr. Donegan about the use of the transcripts and whether or not they were confidential. Mr. Donegan said that as far as he was concerned they were not confidential but he suggested contacting the State Department and securing their attitude about the matter since a State Department representative was present at the time. Mr. Donegan said that he would be in Washington early on the morning of May 12, 1949, and would talk to Mr. Kelly or Mr. Whearty in Mr. Whearty's office before 9:00 A. M.

During the trial of Judith Coplon on May 18, 1949, the Government introduced in evidence pages 74, 75, 76, 77 and a portion of page 78 of the report of Special Agent T. Scott Miller dated March 3, 1949, at New York in this case. The theory apparently was that since the testimony Defense Attorney Palmer had brought out in examination of Government witnesses, that notes taken by Agents of this Bureau containing strictly biographical data concerning Judith Coplon had been destroyed after transcription, might have had some bad effect on the jury, that it was necessary to introduce the report pages covering such data. It has been pointed out to the Government's attorneys in this case that the matter might raise a dangerous precedent and that the production of any of the official reports of this Bureau was something that we have been attempting to avoid over a long period of time.

Defense Attorney Palmer has now laid a predication for the possible introduction of another portion of the same report dealing with the interrogation of Valentine Gubitchev who is not on trial in Washington. Unless vigorous steps are taken to prevent Palmer from wandering so far afield the possibility exists that the door may be opened to the introduction of reports of this Bureau piecemeal and in such a way as to prejudice prosecution of Coplon and Gubitchev in the Southern District of New York.

I am very strongly opposed to the further production in evidence of any portion of the reports prepared by this Bureau in this case and most particularly to portions of reports dealing with the background, activities or associates of Gubitchev.

Your deponent is desirous of obtaining her legal rights under the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution and also all rights vouchsafed her by law.

Deponent is informed by her attorney that a search and seizure incident to an arrest, without the authority of a warrant and without probable cause, is an unreasonable search and seizure and the property so seized should be returned to the defendant.

Deponent is further informed that even if the search should uncover evidence which might tend to bolster the claim of probable cause, which is not the fact in the instant case, nevertheless such search made in violation of the Constitution would not be made lawful by what it brought to light.

All of the papers taken from deponent, as hereinabove referred to, were and are her private papers and deponent is informed that the Government had no right to seize those private papers, even if they would tend to show guilt which, too, is not the fact in the present case.

This motion is made under Rule 41 (e) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, which provides that unless good cause is shown a motion of this nature should be made before trial.

WHEREFORE, deponent respectfully prays for the relief set forth in the annexed notice of motion.

At 5:00 PM tonight, I took to Mr. Peyton Ford's office a memorandum of March 1, 1949, which contained deceptive, disruptive information under the title of the "Amtorg Trading Corporation".

This memorandum had been requested by Mr. Ford so that he could make it available to Coplon with the expectation that she might attempt to furnish the information contained in the memorandum to her contacts.

Mr. Peyton Ford advised me that he had received a memorandum from the State Department which he exhibited to me. This memorandum states that it would be proper to cause the arrest of the Soviet agent Gubitchev at an appropriate time to see if he had been furnished documentary material by the subject, Coplon. I did not have the possession of this State Department memorandum long enough to digest it into my mind, but I noted that the State Department indicated that the Department of Justice might desire to leave this subject, Gubitchev, alone, with the thought in mind that he might prove to be more important with relation to some unidentified matter. Mr. Ford stated that he could not deal with such abstract matters, particularly having in mind the facts of this case. He stated that he had discussed the memorandum with the Attorney General who had instructed "proceed". He stated that Attorney General also indicated that if Gubitchev was arrested they would release him when they got around to it, rather than immediately upon verification of his United Nations credentials.

Mr. Ray Whearty of the Criminal Division came in at the request of Mr. Ford and he submitted a memorandum to Mr. Ford which I did not see but which evidently set forth the legal opinion that for a successful prosecution of espionage it will be necessary that Coplon furnish to Gubitchev information relating to the national defense, and it was indicated that this information must be of restricted character rather than that which could be obtained from public sources. After Mr. Ford read this legal opinion, he returned to me the memorandum of March 1, entitled, "Amtorg Trading Corporation", and requested that there be added a paragraph to it which would contain information relating to the national defense. I told him that normally such information came from Army sources without identifying such sources but I would see what I could do to get the type of information into the memorandum that he desired. Peyton Ford stated that he would like to have the memorandum tomorrow morning. He also advised me that a memorandum would be prepared instructing what the Bureau should do about the arrest of Coplon and Gubitchev.

Mr. Payne of the WFO called at 1:05 P.M. today and advised that there were no particular developments of importance in connection with this trial so far today. Mr. Payne said that Special Agent Brewer Wilson of the New York Office spent the entire morning on the witness stand testifying as to the various surveillances in which he participated. From all indications Mr. Payne said Wilson probably will spend quite a good portion of the afternoon on the stand.

MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

Mr. JAMES RILEY, Prosecuting Attorney, Cole County, Jefferson City, Missouri, advised SA ROWEN B. AYERS that his office has received two telephone calls from JAMES BOB JAMES from Ripley, Tennessee. Mr. RILEY did not talk to JAMES, but JAMES talked to State Circuit Judge SAM BLAIR of Jefferson City, Missouri.

Mr. RILEY advised that he represented JAMES in connection with a case in 1943 when JAMES received a sentence of eighteen months in the United States District Court, Kansas City, Missouri, on January 4, 1943, on a plea of guilty to a violation of the Federal Firearms Act. JAMES is alleged to have said that he thought RILEY might have some influence with United States District Judge ALBERT L. REEVES who is a trial judge in connection with the case of JUDITH COPLON. JAMES is alleged to have said that he wanted RILEY to fly to Washington, D. C. to assist Miss COPLON and that he JAMES would send him $1,000.00 to pay for the trip.

Mr. RILEY advised SA AYERS that he wanted nothing to do with JAMES or the COPLON matter and that he did not know whether JAMES actually had any information with respect to that matter.

It is noted that JAMES is a subject of Kansas City file 65-1035, entitled JAMES B. JAMES, was, Espionage, Sedition, Federal Firearms Act, Selective Service, and the latter case was closed with the report of SA CARROLL WILLOUGHBY MORROW, dated January 21, 1943 at Kansas City.

The above is being furnished to the Bureau for its information.

TO : Director, FBI

FROM: SAC, San Juan

SUBJECT: CONFIDENTIAL NATIONAL DEFENSE INFORMANTS

An individual once member of the Communist Party, USA, and who associated in the past with Communists in Puerto Rico, has made a statement to the San Juan office covering those activities. In the course of his contacts with this office, he stated he intended to mail a short note to the office, attention the contacting agent, but instead delivered it hand to hand. He said he reconsidered the mailing in view of the revelations at New York concerning JUDITH COPLON and felt safer than had it passed through office administrative channels. This informant then revealed the belief that JUDITH COPLON was an employee of or in the same Government unit as this Bureau.

The former position of JUDITH COPLON was explained to his now satisfaction and he said he had not known much about Federal Government Bureaus and Departments and assumed from newspaper accounts of the trial that JUDITH COPLON of the Department of Justice was accordingly in the same unit as this Bureau.

These circumstances are brought to the attention of the Bureau with the thought that there may be others with an erroneous opinion similar to that informant previously held. It is observed that such a belief might in some instances deter individuals from contact with this Bureau or from furnishing information in which their names or activities were involved.

In my absence at 1:35 P.M. today SAAG Raymond P. Whearty of the Department called Mr. Laughlin and advised that Archibald Palmer, attorney for Coplon, had made a demand for the production of the "physical description sheet" showing the height, weight, color of eyes, etc. of Gubitchev and Coplon which allegedly was filled out by the FBI Agents immediately subsequent to the arrest of the subjects. Mr. Whearty inquired whether the Bureau utilized such a form or sheet. He was advised that we did fingerprint subjects of our cases when they were taken into custody and the reverse side of the fingerprint card contains descriptive data.

Mr. Whearty inquired if it would be possible to obtain a photostatic copy of the fingerprint records showing the descriptive data on Gubitchev and Coplon this afternoon. Mr. Laughlin told him that we would do all in our power to make photostatic copies of these documents available. Mr. Laughlin has called Mr. Quinn Tamm's Office in the Identification Division and requested that the fingerprint cards submitted by the New York Office on Gubitchev, FBI No. 157540A, and on Coplon, FBI No. 157539A, be sent to him immediately. Upon their receipt, if you concur, arrangements will be made for the photostating of these fingerprint cards. Immediately upon completion of this, the cards will be made available to Mr. Whearty.

As you will recall, the trial of these subjects was scheduled to commence this morning in the SDNY.

At 12:10 P.M. today, ASAC Belmont of New York called and advised that at 9:15 A.M. Gubitchev, accompanied by Tolokonnikov, came out of the Ukrainian Delegation Home at 18 East 79th Street, New York City, and proceeded to the Federal Court House in Foley Square. In the court room Gubitchev and Tolokonnikov were joined by a Russian stenographer and another unidentified Russian.

Judge Kaufman postponed the trial to May 23, 1949. The Judge also set that date for argument on the motion filed by Palmer, counsel for Coplon, to suppress the evidence taken by the Bureau from Coplon at the time of her arrest.

Gubitchev and Tolokonnikov returned to the Ukrainian Delegation Home at 11:18 A.M.

Following the mid-morning recess, Agent Miller again took the stand, at which time Palmer asked him if any Agents had been located in the same apartment building as Gubitchev in New York, which was answered negatively. Palmer asked if any Agents were located in a building in the immediate vicinity which was also answered negatively. He then asked Agent Miller if Coplon's telephone had been tapped in New York or Washington or any other place, to which Agent Miller replied, "I don't know." He asked Miller if he would tell him if he did know. Miller replied "Yes."

Agent Tom Zoeller took the stand at 11:30 A.M. and Palmer asked him if he had ever been on a surveillance on consulates, embassies, or the United Nations. This was objected to by Mr. Kelley, and the objection was sustained. Palmer then stated that the Judge had allowed an Agent to "answer this question yesterday," to which the Judge said he didn't care, he was ruling on it today. It is believed that Palmer was making reference to the question which he had put to Agent Wirth concerning counterespionage agents when he made the above statement re surveillances.

Palmer then brought up the question of FBI observers in court and the Judge said he would not allow Palmer to pursue this line of questioning.

Just before the noon recess Palmer asked Agent Zoeller if he had notes taken on the surveillance. Zoeller said that he did have but did not know whether they were in Washington or New York. Mr. Kelley has requested that if these notes are in Washington, to let him have them. He said that he will object to the introduction of these notes but that he believes it inadvisable to object too strenuously. Judge Reeves also asked Agent Zoeller that if he had these notes available in Washington, to bring them to court this afternoon. Agent Zoeller will comply with the Judge's instruction in this regard and have the notes available in court.

Between 10:00 A.M. and the mid-morning recess in the trial of instant case, at 11:10, SA T. Scott Miller, Jr. was called to the stand by defense counsel Palmer and has been identifying photographs Palmer personally took of the area in the vicinity of 193rd Street and Broadway.

Valued me
 During the session of court, Palmer requested the identity of the remaining New York Agents who will be called to the stand to testify. This was furnished him by the Government. He also requested the identity of the WFO Agents to be called as witnesses and Government Prosecutor Kelley declined to furnish him this information. Mr. Kelley objected to the introduction of the interview log and notes regarding the interview of Gubitchey and the Court reserved decision on this matter until SA Robert J. Wirth is again called to the stand. Palmer also requested the court for all personal logs and notes of all Agents on all surveillances and the Court advised him that this was a matter he should take up with the Government prosecutors. Mr. Kelley said that he will oppose this. However, he qualified his remark by stating that he doesn't believe he should deny Palmer this request too strenuously in front of the jury inasmuch as he feels that the introduction of these notes might further impress the jury re the surveillances.

Palmer asked that these notes and logs be brought from New York so that they will be available in the event the Court rules that they must be produced. mc

It is to be noted that these documents are now available in Washington.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this memorandum is to present the facts concerning the introduction in evidence of the interrogation log on Judith Coplon and certain pages of the report of Special Agent T. Scott Miller dated March 8, 1949, at New York in this case.

BACKGROUND

You will recall that Mr. Kelley of the Department had indicated on May 13, 1949, that he desired to introduce pages 74, 75, 76, 77, and a portion of page 78 of the report of Special Agent T. Scott Miller dated March 8, 1949, at New York covering the data obtained through the interrogation of Judith Coplon subsequent to her arrest March 4, 1949. Mr. Kelley's purpose was to counteract any effect on the Jury which had been brought about by the Defense Attorney Palmer developing the fact that the notes taken by Bureau Agents containing strictly biographical data concerning Coplon had been destroyed.

As you will recall Kelley's intention was made known to you and at your instructions Messrs. Kelley and Whearty as well as Mr. Peyton Ford and George Kneipp of the Criminal Division were told that the Bureau was strongly opposed to the production of any portion of reports made available to the Department in this case.

On the morning of May 18, 1949, while Special Agent T. Scott Miller was on the stand the Government Attorneys introduced the interrogation log on Judith Coplon and the four and a fraction pages from Special Agent Miller's above-mentioned report in photostatic form.

Defense Attorney Palmer who had been demanding this material up to that time objected to its being introduced in evidence before he had an opportunity to peruse it and with the consent of the Court took the interrogation log and the photostats of the report pages during the Court's noon recess. He returned the items to the Court when it convened in the afternoon and announced he had no objection as to its admission in evidence. Thereupon the Government placed the afore-mentioned items in evidence.

Mr. Whearty of the Department has pointed out that in producing the photostatic pages of the report the Government did not identify them as a part of an FBI report but as dictation from the biographical notes which were subsequently destroyed.

under examination by Defense Attorney Palmer had testified that an interrogation log was maintained on Gubitchev, that notes taken by Agents containing biographical data had been destroyed after dictation as in the case of Coplon and, further, that Gubitchev denied knowing Coplon.

Palmer has asked Mr. Kelley of the Department to produce the interrogation log on ~~Gubitchev~~. VALENZINE

One page of Agent's notes consisting of the negative responses by Gubitchev to questions concerning Coplon is available to the Department.

It is not known, at this time, whether Palmer will request copies of the transcribed biographical data regarding Gubitchev or whether he will request Agents notes concerning the interrogation of Gubitchev concerning Coplon.

ACTION

There is attached for your approval a memorandum to the Attorney General pointing out:

1. That the Department has introduced over vigorous Bureau objection photostatic copies of pages of a Bureau report in this case.
2. That the door is thereby opened to introduce piecemeal more Bureau report material.
3. That Palmer is going far afield to obtain information regarding Gubitchev who is not even on trial in this Court.
4. That every effort should be made to prevent a dangerous precedent not only in this case but for the case in New York in the introduction of investigative reports of this Bureau.

ABRAHAM GEORGE SILVERMAN, who has been described by a self confessed espionage agent as being engaged in espionage, was a member of a business organization dealing in government surplus commodities and composed of CHRISTOPHER J. WAGNER, ERWIN M. SHAEFER, JOE GOULD, and FRANK CONOLLY. SILVERMAN was in frequent contact with these persons and on May 9, 1946, accompanied by JOE GOULD, made a trip to New York. There is no information indicating whether there was any significance in SILVERMAN's contacts with GOULD as to espionage activity, nor information identifying this JOE GOULD as being Juror #8.

At 9:55 AM, May 1, 1949, SA H. V. Kennedy of the New York Office telephonically advised that New York Confidential Informant [redacted] elicited that there was a telephonic conversation between Judith Coplon and her attorney Palmer at 9:30 AM, May 1, 1949,

During the conversation Palmer stated he thinks he will call Mrs. Rosson back to the stand because of an article in the New York Post Saturday. (Kennedy advised that this article in the New York Post appeared on page 6, "A Gap in Coplon Prosecution May Help Show Entrapment") Agent Kenney states that the article deals with the planted document, a summary of which was found in Judith Coplon's possession when she was arrested. Kennedy states that the name of Mrs. Rosson was mentioned in the article.

According to Mr. Kennedy the conversation continued between Mr. Palmer and Judith Coplon, and Palmer requested Coplon to make a list of all republics in the USSR, as well as a list of their capitals. He also requested a list of all the satellite kingdoms and republics around Russia, together with their respective capitals.

Palmer also told Judith Coplon that he was going to ask Mrs. Rosson the definition of a political analyst. Palmer also expressed his belief that Mrs. Rosson would be quite surprised to be called back to the stand to testify again since she thought she was through last Friday.

Palmer also stated, according to [redacted] that he wants to start the case off in a "rediculous vein".

Judith Coplon cautioned Palmer about his conversation over the phone. Palmer retorted that it didn't worry him since "that's all over".

[redacted] also elicited that Judith Coplon was to go to Palmer's office this morning for a conference.

ADDENDUM:

Regarding the New York Post article mentioned by SA Kennedy, he stated that this article appeared in the week-end edition of the New York Post dated May 1, 1949, although the edition appeared on April 30, 1949. Clipping is attached.

Gap in Coplon Prosecution May Help Show 'Entrapment'

By JAMES A. WECHSLER

Post Home News Correspondent

Washington, April 30—An apparent gap in the prosecution's story of how a fake FBI memorandum was "planted" on Judith Coplon may be exploded soon after the espionage trial of the 27-year-old Justice Dept. employee is resumed Monday.

Defense Counsel Archibald Palmer is expected to challenge the government to reconcile seemingly conflicting statements by U. S. Prosecutor Raymond Whearty and William E. Foley, Miss Coplon's chief in the Justice agency.

These successive developments created the puzzle:

1. In his opening statement Whearty said an FBI report marked "top secret" and initialed by FBI Director Hoover was deliberately placed in Miss Coplon's hands on March 4—the day on which she was arrested with Valentine Gubitchev, a Russian U. N. employee. Whearty said part of the memo contained purposefully false material.

2. According to an FBI affidavit submitted during argument on a preliminary motion, a handwritten summary of this report was found in Miss Coplon's handbag when she was seized.

3. When Foley testified yesterday he revealed that he received the "planted" document from Asst. Atty. Gen. Payton Ford and passed it on to Miss Coplon. Whearty then moved to introduce the papers as evidence in the trial. Palmer immediately started to question Foley about "entrapment." This line of questioning was sustained by Federal Judge Reeves. Whearty then abruptly withdrew the exhibit and said he would present it later.

4. Under cross-examination, Foley said Ford never told him the document was faked and never instructed him to let Miss Coplon see it. He also disclosed that he had been informed nearly two months earlier that she was under suspicion and—as a result of that warning—had denied her access to secret FBI reports. But he acknowledged that he made the new document immediately available to her and told her it was "hot."

This sequence presented an outwardly baffling story.

Although the false report was assertedly designed to trap Miss Coplon, Ford neglected to tell Foley to put it in her hands, according to Foley's testimony.

Although Foley says he was unaware the report was bait, he promptly showed it to Miss Coplon despite his admitted knowledge that she was under investigation.

Although Foley was presumably slated to testify—as he did—that he knew nothing of the background of the report and has never been told its contents were manufactured, Whearty took pains to tell the jury the document was a "plant."

While the questions intrigued courtroom observers, it was still unclear whether the answers would vitally affect the course of the trial. It was clear, however, that Palmer planned to raise "entrapment" as a major legal issue.

Men Followed Her

WHEN 27-year-old Judith Coplon was arrested by the FBI on espionage charges in March, the news services called her "plain." They may yet yield to tradition and call her beautiful, but so far the strongest adjective we've seen used is "attractive." Be that as it may, testimony at her trial in Washington reveals that she had a lot of men following her.

Most of them, if not all, were FBI agents. The bureau had 20 agents working on her case after she was suspected of taking secret information encountered in her work for the Department of Justice and passing it on to Valentin A. Gubitchev, Russian employe of the United Nations.

The FBI's testimony so far has been peculiar. Most of it is simply a routine report of shadowing activities, with no explanation of what it is intended to prove. It does show that she met Gubitchev, but Miss Coplon has admitted she often met him "socially," and her attorney has hinted that he intended to divorce his wife and marry her. She has also admitted taking copies of documents, which she says she intended to use only as source material for a novel about a government girl.

It's a Panic, & Lawyer's a Riot

By ANDREW TULLY Scripps-Howard Staff Writer

The charge is espionage, which is not a charge brought lightly, but Judith Coplon is an incredibly flippant young lady as she sits there in U. S. District Court:

To Judith Coplon, who only a few months ago was a nameless clerk in a big Justice Department building, her trial is "a panic," her lawyer "a riot."

Because she is 27, the activities in the big, modernistic court room interest her, but she is working hard at not taking it seriously. The way she looks at it, "A good time was had by all—we ought to charge admission." To Judith, somebody is gagging.

CLIENT-SECRETARY

Gag or not, however, Judith keeps busy at her seat beside her lawyer, the ebullient Archibald Palmer, whose LaGuardia features and big, black lumpy hat are breeding all sorts of new court room legends. She acts as a kind of secretary, helping her lawyer to arrange his papers and taking copious notes, and before court convenes each day she sees to it that Mr. Palmer's pencils are sharp, and helps him carry his law books.

Gag or not, Judith Coplon obviously is determined to take an active part in her defense.

The scenario is the conventional one. As Raymond Whearty, the prosecutor, presents his case in his soft, measured tones, Judith Coplon sits there half-smiling. Sometimes she has difficulty smothering little yawns. When Mr. Whearty speaks of atomic energy secrets, her mouth works patronizingly.

LAWYER STEALS SHOW

Even so, Judith Coplon, who is alleged to have worked with a Russian named Valentin Gubitchev to get secret Government information, is not the main attraction. That role goes to her lawyer, the picturesque Mr. Palmer, who is not unfamiliar with either corn or ham.

Mr. Palmer is both bumbling and dramatic, both gauche and cunning. To him the case does not open, "The curtain goes up." "We stand here clothed with innocence," he orates.

Mr. Palmer, at this early date, apparently is not concerned with details. He covers his ground broadly and he is a good man with a proverb. "Truth crushed to earth will rise again," says Mr. Palmer. "Love," bellows Mr. Palmer defiantly, "knows no bounds."

Generally he marches along blithely, chewing on his words and leaving his sentences dangling, but everybody hears him when he describes how "Those G-men" were "chasing this little girl."

CLITCHES FRESHENED

Also there is nothing hidebound about Mr. Palmer. He gives words new and startling uses and is a fine hand with the archaic. Thus Gubitchev is revealed as a "personal" rather than a "personable" person. He gives the jury its choice of pronounciators for the word "tryst." Miss Coplon, he says, was "hectored" by the FBI. Here, he says, is the "illogic" part of it.

Then, grandly, Mr. Palmer leaves the fate of his client in the hands of the jury: "Ladies and gentlemen, I give you Judith Coplon..."

Judith Coplon, who used to be an honor student, smiles prettily. Assuredly, this trial is "a panic." "Riot" is the word for Archibald Palmer.

The only one who doesn't seem to appreciate the gag is a slender little woman in black, sitting behind the defendant.

Her name is Mrs. Rebecca Coplon and she seems to have been crying. She is Judith Coplon's mother.

Judith's Ex-Boss to Testify Today

Scheduled to testify today is William E. Foley, head of the Justice Department's Foreign Agents Registration Section, and Judith's former boss. He has been called to tell how the FBI planted with Miss Coplon a secret report on Russian attempts to get U. S. atomic information.

This report, Chief Prosecutor Raymond P. Whearty expalined to the jury, contained "deliberately inaccurate" information, naming an Amtorg official as an FBI informer. The Government claims it later found a handwritten memo on this report in Miss Coplon's purse when she was arrested.

Dear Mr. Hoover:-

DECLASSIFIED BY SP2 ALM/KL

"I am a former Special Agent having left the Bureau in November of 1945. While assigned to the New York Field Office the ALTO case, New York file 100-31551, was assigned to me.

"I have been reading the newspapers for the past two or three days concerning the arrest of Judith Coplon at New York City by Special Agents. I recall that on September 16, 1943 a secret writing communication was transferred by a suspect to an unknown woman on Amsterdam Avenue in New York City which unknown woman succeeded in eluding the surveillance and later disappeared in the subway beneath the Pennsylvania Railroad Station. As I recall this unknown woman was observed by Special Agent Chester Airhart and another agent whom I believe was Robert McCaslin. I recall that a great amount of investigation was conducted in an unsuccessful attempt to identify this unknown woman.

"I do not distinctly recall the exact physical description of the unknown woman. However, it appears to me that there is a possibility that she is identical with Judith Coplon. I believe that Judith Coplon has approximately the same physical description with a possible discrepancy in the age.

"I would like to suggest that the New York Field Office compare the physical descriptions of these two women in the event the Bureau is still desirous of identifying the unknown woman involved in the ALTO case."

Mr. Lamar Caudle of the Department called this morning and stated that he had received a telephone call yesterday from Bertha Scarborough, who has been Secretary to Congressman Frank Boykin but who is leaving in the next few days for Europe.

She stated that there was a high administrative official in ECA who uses the name of Wallace although this is not his correct name; that two girl friends of hers had advised her that Wallace was a very close friend of Judith Coplon and was frequently out with her. These girls further stated that they were convinced that Wallace was a Communist. Copy

Mr. Caudle suggested that a check should be made to see if there was an official over at ECA named Wallace and if so it may be necessary to conduct an investigation. I would suggest that an effort be made to locate Bertha Scarborough before she leaves for Europe.

At about 3:45 P.M. today in the Municipal Court, Archibald Palmer was cross-examining SA Thomas Zoeller. At one point during the cross-examination, Palmer attributed a certain statement of facts as having been said by Zoeller, which facts had not been testified to by Zoeller. Judge Reeves told Palmer that the witness had not made such statements, that Mr. Palmer should desist from twisting the facts around, and that he, the Judge, had specifically heard the witness make statements which were directly contrary to those made by Mr. Palmer. He further told Palmer that the latter should "stop this nonsense." Palmer stated that he did not like the use of the word "nonsense," whereupon Judge Reeves informed Palmer that he was being fined $100 and that execution should be stayed until the completion of the trial. Palmer said that he could pay the fine now if the Judge so desired but the Judge stated that it should wait until the end of the trial.

Palmer then asked for a mistrial, which was denied.

Between 3:00 and 4:00 P.M. on instant date the original notes made by SA Zoeller on the surveillance of March 4, 1949, were introduced into evidence and Palmer used them in cross-examining Zoeller.

Palmer between 3:00 and 4:00 P.M. on the instant date demanded the introduction into evidence of the Gubitchev interview log and notes made in connection therewith. The Judge announced that he had the log and Agent Wirth's notes which he was going to review on the instant evening to determine whether they are relevant to the instant trial in view of the fact that Gubitchev is not a defendant in this case.

Mr. Kelley stated that in his opinion the Judge would not allow the Gubitchev log or notes to be introduced into evidence.

L. J. [unclear]

At the afternoon session of the trial in instant case between 2:00 and 3:10 P.M., Government Prosecutors Kelley and Whearty appeared together with Palmer at conference before the Bench. At that time the Government presented a Memorandum of Law objecting to the furnishing of notes of Agents, pointing out that they can only be demanded when these notes are utilized on the stand to refresh the recollection of the witness. Judge Reeves advised that he was inclined to agree with the Government's Memorandum of Law. However, Palmer cited a case in point to support his stand and Judge Reeves instructed that where notes are available to witnesses testifying, that these notes are first to be examined by him, Judge Reeves, and if they should be admitted according to his, Judge Reeves', opinion, he will admit same.

Judge Reeves pointed out to Mr. Whearty and Mr. Kelley that he was taking this stand as a precaution to prevent reversible error.

Messrs. Whearty and Kelley likewise discussed with the Judge the inadvisability of allowing Palmer to question any Agents concerning counterespionage activities such as questions similar to those put to SA R. J. Wirth yesterday and the Judge said that he will sustain an objection to any similar questions from hereon out.

Re: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

Dear Sir:

There are being enclosed copies of the report of SA T. SCOTT MILLER, JR., dated January 28, 1949 in connection with the captioned matter.

Attention is called to that section of the report dealing with contacts and associates of JUDITH COPLON, and in particular, the information set out pertaining to ROBERT MARTIN WOHLFORTH, who is currently employed in the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice, New York City. It will be noted that WOHLFORTH was the individual who recommended COPLON for her position with the Department in 1943.

An investigation was made of WOHLFORTH in the case entitled "ROBERT MARTIN WOHLFORTH, aka WOHLFURTH; Antitrust Division, U. S. Department of Justice, New York, New York; LOYALTY OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES". In the reports in that case, it is noted that several individuals referred to WOHLFORTH as a person who associated with alleged Communists.

~~DEFERRED RECORDING~~

It is felt that WOHLFORTH might possibly be a very important contact of COPLON from the Bureau's point of view, because of the following circumstances:

WOHLFORTH is acquainted with ALFRED K. and MARTHA DODD STERN, subjects of a Soviet espionage case, and connected with the MOCASE group.

VALENTINE ALEKSEEVICH GUBITCHEV, the Soviet agent who apparently handles COPLON, is a patient of Dr. ROBERT SOBLE, another subject in the MOCASE group. ROBERT SOBLE is a brother and close confidant of JACK SOBLE, a known Soviet agent who succeeded VASSILI ZUBILIN in directing the activities of BORIS MORROS and ALFRED K. STERN in the formation of a Soviet cover company in the United States. In addition, JACK SOBLE has stated that his brother, ROBERT SOBLE, was connected with Soviet intelligence for a number of years but has of late decreased his activity in that field.

It can be seen that there is, at least, a thread of connection between COPLON and the MOCASE group, and also, there is a slight possibility that WOHLFORTH was used, whether knowingly or not, to assist in getting COPLON a position with the Department in 1943.

Although the New York Office was the office of origin in the WOHLFORTH investigation, it is possible that the Bureau file contains information which is not in the possession of this office. It is, therefore, requested that the Bureau review its file on WOHLFORTH and furnish this office with any pertinent information relative to WOHLFORTH. Upon receipt of such information, a complete analysis of it will be made together with that in the New York file and the pertinent information reported in the next report in the captioned matter.

Referral/Consult

The Bureau's attention is directed to the fact that leads have not been set out for an active investigation of all the contacts of COPLON, in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding their relationship, such as those relating to COPLON'S contacts with GUBITCHEV and [redacted]. It is being pointed out, however, that a number of COPLON'S contacts are in the government service, some of whom possibly are in a position to furnish her with information of interest to the Soviets. [redacted]

The suggestion is, therefore, offered that possibly it will be desirable to conduct a limited amount of investigation on every contact, for the purpose of ascertaining the contact's employment; as well as the employment of the contact's spouse, to determine whether COPLON would thereby possibly have access to information in which the Soviets would be interested.

It is requested that the Washington Field Office submit its opinion in this matter to the Bureau.

Very truly yours,

Edward Scheidt

PREDICATION

Referral/Consult

This investigation was predicated upon information in Bureau letter dated December 31, 1948, wherein it was stated that [redacted]

The Department's file reflected that JUDITH COPLON was recommended by ROBERT WOHLFORTH of the Economic Warfare Section, War Division, Department of Justice, New York Office, on May 29, 1943, for the position of Translator-Research Assistant. She entered on duty June 15, 1943, and served in the Economic Warfare Section. On December 19, 1944, there appeared a recommendation for her transfer to the position of Political Analyst in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department, Washington, D.C., with a potential assignment to matters dealing with the British Empire. The transfer was ordered on December 20, 1944, and was to be effective January 16, 1945. The transfer was actually effective on February 16, 1945.

It was ascertained from the Department that JUDITH COPLON is the only employee of the Economic Warfare Section to ever be transferred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section.

By letter dated January 4, 1949, the Bureau furnished the New York office with information obtained from Confidential Informant T-1. This information is being set out hereinafter.

Referral/Consult

BACKGROUND OF JUDITH COPLON

The files of the Recorder's Office, James Madison High School, Bedford Avenue and Clinton Road, Brooklyn, New York, as of July, 1943, disclosed that JUDITH COPLON was born on May 17, 1921, at Brooklyn, New York. She attended James Madison High School from September, 1935, to June, 1939.

The records of the Registrar's Office, Barnard College, 116th Street and Broadway, New York City, disclosed that COPLON attended Barnard College from September, 1939, to June, 1943, and received an AB degree. She majored in history. The files also reflected that she was on the staff of the college paper, the "Barnard Bulletin".

The same files showed that her father was SAMUEL M. COPLON, born in Troy, New York, and her mother, REBECCA COPLON, was born in Albany, New York.

The Bureau advised by letter dated January 4, 1949, that JUDITH COPLON'S aunt, Mrs. ETHEL COPLON SANDERS, 601 25th Street, Arlington, Virginia, is employed at the General Accounting Office, Washington, D.C. JUDITH COPLON presently resides in Apartment 108, 2364 Tunlaw Road, N.W., Washington, D.C. Her parents, SAMUEL and REBECCA COPLON, were residents of 178 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, New York, as of 1946. She has a brother, BERTRAM COPLON, who in 1946 was operating the SAMUEL M. COPLON AND SON COMPANY at 1133 Broadway, New York City. Presumably the address of JUDITH COPLON in Washington given above was as of 1946.

By teletype on July 23, 1943, the Bureau gave the following places of employment of JUDITH COPLON:

Aviation Trades Center, Brooklyn, New York, February and March, 1943;
National Youth Administration - Mr. A. ANGELL, Music Library, Columbia University, Library Aid, September, 1940, to June, 1941;
National Youth Administration - Professor M. BIEBER, Fine Arts Department, Columbia University, Clerical-Typist-Research, September, 1941, to June, 1942; Psychological Corporation, 522 5th Avenue, New York City, Head Statistician, Coder, July and August, 1942.

Her references were given as ARTHUR FREEMAN, 84-15 Lefferts Avenue, Kew Gardens, New York, 500 5th Avenue, New York City; Miss HENRIETTA THEA, 1050 Ocean Avenue, Brooklyn, New York, 47 West 34th Street, New York City; Miss GINA TENNEY, Barnard College; Dr. JULIUS HELD, Barnard College.

The above information was supplied by COPLON in connection with her application for the position of Expert in the War Division of the Department of Justice.

By teletype dated April 26, 1946, the Bureau advised that COPLON had been appointed Expert, Antitrust Division, U. S. Department of Justice, New York City, on June 15, 1943, and that she at that time (April 26, 1946) was employed as a Political Analyst, Foreign Agents Registration Section, Criminal Division, Department of Justice, Washington, D.C.

In May of 1946, the records of the Antitrust Division of the U. S. Department of Justice, New York City, reflected that JUDITH COPLON had been employed as an Expert by the Economic Warfare Unit of that division of the Department in New York City from July 1, 1943, to January 16, 1945.

Miss JEAN WALICKI, of the Antitrust Division, U. S. Department of Justice, New York City, advised in May of 1946 that while Miss COPLON'S services had been satisfactory, she, Miss WALICKI, believed Miss COPLON to have "left-wing views and sympathies" but Miss WALICKI was unable to be more specific in this regard.

Confidential Informant T-2 advised in May of 1946 that he had known Miss COPLON fairly intimately from about 1943 to 1945. He stated he had observed her activities quite closely and was in a position to know her views. He advised that Miss COPLON was definitely a Russian sympathizer and that he had observed from the time he first knew her that her convictions, particularly along economic and political lines, followed the Russian line. He said that Miss COPLON was outspokenly a supporter of the second front during the past war and in other matters followed the Communist line. He said that in her economic views JUDITH COPLON was far to the left, although so far as he knew she was not a Communist and also, to the best of his knowledge, did not belong to any political organizations.

Confidential Informant T-3 on August 24, 1944, advised that he had observed among the files of the German-American Anti-Nazi Students Committee a list of individuals entitled, "Contacts Established at Washington Conference". Among the individuals listed was JUDITH COPLON, whose address was given as Students Mail, Barnard College, New York City. T-3 was unable to describe the purpose of the Washington Conference other than that he believed that the GAANSC had sent a number of delegates to the conference of the International Students Service of the International Student Assembly held at Washington, D.C., in 1942.

Confidential Informant T-3 further advised that the GAANSC was organized in New York City on or about June 4, 1942. Its purpose was listed by the organization as being to win the war against Fascism, to fight Fascism, to extend the four freedoms, and to expose and fight discrimination against students and teachers of enemy nationalities. It should be pointed out that Confidential Informant T-3 also exhibited a list of the members of this organization but the name of JUDITH COPLON was not on that list.

Confidential Informants T-3 and T-4 advised that the GAANSC was organized by the German-American Emergency Conference, a reported Communist front organization.

The "Daily Worker" of August 13, 1942, carried an article captioned, "Let's Go, Youth Organizations Say". This article was on page five and reflected that the leaders of forty New York and National Youth Organizations have signed a letter to the President calling upon him to fulfill his promise of a second front and urging full citizenship for the negro and post-war corporation of the United Nations. According to this article, one of the signers of the letter in question was JUDY COPLIN, Editor, "Barnard Bulletin" (paper of Barnard College, New York City).

Attention is called to the fact that JUDITH COPLON graduated from Barnard College in June of 1943.

By letter dated January 4, 1949, the Bureau advised that the Albany office had ascertained in 1943 that JUDITH COPLON, during the time she attended Barnard College in New York City, was on the Editorial Board of the school publication, the "Barnard Bulletin". Miss COPLON is said to have written several articles for this publication, and that one of her articles; wherein she criticized the college for being too conservative, caused some comment among the faculty of the college.

It was ascertained from the Riggs National Bank, Washington, D.C., DuPont Branch, that in July, 1944, one of the cancelled checks charged to the account of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission was made out to J. COPLAN. It is not known whether the payee of this check could be identical with JUDITH COPLON.

PHYSICAL SURVEILLANCE OF JUDITH COPLON

By letter dated January 14, 1949, the Washington Field Division furnished the New York office with a photograph of JUDITH COPLON.

On January 14, 1949, the Washington Field Division telephonically advised this office that JUDITH COPLON was enroute to New York City and that it was being requested that the New York office place her on physical surveillance upon her arrival. She was under surveillance on the train by Agents of the Washington Field Division.

On January 14, 1949, the following Special Agents of the New York office were at Pennsylvania Station to take up the surveillance of COPLON upon her arrival:

NY 65-14932

DANIEL F. GARDE
RICHARD T. HRADSKÝ
JOHN F. MALLEY
ROGER W. ROBINSON
T. SCOTT MILLER, JR.

At 4:50 P.M., Train No. 176 of the Pennsylvania Railroad arrived at Pennsylvania Station, New York City. JUDITH COPLON was observed to get off Coach No. 3911 of that train at which time the surveillance was taken over from the Washington Field Agents. COPLON was observed to be carrying a medium-size, light tan overnight bag of the fiber, airplane type variety. She proceeded immediately to the ladies rest room on the main level of Penn Station, arriving there at 4:57 P.M. She left at 5:40 P.M. among a crowd of people and it was observed that she was not carrying her overnight bag. It should be pointed out, however, that there were some steel lockers for checking purposes immediately to the right of the exit of the ladies room, and it was possible that she could have put the bag in one of the lockers between the time she left the ladies room and the time that the Agents could tell whether she was still carrying her bag.

She went to the lower level of Pennsylvania Station and entered the Double Day Book Shop where she was observed looking at various books. At 5:50 P.M. she left the book shop and entered the station drug store directly across the arcade from the book shop. She waited for a few moments for a seat at the lunch counter, then ordered something at the counter and was observed reading the New York "Star" newspaper which she had purchased at a news stand on her way to the lower level of the station.

At 6:02 P.M., COPLON left the drug store and entered the IRT Subway and then boarded a northbound, 7th Avenue-Broadway express.

At 6:40 P.M. she left the train at the 191st Street stop in Manhattan and took the elevator to the street level.

COPLON then walked north on St. Nicholas Avenue to Wadsworth Avenue, turned left and followed Wadsworth Avenue around in a curve to the intersection of 192nd Street, and then east on 192nd Street back to St. Nicholas Avenue, thereby circling the irregular-shaped block between these two streets. She then walked south on St. Nicholas Avenue to West 188th Street where she crossed the avenue and entered the drug store on the northeast corner of that intersection. After apparently only making a purchase or a quick telephone call, she left the store, walked west on 188th Street to Wadsworth Terrace, turned right and walked north to Fairview Avenue. She then turned left (west) and walked down the dimly lighted, winding hill on Fairview Avenue to Broadway. She then turned north on Broadway and proceeded one block to 193rd Road, stopping on the northeast corner of this intersection.

It should be pointed out that most of the above route was through a very dimly lighted residential section of upper Manhattan and was almost totally deserted. It is not the type of neighborhood which an unescorted woman would usually walk around in this fashion.

COPLON waited approximately ten minutes at the intersection of 193rd Road and Broadway in a dark corner, whereupon an unidentified man, described hereinafter, came up from the south on Broadway and after a brief greeting they walked together in a northerly direction along Broadway. They turned on Nagle Avenue and walked to Dyckman Street and then left, or west, on Dyckman Street. COPLON and the unidentified man entered the Deluxe Restaurant, an Italian food restaurant, at 143 Dyckman Street at 7:25 P.M.

It should be pointed out that COPLON met this man at 7:12 P.M. and during the thirteen minutes it took them to walk to the restaurant, the surveilling Agents alternated going one block ahead of the surveillance and walking back in a direction opposite the one in which COPLON and the man were traveling, so that the unidentified man could be observed for identification purposes.

At 7:45 P.M., the reporting Agent entered the restaurant and took a seat at a booth in the opposite end of the restaurant where the subject and the man were sitting, but in a position facing the man so that a better description of him could be obtained. It was noted that the two were talking during the entire time they were under observation in the restaurant and during this time nothing was observed to pass between them.

At 8:15 P.M., the two left the restaurant, the man having paid the check. They walked west on Dyckman Street to Sherman Avenue, left on Sherman Avenue to Broadway, and then south on Broadway. During this walk, COPLON was engaged in animated conversation with the man stopping several times to gesticulate vigorously and on several occasions appeared to be emphasizing her point by waving a folded newspaper in the direction of the unidentified man. After crossing to the west side of Broadway, they walked along the park edge to the south end of Fort Tryon Park on Broadway where they stood on a corner for several minutes. The two of them walked up to and entered the tunneled entrance to the 191st Street stop of the Independent Subway System.

They boarded a downtown express train and sat together conversing until the train reached the 125th Street stop. Just before the doors closed, the man hurriedly left COPLON on the A train, crossed the platform and boarded a downtown local train, at which point the surveillance of COPLON was discontinued. The man rode to 116th Street where he got off the subway, went up to the street level, which is in the Harlem section of New York, and engaged a taxi between 115th and 114th Streets. The taxi turned west on 114th Street and proceeded to 116th Street and Broadway where the man got out of the cab and entered a Broadway-7th Avenue IRT Subway station. The surveilling agents entered the subway station and observed a southbound train leaving the platform and no one remained on that platform. The man was not observed among the people waiting on the northbound platform for the next train.

Race	White
Age	In 30s
Height	Approximately 5' 5"
Weight	140-150
Complexion	Fair
Hair	Thin, light brown, receding hair line at temples, parted on left side with part curving around at the rear of the head, hair on left side combed straight down from the part, hair on other side of part combed across head from left to right in front and then to the rear along right side.

Facial Features	Slavic appearance, regular features, very slightly concave nose
Build	Medium
Posture	Erect
Clothing	Brown, narrow-brimmed, snap-brimmed hat with black band; midnight blue overcoat; single-breasted, blue suit; white shirt; reddish brown, woolen scarf with white thread lines separating large, brown blocks; small, black shoes
General appearance	Neat and well dressed

Because of the manner in which COPLON kept this rendezvous with the man, a partial map of Manhattan showing the vicinity in which the meeting was made is being included with this report which sets out the route taken by COPLON. On the map the blue line indicates the route COPLON took while alone after arriving at the 191st Street stop of the subway. The red line indicates the route the two took to the Italian restaurant and then to the subway station. By an examination of this, it can be seen the unusual route taken by COPLON, especially in view of the fact that most of the route was through a dark and deserted section of the neighborhood.

Because of the manner in which COPLON acted, it was deemed advisable to discontinue the surveillance of her during the remainder of her stay in New York City.

However, on the morning of January 15, 1949, measures were immediately taken to identify the unknown man described above. The writer proceeded immediately to the New York office and examined photographs maintained in this office of Russian nationals presently in the United States attached to the Amtorg Trading Corporation and the United Nations. SAs MALLEY and BRENNAN instituted a surveillance at 680 Park Avenue, which is the headquarters of the USSR delegation to the United Nations. Other Agents were stationed at 210 Madison Avenue, in which building Amtorg Trading Corporation is located.

Shortly after 10:00 A.M., Agents MALLEY and BRENNAN advised that an individual, whom they believed to be the unidentified man of the previous evening, was observed to enter 680 Park Avenue. Shortly thereafter, Agents HRADSKY and ROBINSON joined the Agents at 680 Park Avenue.

Shortly thereafter, the writer had picked out two photographs of VALENTINE ALEKSEEVICH GUBITCHEV as being possibly identical with the unknown man.

At 11:35 A.M., the individual answering the description of the unknown man of the previous evening was observed leaving 680 Park Avenue and proceeded to 64 West 108th Street, New York City, where it was subsequently ascertained that he resides.

Additional information concerning GUBITCHEV, a USSR United Nations employee, will be set out subsequently in this report in that section dealing with COPLON'S contacts and associates.

It should be stated that all six Agents, mentioned above, who had been on the surveillance on January 14, 1949, definitely identified the individual surveilled to 64 West 108th Street and the unidentified man of January 14, 1949, as being identical with the individual in the picture captioned VALENTINE ALEKSEEVICH GUBITCHEV.

January 19, 1949

On January 18, 1949, the Bureau telephonically advised this office that JUDITH COPLON contemplated coming to New York on January 19, 1949, and that she should be placed under physical surveillance.

It was stated that COPLON would be accompanied by her

The following Special Agents participated in the physical surveillance of COPLON on the instant date:

In order to cover COPLON'S activities in the ladies room in the event she again went there, SAPPHO MANOS and IRENE MALONEY, female employees of the New York office, accompanied the Agents. This precaution was taken because of the length of time COPLON remained in the ladies room on her last trip, and also due to the fact that there are several ways of leaving the room on two different levels of the station.

At 4:50 P.M. JUDITH COPLON and a man identified as [] were observed to leave Pennsylvania Railroad Train No. 176 arriving from Washington, D.C. COPLON and [] walked through the station to the anteroom next to the cab stand at the north side of the station where COPLON spent approximately ten minutes in a corner telephone booth referring occasionally to a telephone directory between calls. [] during this time, descended to the lower level for several minutes, returned and had a shoeshine next to the telephone booth.

At 5:25 P.M., COPLON and [] proceeded by taxi to the Hotel Taft, 7th Avenue and 50th Street. [] carried COPLON'S tan, airplane type, overnight case and a brown leather two-sulter type bag. While COPLON waited in the lobby [] made inquiries at the reservation window and then made a number of phone calls after referring to the hotel section of the Manhattan Classified Directory. COPLON then conferred with a hotel employee at the desk of the Assistant Manager in the lobby.

At 6:20 P.M., COPLON and [] left the Taft Hotel with their luggage and proceeded by cab to the Piccadilly Hotel, 227 West 45th Street, New York City. After [] had apparently registered at the desk, the two entered a hotel elevator with their luggage.

At 7:00 P.M., COPLON and [] left the hotel without luggage and it was noted that COPLON was not carrying her black leather purse trimmed in gold.

At 7:30 P.M., the two entered the Alps Restaurant at 6th Avenue near 58th Street, where they had dinner.

NY 65-14932

At 8:30 P.M., the two walked to the Century Theater, 7th Avenue and 58th Street, where the musical "Kiss Me Kate" was currently being played.

At 11:15 P.M. the two left the theater, walked to Columbus Circle and proceeded by subway to Times Square. They had something at the soda fountain at Walgreen's Drug Store at Times Square and then went to the Hotel Astor lobby arriving there at 11:45 P.M. [] left the Astor Hotel and was gone for approximately twenty minutes while COPLON waited in the Astor lobby looking over a theater program.

At 12:05 A.M. (January 20, 1949) [] returned to the lobby carrying COPLON'S tan, overnight bag. The two then proceeded by subway and foot to 178 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, New York, arriving there at 12:57 A.M. (January 20, 1949). At 1:05 A.M. (January 20, 1949), [] left 178 Ocean Parkway and returned to the Piccadilly Hotel arriving there at 2:30 A.M.

The current Brooklyn telephone directory lists SAMUEL M. COPLON as residing at 178 Ocean Parkway, Telephone GEdney 8-1048.

During the remainder of COPLON'S stay in New York City, which was through January 23, 1949, the following Special Agents participated in the surveillance of her:

ROGER W. ROBINSON
RICHARD T. HRADSKY

January 20, 1949

At 1:25 P.M. on the instant date, COPLON left her parents' home at 178 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, and proceeded by foot and subway to Manhattan. She arrived at the 50th Street subway station on the 6th Avenue line at 2:04 P.M. and during the afternoon shopped at various department stores in the Midtown Section of Manhattan.

At 5:50 P.M., COPLON left a small gift shop on Madison Avenue and walked to the 42nd Street stop of the Lexington Avenue subway, at which place she boarded a southbound train. She got off the train at the Wall Street station and walked to the north end of the station, stopping to primp in front of mirrors on vending machines. She proceeded up a flight of stairs and walked through the full length of a long deserted office building corridor having street exits at either end, one on Broadway and the other on Trinity Place, the latter running parallel with Broadway. She left the building at the Trinity Place exit, walked back along the full length of the same building to the adjoining street (Rector Street) and then along Rector Street back to Broadway. (The subway station was under Broadway.) She crossed the street and walked in front of the door of 120 Broadway where she waited several minutes and then entered the lobby of the building where she stood about twenty minutes.

It should be pointed out that there is a means of access to 120 Broadway from the subway station which COPLON left.

At 6:40 P.M., COPLON was joined in the lobby of the building by a tall, slender, unidentified woman with a black coat who was carrying a brown, leather brief case. COPLON and the woman walked to Ye Olde Dutch Tavern, 15 John Street, New York City, having stopped momentarily in Loft's Candy Store enroute. They entered the tavern at 6:50 P.M. and remained there until 8:55 P.M. The surveilling Agents were unable to determine whether anything material passed between the two.

At 8:55 P.M., the two left the tavern, walked north on Broadway to Park Place where they stood on the corner and engaged in conversation for several minutes. After parting, COPLON went immediately to her parents' home in Brooklyn.

The unidentified woman entered the Park Place station of the Broadway-7th Avenue IRT line. She took an uptown express train to 110th Street where she got off and walked to the building located at 404 Riverside Drive, New York, New York, which is an apartment building. This woman was described by the surveilling Agents as follows:

January 21, 1949

At 11:28 A.M., on the instant date, COPLON left her parents' home in Brooklyn and proceeded by subway to Manhattan where she proceeded to visit numerous department stores in midtown Manhattan. At 4:10 P.M. she left Macy's Department Store and proceeded by subway to her parents' home where she remained for the rest of the day and evening.

January 22, 1949

At 12:15 P.M. on the instant date, COPLON left her parents' home and proceeded to Saks Fifth Avenue store in Manhattan where she met an unidentified woman at the handbag counter. This woman was believed to be

NY 65-14932

[] but it happened that the Agents on surveillance at that time were not the Agents who had observed [] closely on January 20, 1949. The two looked around the store at several counters, then left and proceeded south on 5th Avenue looking in various store windows. They stopped at a book store and looked at some books and then went to Lord and Taylor's Department Store where they began shopping. At 4:07 P.M. COPLON and [] met an unidentified woman, described as about thirty years of age, five feet six inches tall, one hundred twenty-five pounds, black hair pulled back into a knot at base of head, medium dark complexion, medium slender build. She wore no hat and a long gray coat. It appeared that [] introduced COPLON to this unknown woman. At 4:12 P.M., [] and the unidentified woman left Lord and Taylor's and COPLON remained on the first floor near the door. She walked to the jewelry counter just to the left of the exit and made a purchase.

At 4:20 P.M., an unidentified man (believed to be []) entered Lord and Taylor's and COPLON, who had been watching the door, immediately went to meet him. Very few words passed between them and the unidentified man turned and left the store. He was about 32-35 years of age, five feet eleven inches tall, one hundred and sixty pounds, and had dark hair.

At 4:28 P.M., COPLON left Lord and Taylor's through the 5th Avenue exit, walked about twenty feet to the corner of 5th Avenue, turned west on 39th Street, walked about one hundred feet and entered a green Ford Convertible coupe, New York license 6N436. The unidentified man who had met her in Lord and Taylor's was seated behind the wheel. They drove west on 39th Street to 257 West 39th Street where they parked the car directly in front of the entrance. Both got out and entered this address, which is a loft-type building tenanted by garment manufacturers and textile industries.

The surveilling Agents were unable to ascertain where the two went in the building.

At 4:55 P.M., COPLON and the man left the above address, got into the car and proceeded west to 8th Avenue and then south at a rapid pace on 8th Avenue for several blocks. The car then slowed down considerably and proceeded at a slow pace for several blocks and then began weaving across town going east one block and south a few blocks, which is a manner of getting across town without stopping for lights. The car was being driven south on University Place and made a left turn into East 12th Street, the Communist Party headquarters being located a few doors in from University Place on East 12th Street. For security reasons, the surveilling Agents were several blocks behind the car being surveilled and because of the neighborhood, the surveillance car was brought to a halt short of the intersection of University Place and 12th Street. After a few moments lapse, the Agents proceeded rapidly to the corner on foot and it was determined that the Ford had not stopped in that block. By the time the surveillance car could be driven to the next intersection east, [] car could not be observed.

The surveillance was immediately taken up at COPLON'S parents' home, 178 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, but COPLON was not observed to return home as of 3:00 A.M., on January 23, 1949. It is possible, of course, that while a limited search was being made in the area where the car was lost, [] could have driven COPLON home and arrived there sometime before the Agents got to 178 Ocean Parkway.

It was ascertained that New York tags 6N436, mentioned above, were registered to [] 1431 Harrison Avenue, New York, New York, for a 1942 green Ford convertible.

The Bronx telephone directory, however, lists []
[] New York.

At 3:43 P.M., COPLON left her parents' home and made several small purchases in a nearby news stand and drug store and then returned home.

At 5:40 P.M., COPLON left the side entrance of 178 Ocean Parkway accompanied by an unidentified man (believed to be her brother, BERTHAM COPLON), a small boy, and what appeared to be a teen-aged girl. The group entered a green Packard four-door sedan bearing New York tag 8L-5812, which was then driven by the unidentified man to Pennsylvania Station, New York City. COPLON left the car and went in the station where she met [] They placed their luggage in two lockers numbered Z-403 and X-404, and entered the main sitting room where COPLON left [] and entered the ladies room. She remained there a few moments then joined [] COPLON then entered a telephone booth where she unsuccessfully attempted to complete a call. The two then walked through the station to the Savarin Bar where they were observed standing at the bar. They remained there about fifteen minutes; then returned to the lockers, got their luggage and boarded train No. 143 for Washington, D.C.

It should be stated that it was noted that [] and COPLON, while together, had three pieces of luggage. From the time COPLON left her house until the time she met [] she was not observed to have two pieces of luggage. Therefore, the extra piece of luggage is believed to have belonged to []

b7C

The Washington Field office was telephonically advised of COPLON'S departure.

It was ascertained that New York tags 8L-5812, mentioned above, were registered to BERTRAM COPLON, 52 East 89th Street, New York, New York, for a 1948 Packard.

It should be stated that the physical surveillance of COPLON on her two trips to New York was conducted in a highly discreet manner and the surveilling Agents are of the definite opinion that at no time did she apparently become aware of the fact that she was being surveilled. It might also be added that on January 14, 1949, during the time she was walking from 191st Street subway station to her point of rendezvous with GUBICHEV, she did not appear to be lost but walked as though she had a definite route she was going to take and not once did she look back or apparently become concerned about the possibility of a surveillance.

MATERIAL IN JUDITH COPLON'S POSSESSION
JANUARY 19, 1949

As mentioned above, on January 19, 1949, COPLON went to the Hotel Piccadilly with [redacted] where she remained in his room for a short period of time and then went to dinner and to a musical. b6 b7C

Confidential Informant T-5 advised that COPLON had left her black leather purse inside of her overnight case and that the case had been left in [redacted] room in the Piccadilly which was Room 508.

T-5 said that everything of interest was in COPLON'S purse and that the following were the items:

A 1949 pocket-size diary with the following entries:

"January 14, 1949 - UP Item for selective misleading - NYC olives (black).

January 19, 1949 - Taft - 6:30 P.M.

January 20, 1949 - [redacted] eve - shopping.

January 21, 1949 - [redacted] - eve - call [redacted]
Call [redacted]

January 22, 1949 - SID - eve. [redacted] 2 or 3.

January 29, 1949 - Dr. BERNSTEIN, 11:45.

February 18, 1949 - Get ticket for show."

Particular attention is called to the entry on January 14, 1949, which was the date COPLON kept her rendezvous with GUBITCHEV. The suggestion is offered that this was merely an entry made by COPLON which doesn't necessarily mean anything, except that this is the date COPLON is scheduled to meet GUBITCHEV.

NY 65-14932

The only other entry in the diary which does not definitely mention an individual or a place is the entry for February 18, 1949, "Get ticket for show". Attention is called to the fact that February 18, 1949, is the first Friday after a one-month lapse from the Friday, January 14, 1949, when she met GUBITCHEV. It is believed possible, therefore, that COPLON might meet GUBITCHEV in New York City on February 18.

The entry for January 19 is explainable inasmuch as [] and COPLON tried to register in the Taft Hotel on that date.

On January 20, 1949, as explained above, COPLON met [] and also shopped considerably during that day.

The [] referred to on January 21, 1949, is believed to be []. The MORT referred to is believed to refer to MORTON POMERANZ, inasmuch as COPLON was in possession of a personal letter from POMERANZ who resides in New York. The [] has not been identified as yet but her name appeared in COPLON'S address book.

The SID mentioned is not definitely known, but it is noted that several SIDS are in COPLON'S address book and further she is acquainted with a SYD BRODIE, presumably in Washington.

The Dr. BERNSTEIN, mentioned on January 29, 1949, is possibly the same Dr. BERNSTEIN in Washington, D.C., whose name was noted in COPLON'S address book.

It should be stated that the above entries were the only entries in the entire diary, according to Confidential Informant T-5.

Also observed by T-5 in COPLON'S purse was an address book, the contents of which will be set out in that section of this report entitled, "Contacts and Associates".

Also contained in COPLON'S purse was an envelope with the return address, "MORTON POMERANZ, 1633 51st Street, Brooklyn, New York." The letter was very personal in nature and the signature was illegible. There was added after the signature in a different handwriting and at an angle the following:

NY 65-14932

"ECA - are looking for P-25 pretty closed corp - need someone to work for him. Send him over to MILTON QUINT.

CAR/CHERTKOFF."

Because of the manner in which this notation was signed, it is not known whether the CAB were intended as initials or not.

The New York office had no record of POMERANZ, QUINT, or CHERTKOFF.

T-5 also observed a pass book in the name of JUDITH COPLON, which indicated that she opened an account with the City National Bank, Washington, D.C., in 1945. COPLON'S check book was also in her purse which indicated a balance of $404.00.

COPLON also had a copy of the book "Rabelais" by SAMUEL PUTNAM, published by the Viking Press, New York City, 1946. A copy of the January issue of the "New Yorker" magazine was also in COPLON'S case.

According to Confidential Informant T-5, [redacted] two-suiters contained nothing but clothing.

It might be stated here that [redacted] had registered for a single room.

CONTACTS AND ASSOCIATES

VALENTINE ALEKSEEVICH GUBITCHEV, was:
VALENTIN A. GUBICHEV, VALENTIN GOUBICHEV.

This individual is probably the most important contact of JUDITH COPLON. The June 1, 1948 United Nations telephone directory lists VALENTINE GUBITCHEV as connected with the Planning Office of the Department of Administrative and Financial Services, Room 607, Extension 167, of the Manhattan Office of the United Nations at 405 East 42nd Street, New York, New York.

GUBITCHEV arrived in the United States at New York City on July 20, 1946 being described as the Third Secretary of the Secretariat, U.S.S.R., United Nations. His wife was [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] VALENTINE GUBITCHEV was born on June 24, 1916, Nikoloskoye, Orlov Province, U.S.S.R.

The current Manhattan telephone directory lists VALENTINE GUBITCHEV as residing at 158 West 106th Street, telephone Riverside 9-6695. However, from investigation it has been established that GUBITCHEV resides with his wife at 64 West 108th Street, New York, New York, telephone Academy 2-5823. The GUBITCHEV child returned to the U.S.S.R. July 31, 1948 on the SS POBEDA.

Because of the circumstances surrounding the meeting of January 14, 1949, it appears there remains little doubt that COPLON is still acting as an agent for the M.G.B. and further that GUBITCHEV is the M.G.B. Agent who is her contact. As set out above, it is possible that the next scheduled meeting between COPLON and GUBITCHEV will be February 18, 1949.

The only information in the files of the New York Division concerning GUBITCHEV is that in connection with his entry into the United States as a Russian National.

ROBERT MARTIN WOHLFORTH

This individual recommended JUDITH COPLON for her position as Expert in the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice, New York City, in 1943.

The directory on the second floor of the United States Court House, Foley Square, New York City, lists R. WOHLFORTH as being attached to the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice in Room 232.

A review of the personnel file of WOHLFORTH maintained at the Department of Justice revealed that on July 21, 1939 WOHLFORTH executed an application for appointment in the Department of Justice stating that he was born February 4, 1904 at Lakewood, New Jersey. He was married and had three children and at that time was residing at 15 2nd Street, N.E. Washington, D.C. He attended the Peddie School, Heightstown, New York, from 1920 to 1922 and graduated; Princeton University from 1922 to 1923; United States Military Academy, West Point, from 1923 to 1927 graduating with a B.S. Degree.

WOHLFORTH listed that he had been a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army and resigned June 27, 1928 and was a member of the Cadets, 18th Infantry, First Division, from June, 1927 to December, 1928. He was employed by the "New York American" newspaper as a Reporter in 1928 and 1929 and was on the staff of the "New York Telegraph" newspaper from 1929 to 1930. He was employed by the GUIDE PRINTING COMPANY, Brooklyn, New York, as Editor-Director, 1930 to 1932 and was employed in publicity and editorial work during 1932 and 1933. He remarked that he had been employed as Consultant for Representative ROSS COLLINS of Mississippi during 1933 and 1934; with the United States Senate Munitions Committee, 1934 to 1936, and with the United States Senate Civil Liberties Committee from 1936 to 1938.

The personnel file indicated that WOHLFORTH entered on duty on October 31, 1939 as an Expert, Economic Welfare Section, Antitrust Division, at New York City at $5600.00 per annum and was assigned as an Expert to the New York City Office.

BEA BRAUDE

This individual is believed identical with BEATRICE BRAUDE, a Research Analyst in the Department of State, Washington, D.C. as of February, 1948.

On November 2, 1946, Confidential Informant T-7 stated that MARY JANE KEENEY conferred with LOIS CARLISLE and told CARLISLE that she had been trying to get in touch with a girl who recently returned from Germany who is in the Department of State in the section known as State Research Intelligence. MARY JANE said that she wanted to contact this girl because the girl had a message for MARY JANE from an "anti-Fascist", in Berlin. CARLISLE remarked that the information desk at the Department of State would soon have the telephone listing of this girl if she had recently returned from overseas.

Subsequently, according to the informant, on November 12, 1946, MARY JANE KEENEY contacted BEATRICE BRAUDE, the latter advising KEENEY that she had a message for a MARY JANE from HELEN BOOTH. At 12:20 P.M. today I called ASAC Belmont of New York and furnished him over the telephone a complete copy of the Attorney General's memorandum of March 3, 1949. Thereafter I advised him that the subject Coplon was leaving Washington on the 1:00 train for New York City, that there would be two Agents surveilling her who are aware of all of the facts of the case. As soon as the New York Office picks up the surveillance they, the Washington Field Office Agents, will go to the New York Office and await further instructions.

I instructed Mr. Belmont that they should make the same effort to cover any meeting of the subjects Coplon and Gubitchev as they have made previously, and it was very necessary that they make every effort to be successful in covering this particular meeting. I told him that if they were satisfied that subject Coplon had passed documents to Gubitchev, they were authorized to cause the arrest of both. If they were not satisfied that some documents had been passed, they should not cause their arrest. The question of whether an arrest was proper under the circumstances in light of these instructions was left to his discretion.

I pointed out that the subject Gubitchev might try to get rid of any documents when he was accosted and they should be careful in that respect and should give consideration to searching him on the spot. If they did find documents they should take proper care in handling them and I suggested the use of cellophane envelopes to preserve fingerprints to prove that Coplon had had the documents.

I told Mr. Belmont that I was taking up with Mr. Whearty of the Department the question of subpoenas as outlined in the memorandum from the Attorney General. We would try to arrange to have subpoenas in the possession of the New York Office. I instructed that he advise the Bureau on a 30-minute basis of the developments in this matter. I told him that the surveillance should be of that character which would result in covering any meeting of the subjects but; of course, we did not want the case spoiled by the surveillance. Mr. Belmont expressed the opinion that their surveillance would result in covering any meeting that would occur. I told him that if she should meet a stranger and pass him information, no arrest should occur but their inquiry then should be designed to determine who this stranger is. If a person other than Gubitchev received information and that person was known to the New York Office, then it would be a matter again within their discretion.

54 MAR 15 1949

I also advised him of the nature of the deceptive information and the classified information which had been made available to Coplon this morning. In this connection Mr. Foley called me at 9:30 A.M. and advised that the Bureau memorandum of March 2, 1949, which contains deceptive information and also classified information dealing with the national defense, carried under the title of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, had been made available to Coplon. I explained to Mr. Belmont that a deliberate error had been made in the communication in attaching an extra onionskin copy which subject Coplon could remove, and the fact that it was missing would not mean anything because actually only the original and one onionskin copy should be in the possession of the Department. I told him that we would try to ascertain as quickly as we could this evening whether or not she had taken this document or a copy thereof and would advise the New York Office.

Mr. Belmont stated that they would go over the instructions of the Bureau and the memorandum of the Attorney General and if there were any additional questions he would call for further instruction and advice.

At 11:45 A.M. I instructed Special Agent Delavigne of the Washington Field Office to be certain that an Agent well acquainted with the facts of this case took part in the surveillance of Coplon to New York. Mr. Delavigne stated that the two Agents who had the most knowledge of this case would take part in the surveillance.

At 1:15 P.M. I talked with Mr. Ray Whearty of the Department. He stated he was planning on catching the Congressional at 4:00 P.M., putting him in New York at 7:35. He would call the New York Office on his arrival and if necessary he would go to the New York Office at that time. He stated that in New York he can be reached either through the United States Attorney's Office or at Telephone Talmage 9-6639, listed in the name of Marie Dennin, 1969 McGraw Avenue, Bronx. He stated that the instructions in the Attorney General's memorandum to the effect that the New York Office should consult with the United States Attorney could be ignored in that he would handle the matter in New York.

At 1:40 P.M. I advised ASAC Belmont that Mr. Ray Whearty would leave at 4:00 P.M., arriving in New York at 7:35; that he would call the New York Office at that time and would ask for Mr. Belmont. The purpose of the call will be to ascertain whether Mr. Whearty should come to the New York Office. I also furnished him the telephone numbers that Mr. Whearty will use in New York. I advised him that Mr. Whearty was arranging with Mr. Donegan to have two blank subpoenas delivered to him, Belmont, this afternoon, so that they would be available.

Immediately following this call to Mr. Belmont I again reached Mr. Ray Whearty and told him that when he arrived in New York he should ask for Mr. Belmont on his telephone call to the New York Office. If Mr. Belmont was not present he would have it arranged so that Mr. Whearty could be properly advised. Mr. Whearty stated that he had arranged for the two blank subpoenas to be delivered to Mr. Belmont.

This is to record that at the time Mr. Peyton Ford delivered the memorandum of the Attorney General dated March 3, 1949, outlining the instructions to be followed in this matter, Mr. Ford advised us that with reference to the last paragraph it was necessary to include it because of statements appearing in the memorandum received by the Attorney General from the State Department; that if there is anything objectionable in it from the standpoint of the Bureau, it could be straightened out with him. With reference to this last paragraph the following language appears: "If you are of the opinion that the national interest will be better served by continuing observation for a further period to determine whether espionage of a more serious character is involved, do not hesitate to so advise the Department." With reference to this statement it is believed that if the circumstances warrant it, this matter should be concluded by the arrest of the two known subjects at the time any documents are passed. The following statement also appears: "Should you be of the opinion that the case should not be brought to an issue at this time, I should like to have your views as to whether the subject Coplon should be separated from the Department now or continued in her present capacity to permit of such observation." This request for an opinion can be better answered after the developments in this case over the week-end become known. It is believed that if no positive action takes place this week-end, the Department should be advised that the question of whether or not subject Coplon continues in the employment of the Department is one which should be determined by the Department. An appropriate answer will be addressed to Mr. Peyton Ford this coming Monday.

Peyton Ford called me on the afternoon of March 4 in connection with the above entitled matter and suggested that Mr. Nichols get in touch with Dean Schedler of the Department and work out the arrangements for a press release. Mr. Ford stated that in view of the fact that Coplon was an employee of the Justice Department, he wanted to be sure that the release was a joint release and one that would be agreeable to both the Attorney General and the Director.

ASAC Belmont, New York, called at 6:00 P. M. stating that Coplon had arrived at 5:35 P. M. She checked her handbag at the Railroad Station. The contents of this handbag are not pertinent. At 6:05 she went to a restaurant at 49th and 7th Avenue. During Mr. Belmont's call another report came in reflecting she had entered an 8th Ave. and Washington Heights Express Subway train at 42nd and 8th Avenue. This puts her on the going in the direction of the place where she has met in the past with ~~Gubitcheb~~.

Valentine
Gubitcheb, at 4:50 P. M. came out of the United Nation Building with an unknown person. He immediately began checking for surveillance and was lost at 5:05 P. M. when he mixed into the heavy home-going crowds.

At 6:48 P. M. ASAC Belmont called stated that at 6:35 Coplon got off the subway train at 181st Street. Instead of going out the normal exit with the other passengers, she walked down a completely empty long subway station platform. Three Agents who were with her had to get off the platform or surveillance would have been fruitless. The entire neighborhood is covered from 181st to 193rd Street. Mr. Belmont stated that he expects to pick her up at any minute. At 6:54 P. M. you advised me that she had been spotted again and was under surveillance at 187th Street according to a telephone call from Belmont to Mr. Nichols.

At 7:14 P. M. Mr. Belmont called and stated that at 7:00 P. M. he had stood at 193rd Street and Broadway, the usual meeting place. She stayed from 8 to 10 minutes, was not met by anyone and she shifted her position to about a block south. At the time of his call she was again moving toward 193rd Street.

At 7:43 P. M., Mr. Belmont called and stated that at 7:23 P. M. Gubitcheb was spotted coming out of the 193rd Street subway. He stood around on the corner. At 7:25 P. M., he went into a drugstore. At that time, Coplon was in a cigar store across the street. At 7:27 P. M. ~~Gubitcheb~~ left the drugstore and went down to 192nd Street to a bus stop. He let several buses go by and then disappeared down a side street. In the interim, Coplon has walked on down the street and is in the vicinity of 186th Street. Mr. Belmont states that they have 193rd Street meeting place completely covered.

At 9:00 PM, Mr. Belmont called and stated that at 8:10 PM Gubitcheb had caught a bus at 193rd Street going north. Mr. Belmont stated that one agent was still with Coplon. So far as known the last report on her was 8:00 PM, when she went down into the subway at 190th Street.

While I was talking to Mr. Belmont, he received a report from the agent surveilling Coplon who stated that she had gotten off a subway at 42nd Street and 7th Avenue. She stayed there on the street and in about ten minutes Gubitcheb came by. She started to walk toward Ninth Avenue with Valentine Gubitcheb behind her watching for surveillances. He finally passed her and then ran for a bus. She also ran for this bus and the surveilling agent, of course, lost the surveillance at this point.

At 9:20 PM, Mr. Belmont advised that the surveillance was picked up again when they got off the bus at 14th Street. They were doing everything possible to avoid surveillance. Mr. Belmont advised that they were having extreme difficulty holding the surveillance. In view of this development, Mr. Peyton Ford was called and informed of the development, and told that the surveillance could not be held much longer. At that time he talked to you and stated he would get hold of the Attorney General to see whether or not their apprehension was desired.

Mr. Peyton Ford called back and talked to you at 9:33 PM, and stated that he had talked with the Attorney General and that the subjects should be apprehended even though they had separated. These instructions were issued immediately to Mr. Belmont, who reported that although the surveillance had been lost for a few minutes, it had been recovered and the subjects were together.

At 9:40 PM, Mr. Belmont called back and stated that both had been apprehended at 9:36 PM, and were en route to the office. Within a few minutes I advised Mr. Peyton Ford of this development and told him I would advise him of further developments. He stated he was informing the Attorney General and the State Department.

At 10:00 PM, ASAC Belmont called in and stated that they haven't finished interviewing the subject and Gubitcheb yet, but they do not believe Gubitcheb has any documents on him.

However, the subject, Coplon, was carrying in her purse a small, flat package, similar to a box of ladies' stockings and in it is contained a number of typewritten abstracts of numerous Bureau reports. In the body of the abstracts was indicated the name of the subjects, and characters of the subjects, such as, "Security Matter-C". There was a handwritten note which covered the information set out in the memorandum of March 3, 1949, dealing with Amtorg. It is identified as coming from that memorandum, and the last line of the handwritten note says, "Bureau memorandum, 3/3/49".

At 10:26 PM, the foregoing developments were furnished to Mr. Peyton Ford. He said that he thought the case was made. He stated that he had been trying to get in touch with Mr. Whearty without success. I told him Mr. Whearty was en route to the New York office in an automobile. He stated that when Mr. Whearty became available he would like to have Mr. Whearty get in touch with him. I told him that I would try to assist him in getting Mr. Whearty in touch with him.

Re: JUDITH COPLON;
ESPIONAGE-R

Dear Sir:

There are transmitted herewith the originals of documents removed from the purse of subject, JUDITH COPLON, subsequent to her apprehension on the night of March 4, 1949. These documents were found folded up and wrapped with scotch tape in a flat package about the size and resembling a pair of ladies' hose. The documents have been marked for identification. In removing them from the package and identifying them, the documents were necessarily handled to a very limited extent by Special Agents T. Scott Miller, Jr. and Brewer Wilson; therefore, there is a slight possibility that fingerprints of these two Agents may be found on the documents.

It is requested that these documents be examined for fingerprints. However, such examination should not mar the documents as they are vital evidence. They should also be examined to determine the make, typewriter or typewriters used, and the typewriting should be compared with any typewriter which may have been used by COPLON either at the Department of Justice or in her home. It is requested further that the handwriting appearing on these documents be compared with the handwriting of JUDITH COPLON, samples of which undoubtedly can be obtained from the Department of Justice by whom she is employed. In the event it is ascertained that any of these documents were typed or written by anyone other than JUDITH COPLON, immediate steps should be taken to ascertain the authors. Any further examination of the paper utilized, the forms on which typed, etc., which the Laboratory may be able to accomplish, will be appreciated.

Twenty-five copies of the photographs of JUDITH COPLON and VALENTINE GUBITCHEV are likewise being forwarded herewith together with 3 sets of photostatic copies of the original documents mentioned above.

The documents and the photographs are being brought by Special Agents Payne and Mendenhall of the Washington Field Office personally to the Bureau.

At 11:25 a.m. on this date I talked to Special Agent Ken Delavigne and to Special Agent Dudley Payne at the office of the United States Attorney in Washington, D. C., where they were awaiting action on the search warrant for Coplon's apartment. I instructed Mr. Delavigne that he should have an agent familiar with this case available at the Washington Field Office in order to initiate the interviews of various associates of Coplon. Arrangements were made whereby Special Agent Thomas Mendenhall, who is familiar with this case, would report to Special Agent Whitson at the Bureau regarding further instructions relative to the interviews. Mr. Delavigne stated that he had twenty agents standing by who would be available to handle the interviews.

I also informed Mr. Whitson of your desire that he should contact Mr. Ladd concerning whether we should check with the State Department prior to interviewing Mr. Bernard Morris.

Recommendation:

ASAC Belmont, New York, called at 11:50 a.m. today and advised that Mr. Whearty of the Department is returning by plane to Washington this afternoon. Mr. Whearty and Mr. Donegan have appeared before the Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York in connection with this case. It is expected that the Grand Jury will adjourn today and reconvene on Wednesday to further consider this matter. Mr. Belmont stated that some of the Agents in the New York Office probably will be called upon to appear before the Grand Jury this afternoon and again on Wednesday, and thereafter when the Grand Jury convenes.

Mr. Whearty told Mr. Belmont that thus far he has seen only a few memoranda, one relating to the examination of Coplon's office in the Department, and the other concerning contact on the evening of February 28. He stated that if at all possible, he would like to have copies of the reports reflecting all of the developments in this matter, or even a summary memorandum, so that he will be in a position to handle the case when he returns to New York on Wednesday. In his absence, Mr. Donegan is going ahead with this case. Mr. Belmont advised that the New York Office is presently working on their report and suggested that the Washington Field Office be requested to expedite a report reflecting its investigation of this matter.

Mr. Whearty has also stated that he is anxious to have the results of the FBI Laboratory documents and would also like to be apprised of the results of the search of Coplon's apartment in Washington. He further suggested that the Agents of the Washington Field Office be informed that their testimony undoubtedly will be needed, and suggested that they be ready to appear before the Grand Jury in New York on Wednesday or Thursday.

Mr. Whearty further advised Mr. Belmont that Mr. Kneipe of the Department, who reportedly is an indictment specialist, is now working on an indictment in this matter.

Mr. Belmont stated that after the New York Office prepares its report, it will furnish copies to Mr. Donegan for his assistance in handling this case.

Immediately after talking with Mr. Belmont, I called the Washington Field Office, and in the absence of Supervisor Delavigne, instructed Special Agent Thomas Mendenhall to start immediately the preparation of the WFO report in this case and also to advise the Agents who have handled this investigation to be prepared for appearance before the Grand Jury in New York in the event their presence is requested. I told Mr. Mendenhall that a request for Bureau reports had been received from the Department, and, therefore, it was necessary that their submission be expedited and that the Bureau have the report, if at all possible, either late this evening or first thing in the morning.

I also have called Mr. Sizoo of the Laboratory and advised him of the Department's request and asked that the Laboratory expedite any examinations it is making in this matter, as well as its reports.

Addendum:

At 12:45 p.m., Mr. Delavigne of the Washington Field Office called and stated that in connection with the request for a comprehensive report on this case, it would be impossible to meet the Bureau's deadline of late this afternoon or early tomorrow morning, because at the present time the WFO has 20 to 25 Agents running out all logical leads, such as checking bank accounts, neighborhoods where she formerly resided, contacts, etc., investigation which should have been conducted previously but which could not be done for security reasons. I requested Mr. Delavigne to submit as complete a report as possible to show the espionage activities of Coplon, including as much other information as was presently available, in order that this information might be available for the benefit of Messrs. Whearty and Donegan.

Pursuant to your request, at 9:35 a.m. on this date Mr. Ken Delavigne of the Washington Field Office was instructed by Special Agent R. J. Lamphere to have an immediate inventory made of the data sheets (abstracts) in the Foreign Agents Registration Section. Prior to such an inventory, Mr. Delavigne was told to interview Mr. William Foley, the head of the Foreign Agents Registration Section, for details on how the data sheets are prepared and filed. Mr. Delavigne was instructed that this inventory is to be made for the following purposes:

1. To locate and obtain the originals of the carbons which Coplon had in her possession when arrested.
2. To locate and obtain the carbon copies of the originals which she had in her possession.
3. To determine which major espionage cases are included in the data sheets for the purpose of determining, in so far as is possible, what material has been given by Coplon to the Soviets.

Mr. Delavigne was also instructed to ask Mr. Foley if there are any immediate plans to integrate these data sheets into the main files of the Department of Justice.

RECOMMENDATION: This is for your information.

At 11:05 a.m. today Mrs. Evelyn J. Winter, a Departmental employee, telephonically advised Special Agent R. J. Lamphere that she had received a telephone call from an acquaintance of hers, Mrs. Grace Evans, who resides in apartment 305 at 1460 Irving Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Mrs. Winter stated this woman is crippled and wanted to know if arrangements could be made for an Agent to come and see her. She indicated she had information concerning one or more persons who might be associated with Judith Coplon.

She furnished the name of one of them as Emilie ~~Dieterle~~ ^{to be} of 2276 Cathedral Avenue, concerning whom she was suspicious inasmuch as when her fingerprints were taken under the Loyalty Program this individual failed to go to work. She also reportedly said that Dieterle had been to Germany in what she thought was the Russian occupied zone.

Mrs. Winter described her as "agitated and worried" about the matter. Actually, it is doubted if she will have any information concerning Judith Coplon or her associates; however, Special Agent Lamphere telephonically advised Special Agent Dudley Payne of the Washington Field Office to have an Agent contact Mrs. Evans for any information she may have.

RECOMMENDATION: This is for your information.

Reference is made to the report of Special Agent T. Scott Miller dated January 28, 1949, at New York City, in which numerous contacts of Coplon were listed as reflected by her address book. The Bureau's files contain information regarding a number of these persons as listed below:

Hannah Annes, Do. 9827

The name of a Mrs. Annes of Massachusetts is included on a list of members of the Morning Freiheit Association, Inc., for 1946 and 1947, which list was made available by Confidential Informant ND-426 on February 11, 1948.

(100-46808-166, enc. p.11)

The March, 1948, Washington, D. C. Telephone Directory does not list the telephone number Di. 5513 to anyone with the surname of Barnes. An inquiry of the Information Service of the Telephone Company revealed that no telephone number was listed to the address of 501 23d Street, N. W.

However, it is known through Confidential Informant [] that on February 3, 1949, Judith Coplon indicated she had been in touch with Perry Mae on the previous evening and was to go to her house on the following day. This individual is probably Perry Mae Barnes. (Coplon logs)

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION
U. S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

54 MAR 15 1949

The Bureau was advised by this letter that the Federal Communication Commission's investigative attorney working out of Chicago would be available in the event the Bureau desired his assistance. His name was given as A. Harry Becker, 110 South Dearborne Street, Chicago, Illinois. (100-115866-4)

On November 21, 1942, a Mr. A. Harry Becker, who was the regional attorney investigator of the Federal Communication Commission operating out of Chicago, Illinois, appeared at the Cleveland Office and requested information from the Bureau's files concerning numerous individuals. He was referred to the Seat of Government. (100-145890-3)

A highly confidential and reliable source advised on April 10, 1947, that Mary Jane Keeney called the Federal Communications Commission for Harriet Simons, who was not in her office but was in Harry Becker's office where Mary Jane reached her. (65-56402-1-1454)

Information obtained from ledger cards of the National Headquarters of the National Lawyers Guild by a highly confidential source disclosed that one A. Harry Becker, 1808 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., resigned from that organization on April 25, 1939. (100-7321-6 p.410)

There are also references in the Bureau's files concerning one Harry Becker, president of the Group Health Association of Washington, D. C. It is not believed that this individual is identical with the person named in Judith Coplon's address book.

In that connection, an investigation by the Milwaukee Office set forth that Milwaukee Confidential Informant [] advised on August 18, 1942, that Mary Leigh Phillips had been selling copies of the "Soviet Power" and at the same time had been working for the Russian War Relief. Josephine E. Nordstrand advised Miss Phillips to contact one Fred Brots in connection with German youths and Sylvia Becker and Morris Lazarus as Jewish contacts. (100-145150-19; 100-21601-103 p.35)

Mrs. Martin Raff, nee Gore, 559 Orange Street, New Haven, Connecticut, was interviewed concerning Marcelle D. Elinson, who was being investigated.

under the Loyalty Program as an employee of the State Department. Mrs. Raff stated that before she came to New Haven with her husband she was employed in the Financial Policy Division of the State Department, having her office at 1818 H Street, N. Mrs. Raff stated she had been a member of the State Department Branch, Local No. 3, of the United Public Workers of America, CIO, and had been active while a member in a caucus which was attempting to oust that part of the Union leadership which was considered to be following the Communist Party line. Mrs. Raff's information regarding her membership in the right-wing group of this Union is verified by newspaper articles in March, 1947, regarding the right-wing slate of Local No. 3 of the United Public Workers of America. This publicity lists Marion Gore as being in the right-wing element. (121-1429-13; 100-344835-205).

SUBJECT: JUDITH COPLON
ESPIONAGE - R

~~STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL~~

Confidential Informants [redacted] of this office have advised that the subject, SARAH BECKER, presently employed by the American National Red Cross, Washington, D. C., and [redacted] employed in the International Functional Intelligence Division, Department of State, have been in contact with each other concerning an application which all three wish to file with the Civil Service Commission for positions with the Central Intelligence Agency.

b7D

[redacted] the subject discussed the advisability of disclosing confidential information on an application form, and stated that she didn't want anyone in her office to see this application. She then stated that the only person that she would really want to go to would be "R. P. W.". It is noted that the informant may have misunderstood the middle initial and it is possible that COPLON was referring to ROBERT MARTIN WOHLFORTH. However, the possibility also exists that she was referring to a different individual.

According to this informant, on March 2, 1949, COPLON was contacted by a female (BECKER ?) who inquired about filling out an application blank and who was wondering how to reply to several questions as to past work experiences. COPLON advised this individual that she was going to New York over the weekend and would call her upon her return.

Later in the day, informant advised that [redacted] of the State Department advised COPLON, "I have given that thing to a guy to look over and he was glad to look it over". He further stated that he was waiting to get it back and that he would bring it over Friday, to which COPLON replied that she was leaving at 1:00 P. M. Friday for New York and returning early Sunday. [redacted] then said that if this "guy" drafted it he could type it in. COPLON then informed him that it had to be in the 15th.

Today, informant advised that COPLON indicated that she wished to leave Washington at 1:00 P. M. because she desired to get to New York early as she wanted "to pick up something downtown", explaining that downtown meant around 42nd Street.

It therefore appears likely that the subject intends seeing WOHLFORTH in connection with these applications while in New York over this weekend.

ESPIONAGE - R

~~STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL~~

Rebulet February 2, 1949, requesting the Washington Field Office to interview Miss THOMAS, secretary to Mr. PEYTON FORD and Mr. RONALD MacDONALD, Solicitor Generals Office.

Miss THOMAS, upon interview, could furnish no information concerning COPLON additional to that set out in referenced Bureau letter. She stated that inasmuch as she had left the Foreign Agents Registration Section in March, 1946, she had not had an opportunity to learn much about the subject. She stated that a Mrs. IRENE LONGLEY had replaced her in this section and she thought that the latter could furnish more information concerning COPLON. It is therefore requested that the Bureau authorize the Washington Field Office to interview Mrs. LONGLEY.

Mr. RONALD MacDONALD advised that he had been in the Polish Section of the Foreign Agents Registration Section from May, 1942 until January, 1946. He stated that although he had been acquainted with COPLON, he could furnish no information concerning her activities other than that she was, during 1945, taking courses in photography and Russian at American University. He further advised that he was aware of the fact that she had taken a pleasure trip to Europe in 1948, having flown to Paris and from there traveled to Italy, apparently on some sort of a tour. He stated that he had never heard any rumors of disloyalty or questionable activities on the part of the subject and stated that he was not in a position to have known much about the subject, having never supervised her work.

JUDITH COPLON, ESPIONAGE R. DURING THE QUESTIONING OF SUBJECTS GUBITCHEV AND COPLON, ATTEMPTS WERE MADE TO SECURE WRITTEN CONSENTS TO SEARCH COPLON-S APARTMENT IN WASHINGTON AND HOME OF HER PARENTS IN BROOKLYN AND GUBITCHEV-S RESIDENCE IN NYC. THEY REFUSED TO GIVE SUCH CONSENT. MR. WHEARTY IS OF OPINION THAT INSUFFICIENT BASIS EXISTS TO SECURE SEARCH WARRANTS FOR RESIDENCE OF CAPLON-S PARENTS OR FOR GUBITCHEV-S RESIDENCE BUT THAT SUFFICIENT BASIS EXISTS TO SECURE SEARCH WARRANT FOR COPLON-S APARTMENT IN WASHINGTON. INASMUCH AS SUBJECTS WOULD NOT FURNISH ANY INFORMATION WITH EXCEPTION OF PARTIAL INFORMATION ON THEIR BACKGROUNDS, AGENTS CEASED INTERVIEWING COPLON AT TWO TWENTYFIVE A.M. AND GUBITCHEV AT TWO THIRTYFIVE A. M. ON SUGGESTION OF MR. WHEARTY IN VIEW OF DIFFICULTY BEING EXPERIENCED IN ARRANGING IMMEDIATE ARRAIGNMENTS APPARENTLY DESIRED BY STATE DEPARTMENT. THIS WAS AGREEABLE TO THIS OFFICE AS SUBJECTS WERE NOT FURNISHING INFORMATION OF VALUE. ALL ARRANGEMENTS FOR ARRAIGNMENT WERE MADE BETWEEN MR. WHEARTY AND PEYTON FORD OF DEPARTMENT, INCLUDING CONTACT BY FORD WITH JUDGE SIMON RIFKIND REQUESTING HIM TO COME TO U. S. COURT HOUSE TO HANDLE ARRAIGNMENT. AT FOUR FORTYFIVE A. M. BOTH SUBJECTS WERE BROUGHT BEFORE JUDGE RIFKIND

IN HIS CHAMBERS. WHILE SUBJECTS WERE PROCEEDING TO JUDGE RIFKIND'S
3 CHAMBERS MR. WHEARTY SERVED EACH OF THEM WITH A GRAND JURY SUBPOENA
CALLING FOR THEIR APPEARANCE BEFORE THE SPECIAL GRAND JURY NOW SITTING IN NYC, TO APPEAR MONDAY, MARCH SEVENTH. LATER DEVELOPMENTS INDICATE, HOWEVER, THAT WHEARTY DOES NOT CONSIDER SERVICE OF THESE SUBPOENAS
BY HIMSELF AS VALID AND HE HAS NOW INDICATED THAT THIS CASE MAY BE PRESENTED TO THE SPECIAL GRAND JURY STARTING MONDAY, MARCH SEVENTH, AT WHICH TIME AGENTS PARTICIPATING IN THE INVESTIGATION WILL BE CALLED AS WITNESSES. AT THE HEARING STARTING AT FOUR FORTYFIVE
A. M. BEFORE JUDGE RIFKIND BOTH SUBJECTS WERE PUT ON NOTICE OF THEIR RIGHTS BY JUDGE RIFKIND AND WERE ASKED WHETHER THEY WERE REPRESENTED
BY ATTORNEYS. AS NEITHER HAD AN ATTORNEY THE HEARING WAS ADJOURNED TO ENABLE THEM TO CALL ATTORNEYS AND THEY WERE LEFT IN CUSTODY OF THE FBI. SUBJECTS WERE THEN ALLOWED TO MAKE TELEPHONE CALLS TO ATTORNEYS.
AT SIX FORTY A. M. SUBJECTS WERE AGAIN BROUGHT BEFORE JUDGE RIFKIND.
COPLON WAS REPRESENTED BY LESTER LEVIN, ATTORNEY. GUBITCHEV STILL HAD NO ATTORNEY. JUDGE RIFKIND SET TEN THOUSND DOLLAR BAIL FOR COPLON FOR APPEARANCE AT AN ADDITIONAL HEARING AT ELEVEN A. M. TO ENABLE HER TO OBTAIN A MORE EXPERIENCED COUNSEL. NO BAIL WAS SET FOR GUBITCHEV AND HE WAS ALLOWED UNTIL ELEVEN A. M. TO SECURE CONSEL.

N., AND HIS ASSISTANT, GEORGE CHUCHKOV, APPEARED AT NYO AND REQUESTED TO SPEAK TO GUBITCHEV. THEY WERE HANDLED BY MR. WHEARTY, WHO DECLINED TO LET THEM SEE GUBITCHEV UNLESS IT WAS TO ARRANGE FOR ATTORNEY. THERE WAS SOME DIFFICULTY REACHING AN UNDERSTANDING BECAUSE THESE INDIVIDUALS CLAIMED THEY DID NOT SPEAK ENGLISH. MR. THOMAS F. POWER, JR., DEPUTY SECRETARY GENERAL, U. S. MISSION TO UNITED NATIONS, LIKEWISE CAME TO NY OFFICE MORNING OF MARCH FIFTH AND CONSULTED WITH WHEARTY AND SCHACHTER BUT DID NOT INTERVIEW GUBITCHEV. AT ELEVEN A. M. SUBJECTS WERE TAKEN TO ROOM THREE ONE EIGHT DISTRICT COURT OF JUDGE RIFKIND UPON ASCERTAINING THAT ATTORNEYS FOR SUBJECTS WERE NOT PRESENT, JUDGE RIFKIND RECESSED UNTIL ELEVEN THIRTYFIVE, AT WHICH TIME BERTRAM J. THE GOVERNMENT REQUESTED FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS BAIL FOR COPLON AND ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS BAIL FOR GUBITCHEV WITH WHEARTY STRESSING THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE CHARGES AND THE POSSIBILITY OF FLIGHT ON THE PART OF GUBITCHEV. JUDGE RIFKIND SET BAIL AT TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR COPLON AND ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR GUBITCHEV, STIPULATING THAT WHEN GUBITCHEV OBTAINED COUNSEL HE COULD APPLY FOR REDUCTION IN BAIL IF ARGUMENTS WARRANTED. COPLON WAIVED EXAMINATION AND WAS REMANDED TO CUSTODY OF MARSHAL WITH INDICATIONS THAT POSSIBLY SHE MAY MAKE BOND MARCH SEVENTH. IN ABSENCE OF COUNSEL FOR GUBITCHEV, JUDGE HELD THAT GUBITCHEV DID NOT WAIVE EXAMINATION AND SET HEARING FOR MARCH SIXTEENTH. APPARENTLY ON POSSIBILITY THAT GUBITCHEV WOULD NOT OBTAIN COUNSEL, RIFKIND ALLOWED HIM THE PRIVILEGE OF WRITING UNCENSORED MAIL TO THE COURT. RIFKIND ADVISED GUBITCHEV THAT IF HE OBTAINED COUNSEL AND SO DESIRED HE COULD WAIVE EXAMINATION IN ADVANCE OF MARCH SIXTEENTH. MR. WHEARTY ADVISED HE HAD TOLD COPLON-S ATTORNEY THAT SHE WAS DEEPLY INVOLVED AND HER ATTORNEY SUGGESTED THAT HE TALK TO COPLON FOR A DAY OR TWO, INDICATING POSSIBILITY THAT COPLON MAY TALK. MR. WHEARTY WAS ADVISED THAT IF COPLON EXPRESSES DESIRE TO GIVE INFORMATION CONCERNING HER ACTIVITIES, WE EXPECT THAT AGENTS OF THIS OFFICE WILL INTERVIEW HER FOR THIS PURPOSE. [REDACTED]

Time of call 1:20 A.M.

The Attorney General called for the Director and the call was referred to me. He said that he wanted to speak to the Director concerning this case and asked that I get in touch with the Director for him. I explained that the Director was out of town, but that we would try to contact him.

I immediately notified Mr. Ladd and at his instruction I called Mr. Nichols and informed him of the above. At 1:50 a.m. Mr. Nichols informed me that they had not been able to reach the Director—that he was in transit and that I should so advise the Attorney General. I thereupon called the Attorney General and informed him that we had not been able to reach the Director. He said that he wanted to speak to the Director and get his views concerning the arraignment of the subjects tonight. He added however that he did not wish to hold up the proceedings until he spoke to the Director concerning this, instead he wanted matters to proceed. He also indicated that he would like to speak to the Director if he could be reached. I immediately informed Mr. Nichols of the above.

Mr. Whitson took a call from Mr. Delavigne, WFO, advising agents of WFO conducting search of subjects apartment advised located personal diary which contained following notations of possible interest:

- "1. ~~Petukin~~
2. ~~Barnard~~ "

No other items of interest in diary. Delavigne wanted to know if Bureau desired WFO to secure additional search warrant to pick up diary.

Check of Bureau files on name "Petukin" reflected one reference 65-1673-125 which upon being checked indicated was phonetic spelling of name in conversation between Charles Recht and head of Artkino Pictures in NYC on 12-11-45. The phonetic spelling was apparently in error inasmuch as the name was written in ink as ~~X~~potemkin" indicating a correction by the supervisor. No other refs were available under this spelling or under the spelling "Petukhin".

I discussed this matter with Mr. Ladd at 6:42 PM at which time Mr. Ladd concluded would be not necessary to secure additional search warrant. Mr. Ladd also advised would be o.k. for WFO to remove their surveillance on the subject's apartment.

I called Mr. Delavigne so advising him of the Bureau's instructions.

On the afternoon of February 28, 1949, at 3:30 P.M., Mr. William Foley of the Department advised me that he had ascertained that Coplon was securing Bureau reports on individuals from Ruth Rossen who normally handles such matters. She excused her request by indicating that they referred to the Foreign Agents Registration material. At 3:00 P.M., March 4, 1949, Mr. Foley advised me that he had ascertained that Coplon had secured most recently a number of reports from Rossen. I determined through Mr. Clyde Palmer that Ruth Rossen is employed in the Criminal Division. Her address in the Department files is listed as 4513 Butterworth Place, N. W., telephone No. Ordway 0209.

ACTION:

She should be interviewed immediately. Mr. Peyton Ford has cleared the interview with this Department employee.

HBF:mac

ADDENDUM:

At 2:25 P. M. on March 5, 1949, Special Agent R. J. Lamphere called Special Agent Mendenhall of the Washington Field Office and instructed him to immediately thoroughly interview Ruth Rossen whose address is given above in order to determine if she has made available to Coplon Bureau reports of a confidential nature and to determine the details of any other requests made of her by Coplon. Agent Lamphere instructed that any other recommendations of the Washington Field Office for interviews with associates of Coplon should be telephonically requested.

These interviews were to be conducted in the Washington Field Office if possible otherwise they should be interviewed where they could be located.

At 2:45 P.M. Mr. Mendenhall of the Washington Field Office requested authorization to interview Lenvin of the Department who had shared office space with Coplon. Pursuant to your approval, Washington Field was instructed to conduct an interview with Lenvin.

Washington Field has been requested to review the facts in this case carefully and make any further recommendations as to interviews which they deem desirable in this case.

At 12:05 P.M. ASAC Belmont of New York phoned and stated that he had just come from the hearing in Judge Simon Rifkind's court. Coplon was represented by counsel, name not yet determined, but it was not the individual who originally appeared in her behalf earlier this morning.

Gubitchev was not represented by counsel and told the court he had been in touch with his delegation and had expected counsel to be present.

The Government asked that Coplon's bail be set at $50,000. Her attorney asked $5,000. The Judge set it at $20,000. Coplon waived examination.

The Government asked bail for Gubitchev in the amount of $100,000. The Judge set bail at that figure granting Gubitchev the right to ask for a reduction after he had obtained counsel. Gubitchev was asked whether he waived examination. He advised the Judge that he did not know the law whereupon the Judge set a hearing on Gubitchev for March 16 with the proviso that if he secured counsel and counsel wishes to waive examination prior to that date he could do so.

At the suggestion of Mr. Whearty of the Department, the Judge ordered that Gubitchev could write to the court direct from prison without censorship regarding the possibility of the court appointing counsel for him but that otherwise his mail would be handled the same as any other prisoner's mail.

Both subjects were remanded to the custody of the Marshal.

Mr. Belmont stated that from conversation overheard in the courtroom on the part of Coplon's brother, Coplon's bail may be met by Monday.

Mr. Belmont was instructed to confirm by teletype today all items of pertinence developed in this case which he had relayed to the Bureau telephonically or which he felt were significant that he had not furnished to the Bureau telephonically since his 2:50 A.M. teletype.

Mr. Belmont was also instructed to consider immediate interview of Robert Wohlforth in New York City as well as [redacted], also a contact of Coplon in New York City. Belmont stated that the twenty-seven men in the New York Office who knew anything about the case were almost exhausted but that if these interviews were immediately necessary they would, of course, be handled.

At 12:15 P.M. Field Supervisor Delavigne of the Washington Field Office phoned from the office of USA Fay and advised that Fay was drawing up affidavits in order to obtain a warrant of search of Coplon's apartment. These affidavits would be one from Delavigne that we had surveilled Coplon in Washington, D. C.; one from Dudley Payne regarding a physical surveillance to New York on March 4; one from an arresting Agent to be given orally by phone from New York City; one from a searching Agent who found the abstracts also to be given orally by phone from New York City.

Delavigne stated that they had located a maid at McLean Gardens who will testify that in cleaning Coplon's room last week she saw a typewriter.

Delavigne requested that New York be notified of the oral affidavits and that he be furnished the names of the Agents who would so testify.

After reporting the foregoing to you, Supervisor Whitson determined from New York that the Agent for the arrest affidavit would be Robert R. Granville and the Agent for the search would be T. Scott Miller, Jr. As you instructed, it was stressed that there be no details concerning the nature of the abstracts. Mr. Delavigne was advised of the names of the New York Agents and was instructed to read to you the affidavits which were contemplated.

Pursuant to your instructions after he had read the affidavits to you, Mr. Delavigne was instructed at 1:15 P.M. to have United States Attorney Morris Fay call Peyton Ford for instructions and Delavigne was again reminded that the affidavit concerning the abstracts contain no details other than a statement that they were abstracts of official government records pertaining to national security in the possession of the Department of Justice.

At 12:50 A.M. while talking to Mr. Belmont in New York he said that they would send the documents found in possession of the subject to the Bureau via a Special Agent. He requested that an examination should be made to locate any latent fingerprints on the documents but the documents should not be disfigured in any way while conducting the examination. He said that they had only been handled by one Agent whose identity would be made known. He also requested that an examination be made to determine the identity of the typewriter used in typing the material. To this end a comparison should be made with known specimens taken from machines available to Coplon in the Department of Justice as well as her personally owned machine. I told Mr. Belmont that he should clear with Mr. Whearty before they sent the original documents to the Bureau.

In addition to the foregoing he requested that the documents that had been prepared in longhand should be compared with known specimens of her handwriting which could be secured from the Department of Justice or her home. In addition he requested that an attempt be made to identify the writer of any writings which did not appear to be that of Coplon. Mr. Belmont said that he would advise me when the Agent would depart from New York with the material and his estimated arrival time.

After talking to Mr. Belmont I called Mr. Harbo and explained the matter to him and indicated that it was desired that the above examinations be conducted and completed at the earliest time possible after their arrival here. I also talked to Mr. Sizoo who said that Supervisor Fred Webb would conduct the examinations and that he should be called in the morning, after information is received concerning the time the documents will arrive, and advised concerning the arrival time. Mr. Sizoo also requested that Mr. Blackburn inform him of the extent of the job after he has an opportunity to examine the material.

I also talked to you concerning this. You said that the Washington Field Office would arrange to get the specimens from the Department of Justice early in the morning and would make them available as soon as possible.

You requested that Mr. Webb determine, if possible, the type of machine used in typing the documents in question so the Washington Field Office would limit their search for specimens.

I learned from Mr. Belmont that Agents Payne and Mendenhall would leave New York on a plane at 7:10 A.M. and would arrive in Washington at 8:25 A.M. with the documents found in possession of Coplon.

At 5:30 p.m. today, Supervisor Delavigne called and stated that the search of Coplon's apartment was completed, that they have located the Corona typewriter which was clearly covered in the warrant, but that they had also located some typewriter paper unwatermarked, of very cheap quality. unwatermarked

Inasmuch as Mr. Webb in the Bureau Laboratory had stated that some of the material had been typed on very cheap unwatermarked paper, Mr. Delavigne was instructed to go back to the United States Attorney and determine from him whether the warrant would cover the seizure of this paper. Delavigne

Mr. Delavigne was told to be guided by the opinion of the United States Attorney in this regard.

After consulting with Mr. Ladd, I called Mr. Amshey and advised him the Bureau would have no objection to him being present during the interview. I told him that he would be advised tomorrow of the time and place of the interview.

I advised Mr. Delavigne of WFO of the Bureau's desires in this connection and he stated he would make arrangements to have Mr. Amshey present during the interview.

At 3:40 p.m. today Special Agent Tom Mendenhall of the Washington Field Office telephonically requested permission to interview Anne Ernest Comanduras. Mendenhall explained that Comanduras was an employee of the State Department and the secretary of [redacted]. He stated that during the investigation, information was developed that when Judith Coplon desired to convey information to [redacted] she frequently dictated over the telephone to Comanduras. On one occasion, according to Mendenhall, [redacted] requested Coplon for information regarding the National Council of Soviet Friendship. In reply Coplon dictated to Comanduras information of a public source nature regarding the Council for Soviet Friendship and also dictated certain information which appeared to come from a Bureau report. Coplon in giving this information indicated its source was confidential.

Mendenhall further requested permission to interview Esther Pauline Annis, an employee of the State Department. According to Mendenhall, the Bureau's investigation disclosed that Coplon frequently exchanged information with Annis.

Mr. D. M. Ladd was furnished with the above facts and he authorized the Washington Field Office to conduct the above two requested interviews. Mr. Ladd advised that when the Washington Field Office was informed of the Bureau authority to conduct these interviews they should be instructed, in connection with the interview of Comanduras to bear in mind the possibility that in conducting this interview [redacted] might possibly be "flushed." Mr. Ladd stated that the interview with [redacted] was more important than the interview with his secretary and this fact should be borne in mind. Mr. Ladd also advised that Mr. Whitson should telephonically contact Jack Neal at the State Department and advise him that we are going to conduct interviews with Comanduras and Annis.

At 3:50 p.m. Mendenhall was advised of the above Bureau authority to conduct the interviews with Comanduras and Annis and was informed of Mr. Ladd's instructions with regard to Morris. Mendenhall stated that he believed it was desirable to hold off the interview with Comanduras until Bernard Morris was first located and interviewed.

With reference to the issuance of the search warrant for Coplon's apartment at McLean Gardens at 6:20 a.m., Mr. Nichols called me. He said that he had talked to Mr. Ford concerning it and Mr. Ford said that he had called United States Attorney Morris Fay and had informed him about the case. He instructed Mr. Fay to assist in and arrange for the issuance of the warrant. Mr. Ford said that the Agents could contact Mr. Fay at his home at 8:00 a.m., telephone Oliver 4444. AWH

Mr. Ford instructed that the affidavit in support of the search warrant should be based on "information and belief" of the Agents that she (Coplon) was found in possession of a small flat package found to contain approximately thirty-four abstracts or reports on security matter and espionage cases and that it was believed that she owned, operated and was believed to be in possession of a typewriter used to produce the same. In so far as the prayer in the warrant was concerned, Mr. Ford instructed that it be sufficiently broad to enable the Agents to recover any reports or similar matters if any are found in her apartment. I called Mr. Delavigne of the Washington Field Office immediately after talking to Mr. Nichols and informed him that he could have the Agents contact Mr. Fay as directed.

At 7:40 a.m. I spoke to Mr. Delavigne after informing you of the above and told him that the affidavit in support of the warrant should be prepared as above. I also asked him to advise the Bureau immediately after receiving the warrant.

At 9:25 a.m. Mr. Delavigne called me and said that he was in the United States Commissioner's office at that time and that the United States Commissioner was on his way to his office. Mr. Delavigne advised that United States Attorney Fay had requested Assistant USA John Murray to assist in preparing the affidavit and the search warrant. Mr. Murray requested that the matter be held in abeyance until he arrived at the Commissioner's office at approximately 10 a.m. In addition, Mr. Delavigne informed me that there were a large number of newspapermen milling about the place, however, no one had been allowed to gain entrance to it. I informed him that under no circumstances should anyone be allowed to enter the place. RECORDED - 111 65-58365-132

I immediately informed Mr. Nichols of the foregoing and Mr. Nichols turn said that he would advise you while you were in his office. Pursuant to Mr. Nichols' instructions I recontacted Mr. Delavigne at 9:40 a.m. and informed him that he should advise the Agents at the residence of Coplon that they should make no comment whatsoever concerning the case. 11 MAR 11 1949

At 3:30 p.m. Mr. Joe Sizoo telephonically gave the following report regarding the Laboratory's examination of the typewriter specimens in this case.

Mr. Sizoo stated that the examination of the specimens reflected that probably three different typewriters were used as follows.

A Corona portable. (He indicated that this was believed to be the typewriter maintained by the subject in her apartment.)

A Royal typewriter. (He indicated that the Laboratory believed they had located this one.)

An Underwood or Remington typewriter. (He indicated that the most likely suspect typewriter had been eliminated.)

Mr. Sizoo informed that when the examination eliminated the Underwood typewriter referred to above he contacted the Washington Field Office and spoke to Special Agent Courtney Jones and instructed him to make further efforts to locate the typewriter, an Underwood or Remington, which was used by Coplon to prepare certain of the typewriter specimens.

Sizoo also requested to be advised concerning whether or not the search warrant covering the residence of Coplon had been issued. After checking with Mr. Ladd, I informed him that the search warrant had been issued and was presently being executed and that we should have within the Bureau within a half hour the typewriter which was maintained by Coplon at her residence.

Sizoo requested to know if we had obtained the Department's personnel file of Judith Coplon so that it could be examined for handwriting specimens. The photostatic copy of the personnel file which was previously obtained during the investigation was delivered to Mr. Sizoo. Mr. Ladd requested that Section Chief Whitson telephonically contact Mr. Clive Palmer of the Department and request him to deliver to us Coplon's personnel file so that it could be examined for handwriting specimens.

During call from SA J. R. Adams, NY office, at 8:40 PM, he mentioned for Bureau's information that BERTRAM COPLON, as reflected by a technical, was calling various individuals endeavoring to raise bail for the subject. He indicated that he hoped to raise the bail by 1:00 PM, Monday, 3-7-49.

SA Adams during a call later in evening at 9:25 PM, advised that more recent infor from the technical indicated that BERTRAM COPLON wasn't. having too much success in raising the bail. He was endeavoring to raise $5,000 from one "Mel", 15 Park Row, NYC, and indicated he would still have to obtain the remaining $15,000. COPLON stated he had not contacted any bondsmen as he didn't believe they would be interested and besides he thought it would cost about $700 for the bond in such a case which they apparently don't want to pay.

In accordance with the suggestion of Mr. Ladd I checked with the guard on duty at the ninth street entrance relative to what disposition was made of the roster reflecting people that entered the Department of Justice Building. I was informed that they would be on file in the guards office on the first floor of this building. Thereafter at 11:25 a.m. on March 6, 1949, I spoke to SA Ken Delavigne of the Washington Field Office and informed him that Mr. Ladd desired that the guard's rosters covering the ninth and tenth street entrances be checked for people entering the building yesterday in order to determine if any of Coplon's associates came in in order to clean material out of their desks and file cabinets. Mr. Delavigne said that this would be done the first of the week. Whiffle

At 12:25 p.m. Mr. Clive Palmer telephonically contacted me and stated that inasmuch as neither Mr. Ladd nor you were in the building, he wondered if I would care to come over to his office and read the memorandum which he had prepared yesterday in connection with the Coplon case. I informed Mr. Palmer that I would like to first ascertain if you were coming in and that if you were I would advise him. After contacting you, I called Mr. Palmer on the phone and thereafter I went to his office. Mr. William Foley was also present. I read over the memorandum which he had dictated the previous day. Thereafter he asked if it appeared to be accurate in so far as the dates and other material were concerned. I informed him that the dates appearing in the memorandum did appear to be accurate and that the other material was in accordance with the discussions which had been held on the previous day, at which time certain dates of conversations between Departmental officials and officials of the Bureau had been arrived at.

Mr. Foley who was present advised that he had with him the copies of the memorandum on the Amtorg Trading Corporation dated March 3, 1949. He stated that after Coplon had left for New York on March 4, 1949, he had gone to her office at approximately 2:30 p.m. and picked up the memorandum. He indicated that he was going to keep that memorandum and the previous memorandum on the Amtorg Trading Corporation and turn them over to you on Monday.

At 2:23 P.M. today, Mr. D. M. Ladd advised that he had previously indicated to Mr. Whitson that one Lou ~~Nimzer~~ was suspected of having furnished information regarding the Foreign Agents Registration Section in the Department to the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Mr. Ladd stated he had just heard from the Department which was now of the opinion that Stephen W. Mamchur was probably the person who furnished information concerning the Foreign Agents Registration Section to the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Mr. Ladd instructed that the Bureau references be searched for any information which Mamchur may have furnished with respect to his suspicions relating to the activities of the Foreign Agents Registration Section in the Department. Mr. Ladd instructed that a summary memorandum be prepared on all references pertaining to Mamchur.

It was indicated that Mamchur was a former employee of the Foreign Agents Registration Section and is presently connected with Wayne University.

Judith COPLON - Justice Department Employee

March 7, 1949

Mr. Horace J. Nickels, the Rumanian Desk officer in SE, called me today to pass on some information concerning his contacts with Miss Judith Coplon, a Department of Justice employee currently charged with passing classified information to another Government.

Mr. Nickels stated that a few months ago [redacted] who was Miss Coplon's superior in the Department of Justice and who is presently an employee of the Department of State (IFI), called him over the telephone and stated that Miss Coplon, who had previously been handling Yugoslav matters, would henceforth be handling Rumanian matters in the Foreign Agents Registration Section. [redacted] stated that Miss Coplon was very cooperative and capable.

Mr. Nickels stated that he subsequently had dealings with Miss Coplon from time to time and that she seemed quite interested in Rumanian developments, even to the extent of calling Mr. Nickels at his home on one occasion when he was ill. According to Mr. Nickels, Miss Coplon was particularly interested in questions concerning the source of funds of the various Rumanian emigre groups in the United States. As a matter of fact, Miss Coplon had recently requested some material on this subject which Mr. Nickels had been on the point of transmitting to her through official channels. Mr. Nickels stated that he is now holding that material.

Mr. Nickels stated that he was submitting this information for whatever value it had and that his Division had no objection to its being passed on to the FBI.

Pursuant to your instructions, Mr. Whitson phoned Field Supervisor Delavigne at the Washington Field Office and inquired if the Field Office records indicated that Lou Russell, investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities, had ever furnished to the Bureau or to the Washington Field Office a letter or affidavit by Stephen ~~Mamchur~~ concerning pro-Russian activities in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department.

At 1:40 P.M., Delavigne phoned and advised that Russell had called Special Agent Nixon on a highly confidential basis on a related matter and had advised that he, Russell, had never given to the Bureau or the Washington Field Office a copy of Mamchur's testimony.

Russell stated to Nixon that he was furnishing the following information in a highly confidential manner and requested assurance that no embarrassment would come to him as a result of his disclosures. Russell wanted this solely for the Bureau's information.

1. Congressman Wood will release a statement to the press this afternoon that the Committee received in 1946 information regarding pro-Russian activity in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department. Among those mentioned was Judith Coplon. The informant of the Committee who furnished her name was a former employee of the Department of Justice. Wood's statement will point out there should be closer cooperation between the Committee and the Department, and it is Russell's understanding that there will be no attempt to assess any blame.

2. According to Russell, Mamchur is the individual who furnished the information to the House Committee and it is his recollection that prior to September 20, 1946, the Committee released an Executive Hearing Report which included Mamchur's information and named in the Department as pro-Russian, among others, Judith Coplon and Nathan ~~Eliff~~, an attorney.

Russell advised that a newspaper man, identity unknown to Russell, is supposed to know that the informant of the Committee in 1946 is now at Wayne University in Michigan, but does not know the informant's name.

3. Russell advised that in September of 1946 he delivered to Mr. Caudle at the Department a letter from the Committee listing names of organizations and individuals appearing in the Committee's files and containing a request that the Departmental files relating to such persons be available for inspection by the Committee Investigator. It is Russell's recollection that included in this list of names were those of Nathan Eliff and Judith Coplon. Caudle referred Russell to Nathan Eliff who was not cooperative and Russell did not obtain access to the Departmental files.

Again on September 20, 1946, Russell delivered to the Department a letter from the House Committee on Un-American Activities over the signature of John Carrington, then Clerk of the Committee, which letter referred to the previous letter which asked access to the files and furnished the list of organizations and individuals. This letter stated that the Committee Investigator had contacted Eliff who had advised that he would contact Attorney General Clark on the latter's return to Washington, but that no action had been taken by the Department.

Russell states that he left this second letter with Eliff and to date there has been no reply to the Committee from the Department.

Russell states that a file copy of the letter dated September 20, 1946, appears in the Committee files but that he has not been able to locate the file copy of the first letter which was delivered to Caudle.

ACTION:

We are attempting to locate an Executive Hearing Report of the House Committee which deals with matters affecting the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department.

Valentine A. Gubitchev

While talking with ASAC Belmont of New York today on another matter he stated that all of the information taken from Gubitchev at the time of his arrest as well as the material obtained from Coplon is being submitted to the FBI Laboratory for examination. Mr. Belmont indicated that this material would be listed in the report now being prepared in this case by the New York Office and unless advised to the contrary he would have it brought to the Bureau by a Special Agent this evening. Mr. Belmont said that he recommended this personal delivery because of the possibility that the Soviets, through official channels, may make a demand for the immediate return of Gubitchev's effects and he believed that its handling should be expedited in the event this occurs.

I told Mr. Belmont that unless he was advised to the contrary by 4:00 P.M. it would be satisfactory for an Agent to come to Washington with this material.

Mr. Ray Whearty of the Department called at 9:30 A.M. today and requested to be furnished with as much information as possible concerning the results of the investigation conducted in this case as soon as it could conveniently be done. He explained that he is anxious to start drawing up an indictment and, of course, will need Bureau reports and, particularly, the FBI Laboratory reports in order to have an idea as to what the Government can prove.

I told Mr. Whearty that the interested field offices in this case have been instructed to prepare reports and it was expected that they would be received this morning. On receipt copies will be furnished to the Department. I also explained to Mr. Whearty that a detailed memorandum on this case had been prepared for the Attorney General yesterday. He indicated that he would take steps immediately to obtain at least a copy of this and this might suffice for his purposes.

BACKGROUND

You will recall that Mr. Peyton Ford of the Department indicated to you that Mr. Louis Nemzer in all probability was the individual formerly employed by the Department who furnished certain information to the House Committee on Un-American Activities concerning the administration of the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department. Mr. Ford's comment apparently resulted from the news article quoting Congressman Nixon as stating that in 1946 the HCUA had furnished to the Department information indicating pro-Soviet sentiments in the Foreign Agents Registration Section and naming Judith Coplon as one of the persons having such sentiments.

Nemzer was located and interviewed at Worthington, Ohio. He indicated that in all probability the individual who furnished information of this type to the HCUA was Stephen W. Namchur, who, he stated, was formerly employed in the Foreign Agents Registration Section and is now Professor of Sociology at Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan.

DEVELOPMENTS

SAC O'Connor of Detroit called at 12:25 P.M. today and stated that pursuant to a request received from the Washington Field Office, Stephen W. Namchur was presently being interviewed by the Detroit Office. Mr. O'Connor stated that the Washington Field Office asked that a summary of the results of this interview be furnished to Mr. Ladd by noon. Mr. O'Connor stated that the interview with Namchur is still continuing and he will be unable to comply with the WFO request. He stated that he believed in all probability that a complete teletype summary will be furnished to the Bureau by approximately 3:00 or 4:00 P.M.

The interview thus far has indicated that Namchur does not possess any specific information indicating that he was aware of any espionage or Communistic activities on the part of Coplon. Namchur claims that he never officially reported any information to the FBI or to his superiors in the Department although he claims he did talk in a "general way" to Mr. James McInerney of the Department and voiced his dissatisfaction with the administration of the Foreign Agents Registration Section. Namchur said that he did not mention any names to Mr. McInerney during this conversation.

Mr. Namchur admitted that during July or August, 1946, he spoke to Lou Russell, Investigator for the HCUA, and told him of his suspicions of a pro-Soviet clique in charge of the administration of the Foreign Agents Registration Section in the Department of Justice. This clique, according to Namchur, consisted of Louis Nemzer, [redacted] Leon Segal and Judith Coplon. Namchur said that he never made any "official report" to the HCUA nor did that Committee ever interrogate him personally.

With regard to the allegation that Mr. Jesse MacKnight of the Department raised the efficiency rating of Coplon which necessitated the firing of Namchur, Namchur admitted that Coplon's efficiency rating was raised but claims that he resigned and was not fired from the Department.

Namchur specifically requested that if Nathan Eliff, Acting Chief of the Internal Security and Chief of the Foreign Agents Registration Section in 1946, or if Louis Nemzer are still in the Department, that the information he has furnished be retained in confidence and not made available to Department officials.

Mr. O'Connor stated that the questioning of Namchur is continuing and, as indicated above, a summary teletype will be furnished to the Bureau upon completion.

RE: LOUIS NEMZER

Louis Nemzer was born August 15, 1913, at New York, New York, of Russian-born parents. The father of Louis Nemzer, Ralph Nemzer, obtained United States citizenship by naturalization on June 4, 1923. However, as of August 19, 1941, there was no record indicating that Rose Nemzer, mother of Louis, had ever become a United States citizen. Louis Nemzer was married to Daisy Press Nemzer, a native-born American on July 3, 1947. (77-12099-7 & 15)

Louis Nemzer graduated from Jefferson High School, Los Angeles, California, in 1931. He attended Occidental College in Los Angeles from 1931 to 1933 and the University of California, at Berkeley, California, from 1934 to 1937. He received a B.A. and a M.A. degree from the University of California. He furthered his studies at the University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois, during the period from 1937 to 1939. However, he did not receive a degree from this institution. While attending the University of Chicago, he was employed as a research scholar and a university fellow by that school.

From November, 1939 to March, 1940, Nemzer was employed by the California State Relief Administration as a social worker. In 1940, he worked for his father, Ralph Nemzer, at 5318 Central Avenue, Los Angeles. From March until June, 1941, Louis Nemzer was employed by the United States Department of Justice as a Russian propaganda expert in connection with the case of the United States versus Bookniga, during which proceedings he served as a witness. In December, 1941, Nemzer secured a position with the Library of Congress, his duties being to gather and analyze data on foreign propaganda. He held this position until July, 1942, at which time he began his employment with the United States Department of Justice as a political analyst.

During an investigation of Louis Nemzer as a Departmental Applicant, Dr. Harold Dwight Lasswell, a former acquaintance of Nemzer at the Library of Congress, highly recommended Nemzer as to ability, character and loyalty to the Government. Dr. Lasswell, however, has been described as an outstanding political scientist and an ex-college professor in that field. He has allegedly taken part in Communist activities. Lasswell was listed as a radical in the "Red Network" by Elizabeth Dillings, and as a member of the League for Industrial Democracy in 1932, which group was an alleged Communist front organization. Lasswell was further described as having been active in Communistic circles while at the University of Chicago in 1935-36, and it was further reported that Lasswell was member of the National Committee of the American Civil Liberties Union in

Louis Nemzer was transferred from his position as political analyst in the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the United States Department of Justice on May 3, 1947. He reportedly was transferred to employment with the United States Department of State, Washington, D. C. (Dept. of Justice Personnel File 'unnumbered' re Louis Nemzer)

On December 30, 1946

The loyalty investigation conducted on Louis Nemzer disclosed that he is able to speak Russian fluently and is also able to read that language. Nemzer worked on Russian material while employed by the United States Department of Justice. The loyalty investigation failed to prove that Nemzer is a Communist. However, he was seen in the company of individuals who are, or were, employed by the United States Government and who were suspected of possessing Communist sympathies and connections. Those individuals are:

Jessie Rubin, formerly employed by the Amtorg Trading Corporation, the Soviet Purchasing Commission and the Moscow Daily News. On March 5, 1947, Louis Nemzer was observed in the company of Rubin.

Dr. Arthur I. Saul, who had frequent luncheon engagements with persons attached to the Soviet Embassy in Washington, D. C. and who had associated with individuals suspected of being Soviet Agents, and whose brother, Joseph Saul, has been reported as being a member of the Communist Party.

Ernest C. Ropes, Chief of the Russian Unit of the United States Department of Commerce, who has a background of education and residence in Russia and who was described by Larry Todd of Tass News Agency as a very good friend of the Soviet Union in April, 1946. Ropes has participated in the activities of the American-Russian Institute and the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. Ropes is alleged to have at one time made the statement that Russia has direct democracy which is far superior to that of the United States.

P. D. Carter of the Federal Communications Commission. Carter's wife is Betty Payson Carter, who in April, 1947, was employed as an English teacher in the Soviet Embassy in Washington. While she was in New York in 1943, teaching in the public schools of that city, she was frequently observed in contact with suspected Soviet agents.

Henry Ware, United States Department of Commerce, who is a close contact of Shura Lewis (subject of an Internal Security case) and of Polla Habicht in a similar category, and of Jack Milada Marsalka, a suspected Soviet Agent in Washington.

Ware taught at the Commonwealth College, Mena, Arkansas, in 1938. This college is reputed to have been a Communist school. Ware spent 5 years in Russia where he pursued his study of economics. His wife, Alice, was known in April, 1947, to be a member of the following organizations:

Executive Council of the People's Committee
American Peace Mobilization
New York Conference on Inalienable Rights
League of American Writers
National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc.

(118-590-17)

On May 9, 1947, information was received from a confidential and completely reliable source that either Nemzer or his wife have remarked that they (Mr. and Mrs. Nemzer) had attended a meeting of the Communist Political Association in the National Press Building, Washington, D. C. The date of this alleged attendance at this meeting is not known. This reliable source stated that he did not attach any particular significance to the remark made by either Louis Nemzer or his wife, inasmuch as he knew that, at that time, Nemzer was making a study of Communist and Russian propaganda.

In March, 1948, a delicate and highly confidential source furnished the address book of Martin Popper, subject of an Internal Security - R case and the name of Louis Nemzer, Foreign Registration Section, Justice Department, appeared in this book. (105-1913-83 page 9 and 11)

Under date of June 20, 1944, Louis Nemzer prepared a brief entitled, "The American Communist Party and the Foreign Agents Registration Act". It will be noted that this brief was prepared during the time Nemzer was employed by the United States Department of Justice. (100-3-74-1270 enclosure)

On February 1, 1948, information was received from a confidential and reliable source that Louis Nemzer had been friendly with Judith Coplon. This source advised further that some time ago, exact date not recalled, during a discussion of the Mikhailovich-Tito issue, Nemzer had expressed himself to this source as being in favor of Tito and remarked, "We can only support those who are fighting on our side." This source advised that in her opinion, this remark was an indication that Nemzer considered Mikhailovich as being a traitor. (65-58365-51)

On January 21, 1949, a highly confidential and delicate source advised that the following entry appeared in the address book belonging to subject, Judith Coplon: "Lou Nemzer, 1569 42nd Street, S.E. VI 9180". (65-58365-32)

In the Dies Committee report, Section 4, 1944, page 1134, there is set out an Exhibit No. 71, filed with the Committee, announcing "A Neighborhood Rally to Commemorate the Second Anniversary of the Invasion of the USSR." This exhibit reflected that the rally was to be held on Tuesday evening, June 22, 1943, at the Hotel Cornish Arms, 23rd Street between 7th and 8th Avenues, New York City. The Reverend R. A. D. Beatty was listed as Chairman of the rally and Bertram J. Adams as guest speaker. The rally was under the auspices of the Lower West Side Committee of Russian War Relief, 160 Seventh Avenue, New York City. (61-7582-1298, page 1134)

A review of the file on Horace Casselbery reflects that Casselbery was represented in a trial in New York City in March, 1945 by Bertram Adams. It is reflected that Horace Casselbery is well known to the New York Office as a psychopathic letter writer. He has been brought to the U. S. Attorney's office on several occasions by postal authorities because of his psychopathic letter writing. The letters that Casselbery writes, which have included letters to the President, to the Secretary of State, and to the Senior Judge of the U. S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, contain clippings from the Daily Worker. The New York Office advised that in 1936 Casselbery was regarded as a member of the Communist Party. Casselbery had been placed under observation for his psychopathic letter writing in Bellevue Hospital in New York City.

In the report of Special Agent Robert C. Downes, dated at Buffalo, New York, September 9, 1946, entitled, "Frances Clune, was; Internal Security - C," there is set out information that Frances Clune during 1946 was President of the North Park Club of the Communist Party in Buffalo, New York and that during a meeting held in her home on February 19, 1946, the Buffalo Office was advised by Confidential Informants [redacted] active, paid informant and member of the Communist Party, [redacted] active, paid informant and member of the Communist Party in [redacted] that a Harry Rupp and a Bert Adams, Communist Party members from New York, who had assisted in recruiting at Lackawanna and who were residing temporarily at the home of Frances Clune, 156 Stratford Road, Buffalo, had attended the meeting. No further information was furnished by these informants concerning Harry Rupp or Bert Adams. (100-132299-36 page 28)

In the report of Special Agent Joseph V. Waters, dated at New York, New York, August 12, 1947 in the case entitled, "Mary M. Nichols, was; Security Matter - C," there is set out information that Mary M. Nichols, also known as Mary Murphy, was an attorney who had been counsel for James Johnson, who was tried in the Queens County Court, Long Island City, New York on a charge of rape on November 6, 1946. According to the New York report, Johnson was sentenced to 15 to 30 years in prison, and his conviction was featured by the Communist Party who attempted to make an issue of the case because Johnson was a Negro. The New York Office reflects that the court records reveal that Bertram Adams, 270 Broadway, was listed as one of the attorneys of record for Johnson. (100-235228-18)

In a letter from New York dated October 20, 1947 entitled, "Communist Party, USA, District No. 2, New York Office; Internal Security - C," there is set out information obtained from Confidential Informant [redacted] (discontinued active, paid informant and member of the Communist Party). This informant made available the names of individuals who were subscribers to the Daily Worker. This list of names was maintained at the Herman Botschker Club, Communist Party, and was made available by the informant on December 2, 1946. The name B. J. Adams, 166 East 92nd Street, New York City, was included on this list.

In the New York Office letter dated June 17, 1948, entitled, "Communist Party, USA District No. 2; La Pasionaria Club; Internal Security - C," there was set out material obtained through Confidential Informant [redacted] active, paid informant who [redacted]

[redacted] New York City), which included two lists of names and addresses in New York City, entitled, "Pasionaria - Yorkville Section." The New York Office advised that it is believed that these lists contain names and addresses of the mailing list of the La Pasionaria Club, Yorkville Section of the Communist Party. On one of these lists there appeared the name, B. J. Adams, 166 East 92nd Street. (100-3-4-6360)

A check of the Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory for 1949 shows a listing for Bertram J. Adams, with offices at 270 Broadway, New York City, born 1904, and admitted to the Bar in 1934; attended Syracuse University and received an LL.M. degree from New York Law School, New York.

A check of the New York telephone directory for Manhattan, November, 1948 issue, reflects that there is a listing for a Bertram J. Adams, lawyer, 270 Broadway, New York City; uptown office, 177 E. 121st Street; home address 166 E. 92nd Street, New York City.

Father John F. Cronin, S.S., called me at home last evening and stated that he had received a report on March 7, 1949, stating that Alger Hiss was very visibly shaken and deeply disturbed upon hearing of Coplon's arrest. Father Cronin said that his source advanced the opinion that Coplon's arrest may be the missing link which would bring Hiss' espionage activities within the Statute of Limitations. He added that the report of Hiss' being visibly perturbed is a fact. The conjecture that Coplon's arrest may be the missing link is his informant's conclusion.

In response to my request as to the reliability of the source he said that he considered it highly reliable and, in fact, volunteered that it was a member of Congress. He said he was passing this information on to the Bureau for its information and whatever attention it merited.

Reference is made to the teletype of the New York Office dated February 26, 1949. The personnel file of the Department of Justice on [redacted] has been reviewed and reflects the following information.

[redacted] an application on June 10, 1943 giving her legal residence as [redacted] New York City, telephone, Schuyler 3-3272. Her application reflects her father's name as [redacted] who was born in Russia and her mother's maiden name as [redacted] who was born in the United States. [redacted] was appointed on June 10, 1943 as an expert in the Anti-Trust Division at New York City. This appointment was effective on June 17, 1943 at which time she took an oath of office. She was actually employed in the Economic Warfare Section at a salary of $2,000 per annum. An efficiency report dated March 31, 1945 was under a rating by Robert Wohlforth.

[redacted] was recommended for a transfer from the Economic Warfare Section of the War Division of the Department of Justice on June 7, 1945 to employment in the Anti-Trust Division at $2,600 per annum. The reason for the transfer, according to a communication in the personnel file, was that the New York Office of the Economic Warfare Section was being closed. The transfer was effective on July 1, 1945. [redacted] position was abolished in a letter to her dated March 14, 1946 because of a reduction in personnel. The date of her termination is given as April 15, 1946.

There is no information in the Bureau's files which can be identified with [redacted] with the possible exception of the reference concerning a David Aronow who was a member of IWO Lodge of December, 1946. There are no references on [redacted] or on [redacted]. The only reference on [redacted] appearing in the Bureau's files is the Departmental applicant investigation.

The personnel file of the Department of Justice relative to Sarah Becker who is a contact of Coplon has been reviewed. This reflects that she was born on April 29, 1911 in Milwaukee Wisconsin. She filed an application on November 5, 1942 in which she listed her father as Abraham Becker, born in Kamal, Lithuania, and her mother's maiden name as Anna Zel, born in Gronshek, Lithuania. She listed the following relatives in Government service:

A. Harry Becker, blood brother, St. Clair Hotel, Chicago,

Sarah Becker attended the University of Wisconsin from September, 1927 to June, 1934, receiving her PhD in 1935. She was appointed as an expert in the Anti-Trust Division, Department of Justice on November 19, 1942 at a salary of $2400 per annum, payable from the working fund of the Board of Economic Warfare. Her official headquarters at the time of her appointment was given as Chicago but was immediately changed to Washington, D. C. The appointment was effective on January 11, 1943. She was transferred to the Economic Warfare Section in New York City on September 14, 1943. Her efficiency reports as of March 31, 1944 and March 31, 1945 were under a rating by Robert Wohlforth. She was transferred to the Anti-Trust Division of the Department of Justice on June 12, 1945 on the grounds that the New York Office of the Economic Warfare Section was being closed. This transfer was effective on July 1, 1945. She was separated from work in the Anti-Trust Division on April 15, 1946. At that time her address was 4300 Kansas Avenue, N. E., Washington, D. C.

In connection with the above references to Sarah Becker's two brothers whom she terms as blood brothers, it is to be noted that information appearing in her personnel file reflects that her parents were naturalized in the United States in 1906. There is no indication that either of them is deceased or that she has any step-parents. Information has been received from Departmental officials to the effect that the Economic Warfare Section of the War Division of the Department of Justice went out of existence as of December 23, 1945. However, it is apparent from the personnel files of the two persons referred to above that the New York Office of the Economic Warfare Section closed during June of 1945. This is also substantiated by the information obtained from Mr. William Van Allen of the Anti-Trust Division in New York City who advised that this section in New York City closed as of June 30, 1945.

TWO CHARGES CONFIRMED

THE Coplon-Gubitchev affair—culminating in arrest, finally, on charges of espionage—blows the lid off and provides another look into the operations of "insiders" allegedly working with foreign agents to convey secret information to hostile hands. The case involves aspects similar to those uncovered by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

There are those who have warned that espionage was going on inside the government departments at Washington.

Some have denied it, or sought to belittle it. Some have called it a "red herring."

There are those who have warned that subversive aliens—some of them espionage agents—were entering the United States as U.N. attaches.

Some have denied that, too. Robert C. Alexander of the State Department, an assistant Visa Division chief, was severely reprimanded and almost lost his job for making that charge.

But what have we in the Coplon-Gubitchev affair? The charge is a combination of the two propositions. The course of action which the FBI finally has been permitted to take—having kept these two under surveillance until suspicions were substantiated—suggests the accuracy of charges 1 and 2. If Judith Coplon, employee of the Justice Department, was furnishing secret documents to Valentine Gubitchev, member of Russia's U.N. delegation, both charges are true: There HAVE been "inside operations" linking U. S. employees with espionage; and U.N. delegations ARE an avenue of access for aliens on subversive activities bent.

THE TWO defendants in this case face arraignment today. The full particulars are not expected to come out. The grand jury will get only such information as is necessary to bind them over for trial. The Russian embassy has been moving heaven and earth to obtain the release of its agent on grounds of "diplomatic immunity."

But the arrest stands. The charge stands. Not lightly does the FBI formulate charges. It must welcome the opportunity, finally provided, to act where circumstances not of its making have hampered it.

The case does something else. Substantiating as it does the nation's impression of dangers INSIDE; an accumulating array of dangers multiplying with laxity toward the infiltration of subversives, it should stimulate efforts to RID the public service of all those whose allegiance is a matter of doubt.

The administration's treatment of this responsibility is far from brilliant. The nation is entitled to the hope that public opinion—if not the sense of danger implicit to development-after-development illustrating that danger—will finally have moved it to action for security which these disclosures certainly warrant.

We hope to hear no more that all of this—including substantiating disclosures by the House Committee—is just a "red herring."

At 5:00 P.M., March 1, 1949, I attended a conference in the office of Mr. Peyton Ford. Present at this conference were Mr. Ford and Mr. William Foley of the Department and Mr. Rusk and Mr. Jessup of the State Department.

Mr. Ford addressed an inquiry to the State Department officials as to whether or not it would be proper for FBI Agents to arrest Valentine Gubitchev, a member of the Secretariat of the United Nations, at such time as he was in contact with Coplon. No definite commitments were made but it was agreed that Mr. Rusk and Mr. Jessup would discuss the case with the Secretary of State and that a memorandum would be addressed to the Attorney General reflecting the action that the State Department would approve. From the remarks made it appears that the State Department is particularly interested in whether or not Gubitchev would be prosecuted or whether the State Department would be permitted to, in effect, kick him out of the country. The representatives of the State Department indicated that they could see no particular reason why he could not be arrested and searched to see what material had been passed to him.

In the event he should identify himself as an accredited delegate to the United Nations he could be held long enough to actually verify his credentials. However, they indicated that when his credentials were verified, which should be done immediately, he should be released. At the same time the State Department should be promptly advised so that they could advise the Secretary of the United Nations of his arrest and implication in an espionage matter. He stated it was most important that they notify the Secretary of the United Nations prior to his receiving information concerning the matter from any other source. Mr. Peyton Ford indicated that he wasn't certain that he would want to release Gubitchev unless he could be assured by the Secretary of the United Nations that he would be available.

The State Department also wanted to be certain that his activity was away from the United Nations. As a matter of fact, the contacts he has had with subject Coplon have been considerably removed from any premises coming under the control or use of the United Nations.

Mr. Peyton Ford also pointed out to the State Department representatives that the Department could not guarantee that if Gubitchev were accosted and arrested that incriminating espionage material would be found on him. They were told that it would be entirely possible for subject Coplon to pass any type of paper which would be most innocuous in character and have no relation to espionage, and it should be understood that the arrest of Gubitchev would be made when it appeared that subject Coplon had passed to him material which should be examined. However, it was entirely possible that he would be arrested and detained and actually nothing of espionage character was passed.

The State Department officials indicated that in such event they could expect very strong protests from the Soviet Government but they also indicated that even though important material was recovered at his arrest, they could expect the same protests which would be built up by the Soviet Union for propaganda purposes.

The State Department officials indicated that they would make every effort to deliver the memorandum requested by Mr. Ford on March 2.

The technical coverage of Coplon reflects that she will go again to New York this coming Friday. She has advised her mother that she will not be home before 9:00. On previous contacts with Gubitchev she has advised her mother along similar lines.

At 9:20 PM after hearing from Mr. Belmont of the New York Office that the subjects had been together on the bus for some time and that difficulty was being had in maintaining the surveillance and that it was not known whether anything had been passed between the two subjects, I telephonically contacted Mr. Peyton Ford. I advised him of these facts and of the fact that it was not known whether any package had been passed although they had been in the bus for some time and a package could have been passed, although no Agents had been on the bus to observe. I asked him what action he wanted taken in the light thereof.

Mr. Ford said "Give me five minutes to check with the Attorney General and I'll let you know." I asked him to make it as quick as possible inasmuch as it was not known how long the surveillance could be maintained in view of the actions of the two subjects and further, it was not known just when they might separate. Mr. Peyton Ford then said, "I'll make it in two minutes".

In about ten minutes or at 9:33 PM, Mr. Peyton Ford called back and stated that the subjects should be picked up. I asked him if they should still be picked up even though they were separate and no longer together. He stated even though they were separated they should still be picked up.

Mr. Fletcher, Mr. Whitson, Mr. Branigan and Mr. Baumgardner were in the room at the time of this call and Mr. Fletcher, who was holding a line open to New York immediately passed these instructions on to Mr. Belmont. lm

It has been concluded that the typewriting on specimens Q1 through Q14 and Q34 were prepared on the Royal elite typewriter, serial No. K22502233, located in COPLON'S office, Room No. 2220, of the Justice Building, Washington, D. C., K2.

It has been concluded that the typewriting on specimens Q15 through Q24 and Q35 through Q38 was prepared on the Corona Standard Portable typewriter, Serial No. 101C0116, obtained from COPLON'S apartment, K12.

It has been concluded that the typewriting on the carbon copies, Q25 through Q28, was prepared on the Royal elite typewriter, Serial No. K22502408, located in Room No. 2216 of the Justice Building, Washington, D. C., K1.

Specimens Q1 through Q43 were treated for latent fingerprints by a non-staining method. A fingerprint developed on Q43 was eliminated as that of an agent.

The above listed evidence, except for the Corona Portable typewriter, K12 and the Personnel File of JUDITH CAPLEN, K14, will be retained in the Laboratory. K12 will be returned to the Washington Field Office and K14 will be returned to the Security Investigative Division at the Bureau for appropriate disposition.

Information has been obtained to the effect that [redacted] was very closely associated with Miss Coplon while he was employed in the Foreign Agents Registration Section and that he has continued to be closely associated with her since his employment in the State Department.

I recommend authorization of this technical surveillance in order to determine more fully the activities of [redacted] in connection with the investigation of Judith Coplon.

There is attached hereto a memorandum to the Attorney General which outlines in some detail the developments in this case over the week-end which resulted in the apprehension of Judith Coplon and Valentine A. Gubitchev at 9:36 P. M. on March 4, 1949 at 15th Street and 3rd Avenue in New York City. The apprehension had been authorized by Mr. Peyton Ford at 9:35 P. M. on March 4, 1949 after he had consulted with the Attorney General. Both Inspector Fletcher and myself had conferred with him prior to this keeping him advised of the developments in this matter as they occurred.

Following the apprehension of Coplon and Gubitchev they were taken to the New York Office where they were searched. The physical search of Miss Coplon was carried out by female employees of the New York Office. Coplon had in her purse a small flat package resembling a wrapped up pair of hose. This package was found to contain 34 data sheets which were abstracts taken from FBI reports of a Communist and espionage nature. These data sheets are official records of the Foreign Agents Registration Section. They relate to current investigations being conducted by us. Photostatic copies of them are attached as exhibits to the Attorney General's memorandum and to this memorandum. The typing appearing on these data sheets has been identified by the FBI Laboratory with two typewriters used in the Foreign Agents Registration Section and with a portable typewriter which was obtained by a search warrant from Coplon's residence.

In addition there was in this package a handwritten note containing the information which we had sent to Mr. Peyton Ford in a memorandum dated March 3, 1949. This memorandum related to the Amtorg Trading Corporation and contained information of a deceptive nature indicating that we were using an attorney at Amtorg by the name of Isadore G. Needleman as an informant. The memorandum also contained information concerning geophones which are used in making tests relative to the Atomic bomb. This information was obtained and cleared by the Atomic Energy Commission for this purpose. It was supplied in the memorandum which came into the possession of Coplon in an effort to insure that the information being transmitted by her would come within the purview of the espionage statute as relating to the National Defense. There was also contained in the package a three and one half page typewritten memorandum which dealt mainly with biographical data concerning acquaintances of Coplon. She was apparently submitting this material in order to acquaint Soviet Intelligence with persons who might be recruited as Soviet Agents. This memorandum also contained the following quoted paragraph.

"I have not been able (and don't think I will) to get the top secret FBI report which I described to Michael on Soviet & Communist Intelligence Activities in the US. When the moment was favorable, I asked Foley where the report was (He'd previously remarked that he'd had such a report); he said that some departmental official had it and he didn't expect to get it back. Foley remarked there was nothing "new" in it. When I saw the report, for a minute, I breezed through it rapidly, remember very little. It was about 115 pages in length; summarized first Soviet "intelligence" activities, including Martens, Lore, Poyntz, Altschuler, Silvermaster et. al. It had heading on Soviet UN delegation but that was all I remember. The rest of the report I think was on Polish, Yugo, etc. activities and possibly some info on the CP,USA."

In connection with the data sheets which she had in her possession and which are official records of the Foreign Agents Registration Section it can be assumed that Coplon has been furnishing information of this character over a period of years and has therefore furnished information relative to many important Bureau investigations. Instructions have been issued to the Washington Field Office to have an immediate inventory made of these data sheets to determine the extent of the information which Coplon may have passed particularly relating to important Soviet espionage investigations. The New York Office and the Washington Field Office are instituting immediate interviews with persons whom we know to be closely associated with Coplon. A number of these interviews have already been conducted by Agents of the Washington Field Office.

You will be advised of any pertinent information which is developed through these interviews and other investigation of this matter being conducted.

RECOMMENDATION:

There is attached a memorandum to the Attorney General outlining the recent developments in this matter.

March 7, 1949

The Director, FBI

ESPIONAGE - R

Reference is made to the memorandum of Mr. Peyton Ford, the Assistant to the Attorney General, dated March 3, 1949, in connection with this matter regarding the expected meeting between Judith Coplon and Valentine A. Gubitchev on the evening of March 4, 1949 in New York City, at which time a transmission of information or documents relating to the national defense or Government material or information might be effected. As you know, this meeting did take place and resulted in the apprehension of both Coplon and Gubitchev. I am summarizing hereinafter briefly the results of the investigation in this matter to date.

INSTITUTION OF THE INVESTIGATION

The investigation of Judith Coplon was instituted on December 30, 1948, after a conversation between Inspector Howard Fletcher, of this Bureau, and Mr. Peter Brown which resulted in the identification of Judith Coplon as a person who, according to a highly confidential and reliable informant, was recruited by Soviet intelligence to act as an espionage agent in the Fall of 1944.

FIRST MEETING BETWEEN COPLON AND GUBITCHEV

On January 14, 1949, Judith Coplon left Washington, D. C. en route to New York City on the Pennsylvania Railroad under surveillance by Special Agents of the Washington Field Office. She arrived in New York City at 4:50 PM and was observed to get off Coach No. 3911 of that train, at which time the physical surveillance of her was taken over by Agents of the New York Office. She proceeded immediately to the ladies' restroom on the main level of Pennsylvania Station, arriving there at 4:57 PM. She left at 5:40 PM and it was observed that she was not carrying her overnight bag. It is known that there are steel lockers for checking packages immediately to the right of the exit of the ladies' room where she could have checked her overnight bag.

Coplon next went to the lower level of Pennsylvania Station and entered the Doubleday Book Shop where she was observed looking at various books. At 5:50 PM she left the book shop and entered the Station Drug Store, directly across the arcade from the book shop. She waited for a few moments for a seat at the lunch counter, then ordered something and was observed reading the New York "Star" newspaper. At 6:02 PM she left the drug store and entered the IRT subway, next boarding a northbound Seventh Avenue Broadway express. At 6:40 PM she left the subway train at the 191st Street subway station in Manhattan and took the elevator to the street level. Coplon then walked north on St. Nicholas Avenue to Wadsworth Avenue, turned left and followed Wadsworth Avenue around in a curve to the intersection of 192nd Street and then east on 192nd Street back to St. Nicholas Avenue, thereby circling the irregularly shaped block between these two streets. She then walked south on St. Nicholas Avenue to West 188th Street, where she crossed the avenue and entered the drug store on the northeast corner of that intersection. She was in the drug store a very short time and upon leaving walked west on 188th Street to Wadsworth Terrace, turned right and walked north to Fairview Avenue. She then turned left (west) and walked down the dimly lighted, winding hill on Fairview Avenue to Broadway. She then turned north on Broadway and proceeded one block to 193rd Road, stopping on the northwest corner of this intersection.

Coplon waited approximately ten minutes at the intersection in a dark corner, whereupon an unidentified man came up from the south on Broadway and after a brief greeting they walked together in a northerly direction along Broadway. They turned on Hagie Avenue, walked to Dyckman Street and then west on Dyckman Street. Coplon and the unidentified man entered the Deluxe Restaurant, an Italian food restaurant, at 143 Dyckman Street at 7:25 PM.

At 8:15 PM the two left the restaurant, the man having paid the check. They walked west on Dyckman Street to Sherman Avenue and turned left on Sherman Avenue to Broadway and then south on Broadway. During this walk Coplon was engaged in animated conversation with the man, stopping several times to wave her hands vigorously and on several occasions appeared to be emphasizing her point by waving a folded newspaper. After crossing to the west side of Broadway they walked along the park edge to the south end of Fort Tryon Park on Broadway where they stood on a corner for several minutes. The two of them then walked up to and entered the tunneled entrance to the 191st Street station of the Independent Subway System.

They boarded a downtown express train and sat together conversing until the train reached the 125th Street stop. Just before the doors closed the man hurriedly left Coplon, left the subway, crossed the platform and boarded a downtown local train, at which point the surveillance of Coplon was discontinued. The man rode to 116th Street where he got off the subway, went up to the street level, which is in the Harlem Section of New York, and engaged a taxi between 115th and 114th Street. The taxi turned west on 114th Street and proceeded to 116th Street and Broadway, where the man got out of the cab and entered a Broadway Seventh Avenue IRT Subway Station. The surveillance of him at this point was discontinued in view of the fact that it appeared that he was attempting to determine if he were being surveilled.

This man was identified on the following day through pictures of Soviet United Nations personnel as Valentine A. Gubitchev. Also, on January 15, 1949, he was observed entering the UN Delegation Building at 680 Park Avenue.

Valentine Alekseevich Gubitchev, with aliases: Valentin A. Gubichev, Valentin Goubichev, arrived in the United States at New York City on July 20, 1946, being described as the Third Secretary of the Secretariat, USSR, the United Nations. The June 1, 1948 United Nations telephone directory lists Gubitchev as connected with the Planning Office of the Department of Administrative and Financial Services, Room 607 of the Manhattan Office of the United Nations at 405 East 42nd Street, New York City. Gubitchev resides with his wife, Lidiya Iazarovna Gubitcheva, at 64 West 108th Street, New York City. Gubitchev's daughter, Violetta, returned to the USSR on July 31, 1948 on the SS Pobeda.

SECOND MEETING BETWEEN COPLON AND GUBITCHEV

On February 18, 1949 Judith Coplon took a train to New York City and was under surveillance by Agents of the Washington Field Office. She arrived at Pennsylvania Station, New York City, at 6:35 PM where the surveillance was taken over by Special Agents of the New York Office. She proceeded by subway to 190th Street and Broadway. En route she opened her purse which was noted by a Special Agent to contain several sheets of onionskin paper bearing typing. Valentine A. Gubitchev was observed leaving his home at 7:05 PM and thereafter proceeded to go through numerous maneuvers in an effort to determine if he were being surveilled. The surveillance of him was thereafter temporarily discontinued.

However, both Coplon and Gubitchev were observed at 8:00 PM at 192nd Street and Broadway, Coplon crossing the street diagonally to meet Gubitchev. As they met she had her hand in her purse and Gubitchev reached out his hand. Special Agents on the surveillance did not actually see anything pass between the two persons in view of the need for the use of discretion on the surveillance and the darkness of the street. Coplon then continued up the street and Gubitchev appeared to be watching to see if she were being followed. The physical surveillance reflected that Coplon then went to her parents' home at 178 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, New York.

PREPARATION OF MATERIAL OF A DECEPTIVE NATURE

In addition to the steps being taken within the Foreign Agents Registration Section to protect material in that section and the investigative coverage being given Coplon by us after this investigation was instituted, it was deemed desirable to furnish to Coplon material of a deceptive nature. A memorandum dated January 27, 1949 from me to Mr. Peyton Ford was delivered to Mr. Ford by Inspector Howard Fletcher on January 31, 1949. This memorandum was regarding the Amtorg Trading Corporation and contained material of a deceptive nature.

THIRD MEETING BETWEEN COPLON AND GUBITCHEV

Judith Coplon under surveillance by two Special Agents of the Washington Field Office left Washington, D. C., on the Pennsylvania Railroad at 1:00 P.M. on March 4, 1949. She arrived at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station in New York City at 5:35 P.M. At this point the physical surveillance was taken over by Special Agents of the New York Office. Miss Coplon proceeded to check her overnight case in locker number 1935 on the lower level of the Pennsylvania Station. A highly confidential informant advised that there was nothing in this bag of a pertinent nature.

Judith Coplon then walked through the Pennsylvania Station to Seventh Avenue, turning north and walking up Seventh Avenue to 37th Street. She then retraced her steps to a bar at 491 Seventh Avenue. She entered the bar and remained there ten minutes. She then left the bar and walked north on Seventh Avenue to 42nd Street and proceeded west on 42nd Street to Eighth Avenue. At 6:10 P.M. she boarded an Eighth Avenue subway train, northbound. At 6:35 P.M. she left the train at 181st Street in Manhattan, whereupon she proceeded a short distance with other persons leaving the station and then doubled back and walked over to a deserted portion of the station platform to another exit. At this point the surveillance was necessarily discontinued temporarily.

The surveillance was again reinstituted at approximately 6:48 P.M. with Judith Coplon walking north on Broadway at 187th Street. She continued north to 193rd Street where she stopped on the southeast corner of 193rd Street and Broadway, arriving there at 7:00 P.M. She remained in this vicinity walking in a limited area until 7:28 P.M. when she started walking south on Broadway.

Valentine A. Gubitchev was observed leaving the United Nations Office at 405 East 42nd Street, New York City at 4:50 P.M. accompanied by an unidentified man. At 5:05 P.M. it was necessary to drop the surveillance of him due to the fact that he was checking to determine if he were being surveilled, making it impossible to follow him with discretion in the rush hour crowds. At 7:23 P.M. Gubitchev was observed coming out of the subway exit at 191st Street and Broadway. He proceeded to 193rd Street and Broadway to a drug store on the northeast corner.

At this time which was at 7:25 P.M. Coplon was in a cigar store on the southeast corner of the same intersection. At 7:27 P.M. Gubitchev came out of the drug store and walked down Broadway to 192nd Street where he remained at a bus stop allowing several buses to go by. At 7:29 P.M. Coplon left the cigar store and walked south on the east side of Broadway while Gubitchev remained at 192nd Street on the west side of Broadway. At 7:45 P.M. Gubitchev took a southbound bus and immediately dropped off at 189th Street and walked south on the west side of Broadway. Meanwhile Coplon started walking north on Broadway. At 7:51 P.M. they met between 188th and 187th Streets. She continued walking past him. He stopped, but she brushed past and threw her head back toward him over her shoulder. Gubitchev waited a minute or two and then proceeded after her walking north. He overtook her just south of 190th Street. They walked together for about four steps and then drew apart. She slowed her steps and went to the inside of the sidewalk, while he walked more rapidly next to the curb. He proceeded north to Broadway to Magle Avenue where he is believed to have caught a northbound bus on Broadway at which time the surveillance of him was no longer possible.

Coplon in the meantime turned left at 190th Street for a block and then doubled back to Broadway and took the IRT subway tunnel to the 191st Street and St. Nicholas Avenue stop. Here she boarded a southbound IRT subway train which she left at 42nd Street and Seventh Avenue. She proceeded to the street where she stood on the northwest corner of Seventh Avenue and 42nd Street. She stood there about three minutes and then walked one block north on Seventh Avenue and doubled back and took her original position on 42nd Street. About ten minutes later at approximately 8:40 P.M. she started west on 42nd Street towards Ninth Avenue and at this point Gubitchev was observed following her, apparently checking to see if she were being surveilled. He remained behind her until they reached Ninth Avenue when he passed her and ran for a southbound bus on Ninth Avenue and she followed him running, boarding the same bus.

Through the bus number obtained by the surveilling agents it was possible to pick up the surveillance at 22nd Street and Ninth Avenue, the bus going south. At 14th Street both Coplon and Gubitchev left the bus and walked east on 14th Street frequently looking behind them. At Eighth Avenue they entered the BMT subway Canarsie line and were the first persons to enter the empty train. The train remained in the station for about ten minutes. They occupied two seats facing in different directions and when the subway train reached Third Avenue stop they left the subway hurriedly just before the doors shut. Surveillance was again discontinued through necessity.

At 9:34 PM Coplon and Gubitchev were again located at Fifteenth Street and Third Avenue still checking for a possible surveillance. At 9:35 PM following a conference between Assistant Director D. M. Ladd and Mr. Peyton Ford, authorization was telephonically given to the New York Office to apprehend the two persons. At 9:36 PM they were apprehended and immediately taken to the FBI offices, U. S. Court House, Foley Square.

RESULTS OF SEARCH AND INTERROGATION OF COPLON AND GUBITCHEV

Following their arrival at the New York Office of this Bureau, Coplon and Gubitchev were thoroughly searched. Two female employees of the FBI conducted the actual physical search of Coplon. In her purse there was found a small flat package resembling a wrapped pair of hose. Upon an examination of this package it was found to contain numerous data sheets (abstracts) of FBI reports relative to Communist and intelligence information. These data sheets are regularly prepared in your Foreign Agents Registration Section. In addition, there was a handwritten note containing the information appearing in the Amtorg Trading Corporation memorandum which had been addressed to Mr. Peyton Ford and dated March 3, 1949. This package also contained three and one-half pages of typewriting, which set forth the background of individuals known to Coplon. In this typewritten material Coplon also commented on her inability to secure a Bureau summary on espionage and intelligence activities, although she stated she had previously glanced through the summary. The material described above as found in her possession is attached as an exhibit to this memorandum.

The search of Gubitchev reflected he had in his possession a plain white envelope containing $125 in American currency. He claimed that he was to use this in the purchase of a stove.

The interview of Coplon did not produce any information of pertinency inasmuch as she refused to answer any questions except those relating to her background. The interrogation of Gubitchev also failed to develop any information of substance. He denied being with Coplon and stated he had never met her previously.

The interviews with Gubitchev and Coplon were terminated at 2:35 AM at the suggestion of Mr. Raymond Whearty, Assistant Attorney General, in view of the difficulty being experienced in arranging an immediate arraignment.

ARRAIGNMENT OF COPLON AND GUBITCHEV

At 4:45 AM both Coplon and Gubitchev appeared before Judge Rifkind who advised them of their rights and asked whether they were represented by attorneys. As neither had an attorney the hearing was adjourned to enable them to call attorneys and they were allowed to make telephone calls to attorneys. At 6:40 AM they were again brought before Judge Rifkind. At this hearing Coplon was represented by Lester Levin, an attorney. Gubitchev still had no attorney. Judge Rifkind set bail at $10,000 for Coplon and advised that she would have an additional hearing at 11:00 AM to enable her to obtain a more experienced counsel. No bail was set for Gubitchev and he was allowed until 11:00 AM to secure counsel. In lieu of bail both Coplon and Gubitchev remained in the custody of the FBI. Gubitchev contacted the Soviet Delegation of the United Nations and advised of his arrest. At 8:04 AM of the same day Mr. Oscar Schachter, attorney for the UN, was admitted to talk briefly to Gubitchev with the approval of Mr. Whearty. Schachter then called the Soviet Delegation of the UN. Shortly after 8:00 AM Leonid A. Morozov, the First Secretary to the Russian representatives to the UN, and his assistant, George Chuchkov, appeared at the New York Office and requested to speak to Gubitchev. They were handled by Mr. Whearty who declined to let them see Gubitchev unless it was to arrange for an attorney. There was some difficulty reaching an understanding because these individuals claimed they did not speak English.

At 11:00 AM, March 5, 1949, Coplon and Gubitchev were taken to Room 318, the District Court of Judge Rifkind. Upon ascertaining that attorneys were not present for either of them, Judge Rifkind recessed until 11:35 AM, at which time Bertram J. Adams appeared as an attorney for Coplon. No counsel appeared for Gubitchev although he advised Judge Rifkind that he had expected counsel. The Government requested $50,000 bail for Coplon and $100,000 bail for Gubitchev. Judge Rifkind set bail at $20,000 for Coplon and $100,000 for Gubitchev, stipulating that when Gubitchev obtained counsel he could apply for a reduction in bail if the arguments so warranted. Coplon waived examination and was remanded to the custody of the United States Marshal. In the absence of counsel for Gubitchev the Judge held that Gubitchev would not waive examination and set his hearing for March 16, 1949. Judge Rifkind advised that if he obtained counsel and so desired, he could waive examination in advance of March 16th.

IDENTIFICATION OF TYPEWRITING AND HANDWRITING

In connection with the exhibits which are attached, you will note that there are thirty-four data sheets which are abstracts of FBI reports. These data sheets were numbered, initialed and dated by the Special Agents who found them in the possession of Coplon. These data sheets are apparently official records of the Foreign Agents Registration Section. The typing appearing on these data sheets has been identified with two typewriters in the Foreign Agents Registration Section. It has been concluded by the FBI examiner that items one through 14 and Item 34 were prepared on a Royal elite typewriter located in Miss Coplon's office. Items 25 through 33, which are carbon copies, were prepared on a Royal elite typewriter located in Room 2216, two doors from Coplon's office. Items No. 15 through No. 24 and the typewritten memorandum dated March 3, 1949 were prepared on a Corona portable typewriter which was located in Coplon's apartment on March 5, 1949, pursuant to a search warrant obtained on March 5, 1949 from the U. S. District Commissioner.

The handwriting appearing on the notes abstracting information from this Bureau's Amtorg memorandum of March 3, 1949 has been identified as Miss Coplon's handwriting.

FURTHER INVESTIGATION BEING CONDUCTED

To contemplate interviewing numerous persons whom we have determined through investigation to be contacts of Coplon. Some of these persons are presently employed in the Department of Justice and others are former employees. Some of these interviews have already been conducted and where pertinent you will be furnished the results. You will be separately advised of the developments in connection with this matter which have a diplomatic aspect.

Examination requested by: Letter dated March 7, 1949

Reference: Document

Examination requested:

- Specimens:
- K15 One box of Write carbon paper, 8" x 10 1/2", manufactured by Write, Inc., Bridgeport, Connecticut, containing black lightweight carbon paper.
 - K16 Two sheets of white mottled-finish paper, approximately 7 1/2" x 10 3/4".
 - K17 Four sheets of thin white paper, approximately 8" x 10 1/2".
 - K18 Two pieces of white bond paper torn on one edge, approximately 8" x 5 1/2".
 - K19 One 3" x 5" bound pad of white paper containing 13 pages.

Results of Examination:

It has been concluded that the paper specimens, Q36, Q37 and Q38 and the paper taken from the subject's room, described above as K17, came from the same original source. This conclusion is based on evidence found that all of these sheets of paper were cut with the same knife. In addition all of the sheets of paper were found to have the same physical properties with respect to size, thickness, color, finish, transparency and fluorescence.

The other paper specimens submitted, K16, K18 and K19, were not similar to any of the other questioned paper previously submitted, Q1 through Q43. It is noted that one sheet of K18 contained a portion of a Government watermark.

None of the carbon paper, K15 had been used. Because of the common type of carbon paper used to prepare specimens Q25 through Q33, which are the only questioned carbon copies thus far submitted, it was not possible to determine whether the carbon paper used to prepare Q25 through Q33 was of the same type as K15.

Specimens Q1 through Q43 are described in the Laboratory report dated March 7, 1949 and were submitted by the New York Office with a letter dated March 4, 1949.

Specimens K16 through K19 will be returned to the Washington Field Office as soon as appropriate photographs of K17 have been made. No photographs of the other specimens will be retained in the Laboratory.

ASAC Belmont of New York called at 1:40 P.M. today and advised that it has been learned through the technical surveillance on Coplon's residence that her brother, Bertram, has indicated that he will attempt to arrange Coplon's release on bail at 2:00 P.M. today. Mr. Belmont stated that he would notify the Bureau immediately if this were done.

The possibility of maintaining a physical surveillance in the event she were released this afternoon was mentioned to Mr. Belmont. He stated that he considers such a step highly undesirable. He explained that she undoubtedly will be in the presence of her attorney and her brother and probably newspaper reporters will be endeavoring to contact her. Mr. Belmont said that in his opinion he did not feel that Coplon would make any contacts of any significance to the case. He feels that if any such contacts are to be made, they probably would be handled either by her brother or some intermediary. Mr. Belmont added that, of course, the Bureau's instruction in this regard would be carried out, that he desired the Bureau to have the benefit of his observation.

I told him that this matter would be discussed with the appropriate Bureau officials and if a surveillance were deemed advisable or necessary, appropriate instructions to this effect would be issued.

Peyton Ford called me on March 7 and wanted to know if any information of value had been obtained from the Department employees who were interviewed in connection with the Judith Coplon case. I advised him that the general reaction had been that they had no knowledge that Coplon was taking home material or in any way cooperating with an outsider; that the general reaction was one of amazement. Ladd

Mr. Ford stated that he had information that a former employee of the Foreign Agents Registration Section, Lou ~~Nemzer~~, might have furnished a statement concerning the Foreign Agents Registration Section in 1946 to the House Committee on Unamerican Activities. He requested that the Bureau files be checked to see if they contained any pertinent information and suggested that Nemzer might be interviewed.

Later, Mr. Foley from the Department came to my office and inquired as to whether it was all right for his section to resume normal business for the purpose of primarily determining whether there was any others in the section who might be suspected. I advised Mr. Foley I could not advise him with reference to this inasmuch as I didn't even know the names of the other people in his section. He stated that there were only three others left, an attorney named Lenvin, a Mrs. Eldred and a Miss Taylor.

Later in the day, Clive Palmer called me and advised that it was believed that Stephen W. ~~Mamchur~~, who was now with Wayne University, was the individual who had furnished a statement in 1946 to the House Committee on Unamerican Activities rather than Lou Nemzer.

It is suggested that the Bureau files be checked for any information on this and that it might be well to interview Mamchur. DL

Mr. Raymond P. Whearty of the Department called at 5:30 P.M. on March 8, 1949, and advised that he was reviewing the report submitted in this case by the WFO. He said that it would be necessary to have [redacted] in New York at 10:00 A.M. on the morning of March 9 for the purpose of testifying before the Grand Jury. Mr. Whearty indicated that it was the desire of the Government to present this case as thoroughly and rapidly as possible and it is hoped that the presentation would not take more than a day or two, which means that [redacted] should not be detained in New York later than March 10, 1949.

Mr. Whearty stated that from his review of the Washington Field Office report thus far he finds that [redacted]

 he undoubtedly would note other information which would have to be presented to the Grand Jury and that he would communicate with me to advise what further testimony was desired. Mr. Whearty did state that [redacted] in this case would, of course, be a necessary Grand Jury witness.

The substance of Mr. Whearty's conversation was made known to Mr. Ladd. In accordance with his instruction I called Supervisor Delavigne of the WFO and told him that [redacted] who could testify to the above information would be necessary witnesses before the Grand Jury in New York City at 10:00 A.M. on March 9. Mr. Delavigne said that [redacted] who could testify to [redacted]

 In addition, Mr. Delavigne pointed out that [redacted]

[redacted] I requested that he also report to the New York Office by 10:00 A.M. on March 9.

I also called Mr. Don Parsons of the FBI Laboratory and advised him of Mr. Whearty's request that [redacted] report to the Southern District of New York at 10:00 A.M. on March 9, 1949.

At 5:40 P.M., March 8, 1949, I called ASAC Belmont of New York to inquire whether there was any change in Coplon's status, that is, whether her family had succeeded in making bail. I told Mr. Belmont that the Washington Field Office was particularly interested in knowing whether Coplon had made bail in connection with its proposed interview with of the State Department.

At 5:50 P.M. Mr. Belmont called back and stated that a check had disclosed that Coplon was still in jail and there was no indication that her family had succeeded in raising the necessary bail.

At 6:30 p.m., March 9, 1949, Mr. William E. Foley of the Department advised me that the press release of the HCUA on the previous day, in which it was stated that they had advised the Department about two years ago of the disloyalty of Coplon, had been the subject of discussion and research in the Department. They were unable to find any record showing that the HCUA had furnished any information to the Department about Coplon. Mr. Foley advised that there was a reference in the HCUA release to a letter dated in September, 1946. It was located and was determined to be the Committee's request for authority to go through the files relating to some Polish matters. The Committee was not authorized to go through the files. Mr. Foley stated that the Attorney General was planning to make a press release denying the statements of the HCUA to the effect that they have furnished the Department information about Coplon and had alerted the Department about her.

Special Assistant to the Attorney General

THOMAS J. DONEGAN
Special Assistant to the Attorney General

For Immediate Release:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Attorney General Tom C. Clark announced tonight that FBI agents had arrested Judith Coplon, 27, an employee of the Department of Justice, and Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, a member of the Russian delegation to the United Nations, in New York City, on charges of conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States pertaining to the removal of Government records and to defraud the United States of the faithful and impartial services of Miss Coplon.

The Attorney General said: The FBI investigation, under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover, culminating in the arrests, was originally initiated as a part of the Federal Employee Loyalty Program; an extensive investigation was initiated. The resulting investigation disclosed clandestine meetings between Miss Coplon and Gubitchev. Gubitchev is described as the Third Secretary of the USSR Secretariat of the United Nations assigned to the Manhattan Office of the United Nations. Continued investigation disclosed that Miss Coplon's activities on March 4, 1949 paralleled her activities prior to other meetings with Gubitchev and, accordingly, her activities were closely scrutinized from the moment she departed from Washington at 1:00 P.M. on Friday, en route to New York City.

Director J. Edgar Hoover stated that FBI agents observed extreme caution on the part of Miss Coplon from the moment she arrived in New York City until her contact with the Russian U.N. employee. From 7:23 P.M., when both appeared at the appointed meeting place at 193rd Street and Broadway, until after 9:00 P.M., both of these individuals avoided direct contact while they employed the numerous techniques used to detect surveillance. They finally effected a contact when both dashed aboard a bus near 42nd Street. The two were taken into custody on 3rd Avenue between 14th and 15th Streets.

Miss Coplon had concealed in her purse a flat package containing typewritten summaries of information abstracted from confidential documents involving security data and restricted information.

The Attorney General, immediately upon being informed by the FBI of Miss Coplon's suspected affiliations, insured against the misuse of restricted information coming into the possession of the Department.

As the investigation progressed the Attorney General, department officials, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI, and State Department officials closely cooperated in bringing the case to a conclusion. Since Gubitchev was an employee of the United Nations Secretariat, the matter is being discussed between State Department officials and officials of the Secretariat.

NATHAN THOMAS ELLIFF - Summary

Background:

A Departmental Applicant investigation was conducted concerning Elliff in 1940, as a result of a request from Mr. Mathew F. McGuire, the Assistant to the Attorney General. The investigation disclosed that he was born at Pekin, Illinois, July 20, 1905. He attended Pekin Community High School from September, 1919, to June, 1923, and graduated with honors. He entered the University of Illinois, September 17, 1923, transferred to the law school, September, 1925, and received his LL.B. Degree on June 13, 1928. He was admitted to the Illinois State Bar October 11, 1928, and was associated with his father in the practice of law in Pekin from 1928 to 1930. For several months during 1930, he was employed in the New Business Department of the St. Louis Union Trust Company, St. Louis, Missouri, and subsequently returned to Pekin and was again associated with his father in the practice of law. He acted as State's Attorney of Tazewell County, Illinois, from 1932 to 1936.

The investigation failed to disclose any derogatory information except that he had a speech impediment and lacked vigor in presenting cases in court.

Employment in the Department:

Elliff's personnel file in the Department indicates that he first took the oath of office on August 20, 1940, as principal attorney in the Criminal Division. On April 29, 1943, he was made a Special Assistant to the Attorney General in the Criminal Division. On April 29, 1944, he was classified as an attorney in the Criminal Division and on March 16, 1945, was again classified as Special Assistant to the Attorney General in the Criminal Division. As of June 16, 1945, he was again classified as an attorney and he resigned on April 4, 1947. As of December 7, 1942, he was referred to as the Assistant Chief of the Internal Security Section and in May, 1946, was referred to as Chief of the Internal Security Section, and in addition to his duties in that regard was carrying the duties and responsibilities of the Chief of the Foreign Agents Registration Section. He is also referred to in the Bureau's files as Chief of the Foreign Agents Registration Section during 1946, and as Chief of the Internal Security Section. The personnel file discloses no derogatory information concerning Elliff and he consistently received excellent efficiency reports. He resigned to return to his private law practice in Pekin, Illinois.

Elliff was one of the nine individuals in the Department of Justice including the Director and the Attorney General, who were recommended for the Selective Service Medal on March 19, 1946. The personnel file indicates that he was for several years occupied primarily with Selective Service matters. (25-00-207)

You will recall that in November, 1945, "Newsweek," carried a story on the case of the eight saboteurs. Assistant Director Nichols was advised confidentially by Colonel McNerney of the Department that John Terrell of "Newsweek" had filched a copy of the transcript pertaining to the saboteur case. It was stated that Terrell got a copy of the transcript from someone in the Criminal Division and that the first draft of the summary had been prepared either by Nathan Elliff or in Elliff's section. Subsequent information received concerning this incident indicated that the Attorney General had approved of giving an advanced copy of the brief to Terrell and that Elliff apparently was only acting pursuant to the Attorney General's instructions, even though the material had not been previously approved by the Bureau. (98-10288-35-29; 94-3-4-61-92 & 100)

On December 5, 1945, Mr. E. A. Tamm met with Mr. James McGranery and others of the Department to discuss the program of conducting investigations of alien property cases in Europe and the Bureau's assignment of Agents to these investigations. Mr. Tamm advised Mr. McGranery of five conditions which must be met before the Director would be in a position to consider the request that Agents be sent to Europe. One of the conditions was that attorneys in the Department with whom the Bureau had been unable to work harmoniously were not to be assigned to handle this matter. Mr. McGranery was advised that the Director would not permit Bureau Agents to undertake an assignment of this kind if "Mr. William Powers Maloney, Mr. Elliff or Mr. Woerhide were to participate in this assignment."

Interview with Stephen W. Mamchur

Dr. Stephen W. Mamchur, in the interview concerning Judith Coplon, stated that she was connected with a group of individuals in the Foreign Agents Registration Section described as "pro-Soviet." This group included Nathan Elliff, Louis Nemzer, and others. According to Mamchur, he recalls nothing specific as to the pro-Soviet attitude of Nathan Elliff except his close and personal association with Nemzer who was his assistant. b7D

Instructions were issued on March 10, 1949, to the Springfield Office to interview Elliff concerning his knowledge of Coplon and as to whether or not anyone had ever furnished him with any derogatory information concerning Judith Coplon.

I called Alex Campbell of the Department on the afternoon of March 11 and advised him that information had been received that Ray Whearty had contacted the New York Office requesting that Judith Coplon be placed under surveillance.

In accordance with the Director's instructions, I informed Mr. Campbell that I thought it would be very undesirable inasmuch as the press was trying to contact her and cover her and it would draw considerable bad comment and would unnecessarily tie up a large number of Agents which the Bureau could not afford to do in view of its commitments.

Mr. Campbell stated in view of all this we should forget the request.

ASAC Belmont, New York, called at 11:25 a.m. today and stated that the arraignment of Coplon and Gubitchev was begun at 10:50 a.m. before Judge Rifkin. Arraignments were completed about 11:20 a.m. He stated that Coplon had entered a plea of not guilty to all counts of the indictment relating to her. The Government had asked for a $50,000 bond and the Judge had set a $20,000 bond. The Government again presented a request for a $50,000 bond, pointing out her elusive tactics in this case. The Judge talked to Coplon, who stated that she had no intention of running out. After the Judge pointed out to Coplon that she must be available, he left the bail at $20,000. The indications are that she will make this bail.

Gubitchev appeared without any counsel, and when the Court asked him if he had counsel, he said no. They asked him if he was going to get counsel and he said no. He said he was a foreigner, had diplomatic status, his arrest was illegal, was a provocation, and he was not going to answer any questions of the Court. The Judge told him that the charges were very grave and that he should not go into Court without an attorney; that the risks were too great. Gubitchev still said he did not want counsel. The Judge said he would appoint one for him because he could not afford to go to trial without one. The Judge set the trial for March 25, 1949, but at the request of Coplon's attorney the date was set as of April 1, 1949. Gubitchev will enter a plea on March 14, 1949.

Mr. Belmont called again at noon and stated he had just received a call from Mr. Ray Whearty, who stated that Mr. Alex Campbell had instructed that Coplon be put under surveillance if and when she is released on bail. Mr. Belmont told Mr. Whearty that he would not put this surveillance on Coplon; that he believed it would be most injudicious and unwise. Reporters and photographers are now hanging around the Detention Quarters awaiting her release. The previous experiences of the Bureau in surveilling her have reflected that she avoids surveillance. Further, her brother, Bert Coplon, plans to take her home immediately so that she cannot be contacted by anyone.

Mr. Whearty stated that he would advise Mr. Campbell that no surveillance would be made. He also told Mr. Belmont that he agreed with his, Belmont's, opinion concerning the surveillance.

Mr. Whearty further advised that the State Department had been in touch with him to secure information which would enable them to respond to a protest received from the Soviet Union with reference to the arrest of Gubitchev. One of the allegations in the protest is that FBI Agents questioned Gubitchev concerning Soviet war factories, war plants, and as to the identities and background activities of his superiors. Mr. Belmont stated he told Mr. Whearty that he did not believe it desirable or proper to deal in generalities, that if he were furnished the exact questions which the State Department wanted answered, the information would be gathered and made available. Mr. Whearty advised that he would get the exact questions which the State Department wanted answered. Mr. Belmont stated that as soon as they are determined, he will get the answers to the questions and will clear the answers with the Bureau before they are furnished to Mr. Whearty.

Mr. Belmont stated that Bert Coplon had been interviewed for two hours last night, and he had dropped into the office today and had talked to him. It appears that Bert Coplon wants to cooperate. He is not permitting the other members of the family to read the newspaper accounts of the case. He wants to get his sister out on bail and indicates he will do everything he can to get her to relate the story to the Bureau. If she won't do it and she furnishes him the story, he will give it to the Bureau. He has expressed concern about the safety of Judith Coplon and he expects trouble around the home because of the feeling which has been engendered by the publicity and the fact that the newspapers are making every effort to interview the family. Mr. Belmont told him that the Bureau could not afford any protection, but that he could alert the police department and would do so. Coplon in very strong language indicated that he wanted to determine the identity of the person who had gotten Judith into this thing. He also indicated that he was a ruined man, that already a very large contract had been cancelled.

The arrests of Miss Judith Coplon, a minor employe of the Department of Justice, and of Valentine Gubichev, a Soviet Russian national in the employ of the United Nations, afford another illustration of how far conspiratorial communism has succeeded in remaking the non-Communist world in its own image. It points up again the discouraging fact that where the passive loyalty of citizens and the active loyalty of persons engaged in confidential Government work cannot be presumed, a considerable advance must be made in the direction of the police state.

The revelations by Igor Gouzenko in the Canadian spy cases was clear proof that oaths and other solemn obligations are an insufficient protection against treacherous conspiracy. It began to appear that henceforward every Government employe must be held suspect until suspicion had been removed by a secret inquiry into his private life, interests, associations and family affairs. This was to say that no Government employe, and perhaps no citizen, would have any longer the right to a private life, since he could never feel himself free of surveillance. This belief was strengthened by testimony of Mr. Chambers and Miss Bentley concerning Communist espionage in very high places in the Government of the United States. An atmosphere began to grow in Washington which was not altogether unlike that of Sixteenth Century Spain, where it was believed that under the mask of formal Catholicism, innumerable infidels and heretics were secretly plotting the overthrow of church and dynasty.

The various inquisitions and investigations set in motion in this country by the report of the Canadian Royal Commission were characterized, not inappropriately, as witch hunts, both by the spokesmen of the Left and by persons fearful of any further extensions of the already enormous police powers of the government. But behind all the smoke there was certainly some fire, just as there was in the case of the European witch hysteria of 400 years ago, according to the judgment of so cautious an historian as the late Sir Charles Oman.

It is obvious that without an elaborate system of counterespionage the association between Miss Coplon and Comrade Gubichev could not have been discovered nor the trap which closed about them last Saturday prepared. How many secret agents of the FBI were required for the purpose, and how much of their time was absorbed by the case there is no way of knowing, but it cannot have been other than an expensive business. If there are many other Miss Coplons in the Government, and many other Gubichevs on the loose in the United States, it is not difficult to imagine a day when undercover police work of this sort will become a principal activity of the Government.

We should be much grieved, however, if the mention of this possibility should be construed as in any way reflecting discredit upon the FBI for its work in this or any similar case. We merely seek to point out the dilemma which is presented to all free governments in the very existence of the Communist conspiracy with its peculiar attractions for certain minds. To fight communism by its own methods, that is, by stealth and duplicity or by intimidation, is to risk a gradual and unwitting drift toward a society in which Communist hunting will become a vested interest. Yet not to fight it by every means possible under our democratic system, would be to invite destruction.

At 11:55 p.m. talking to Mr. Belmont he informed me that the subject Coplon had asked to see an attorney. They referred the matter to Mr. Whearty who said that he could see no reason for allowing her to see an attorney at that time. They are following his advice. He also told me that the subject Gubitchev denied ever speaking to Coplon or even knowing her. Whearty

At 12:25 a.m. on March 5, 1949, Mr. Belmont informed me that he had talked to Mr. Whearty and Mr. Whearty was of the opinion that the Washington Field Office should consult with the United States Attorney and secure a search warrant to examine Coplon's apartment. He said the basis for securing it should be the discovery of the information in her possession, together with the fact that the Agents knew she had a typewriter in her apartment and was using it last night. The reason for the request should be to discover the typewriter and to determine if any similar material was in her possession. In order to insure the issuance of the search warrant Mr. Whearty suggested that Mr. Peyton Ford call Mr. Morris Fay, the United States Attorney here and solicit his cooperation so the warrant would be issued at the earliest possible time. You recall I spoke to you about this. At your suggestion I informed Mr. Belmont that the information concerning the presence of the typewriter was obtained over a tech and therefore could not be used. While talking to Mr. Nichols I explained the above to him. He said that he would discuss it with Mr. Ford who he anticipated seeing shortly.

While talking to Mr. Belmont he told me that Mr. Ford had been in touch with Mr. Whearty and that they were attempting to perfect arrangements whereby the subjects would be arraigned before a local magistrate. Mr. Whearty appeared to oppose this on the grounds that the night magistrate might not know too much about the matter, or the extent of his authority together with the fact that there would be police reporters present and the full benefit of a press release would not be secured. Mr. Ford, on the other hand, appeared to be strongly in favor of the arraignment. He said that as an alternative proposal they were attempting to secure a local Federal Judge who would be willing to come down to handle the arraignment. In addition to the foregoing they were contemplating calling the First Secretary of the USSR Delegation to the United Nations and advising him of the apprehension of Gubitchev and of the fact that he would be arraigned as soon as possible. I suggested to Mr. Belmont that he allow Mr. Whearty to handle this phase of the matter. He said he would do so. I informed Mr. Ladd of the foregoing and you will recall that I discussed it with you. lm

At 1:33 a.m. I talked to SAC, Scheidt. He said that at the time they were considering charging the subjects with conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States, namely to violate Section 2071 (removal of government records) and to defraud the United States of the faithful and impartial services of the Defendant Coplon. After informing Mr. Ladd of the foregoing and at his suggestion I called Mr. Schiedt at 1:45 a.m. and told him that he should suggest the possibility of including within the complaint a charge of conspiring to violate the Espionage Statute.

At 4:15 a.m. while talking to Mr. Schiedt he said that the complaint had been changed and it now contained charges of conspiring to 1). commit espionage, 2). remove records of the Department of Justice pertaining to the National Defense, and 3). defraud the United States Government of the services of the Defendant Coplon. The complaint has been transmitted in toto to the Bureau by teletype, a copy of which is attached hereto.

Mr. Scheidt also informed me that they had been successful in securing Judge Simon H. Rifkind. He said that they had sent a car for him and that the arraignment would be conducted as soon as he arrived.

At 5:03 Mr. Schiedt called me. He said that the subjects had been taken before Judge Rifkind at approximately 4:50 a.m. The judge read the complaint to them and explained its contents. He informed them that they had a right to have counsel represent them, that they did not have to say anything and that anything they might say could be used against them. He told them that they were entitled to a preliminary hearing or could waive the same, but if they desired a hearing that the government would have to prove the existence of probable cause. Coplon indicated that she did not have an attorney but desired one. Gubitchev strongly protested against the action taken. He said that he was not a citizen, that he had a diplomatic passport and diplomatic status. He was again asked if he wanted counsel and after protesting he indicated that he did. He demanded the right to call a representative of his government. Mr. Whearty did not object to this procedure whereupon the judge instructed that the Agents accompany the subjects to phones and afford them the use of the same. Both you and Mr. Ladd were immediately informed concerning this.

Gubitchev called the Russian Delegation to the United Nations and spoke to the night man. He asked to be placed in touch with Morosov (otherwise unidentified). Not being able to reach Morosov he asked the night man to contact Malik, head of the USSR delegation to the United Nations and inform Malik and no one else that he had been arrested and for Malik to get an official representative down to the court house immediately. He did not go into details.

Prior to the arraignment Mr. Whearty served [redacted] with subpoenas to appear before the Grand Jury on Monday. [redacted] [redacted] I immediately informed Mr. Peyton Ford and Mr. Nichols of the foregoing. Mr. Ford said that they were going to issue the general press release immediately. At his instruction I called Mr. Scheidt and informed him that they should no statement there concerning the matter.

While talking to Mr. Belmont he informed me through Mr. Whearty he had learned that the State Department had informed the United Nations of the arrest of Gubitchev and that the United Nations would get in touch with Gubitchev. Apparently as a result of this one Thomas Powers and one ~~Shachter~~ called Whearty concerning Gubitchev.

During a conversation with Mr. Belmont at 6:08 a.m. he informed me that a Lester M. Levin, an attorney at 39 Broadway had just arrived at the office and was representing Coplon.

Mr. Scheidt called at 7:15 a.m. He said that the hearing had been continued at 6:45 a.m. before the same judge. Attorney Levin represented Coplon, but Gubitchev was not represented by counsel. In view of this fact no discussion was had concerning his bail and the hearing was continued until 11:00 a.m. In addition to this Levin wants to confer with his more season associate concerning the case. Coplon's bail was set at $10,000 until the hearing at 11:00 a.m. During the hearing Mr. Whearty made a little speech in which he said that he was going to recommend bail of $100,000 for Gubitchev and $50,000 for Coplon. This was based on the fact that Gubitchev might flee if his bail was low enough. The question arose as to what should be done with the subjects until 11 a.m. Between the judge and Mr. Whearty it was decided to have the Agents retain custody of them. You recall that I discussed this with you.

Mr. Scheidt called me again at 7:55 and said that two Russians, namely Leonid A. ~~Morozov~~ who described himself as the First Secretary of the Russian Delegation to the United Nations and his assistant George Chuchkov called and wanted to speak to Gubitchev. They talked to Mr. Whearty exclusively. He told them five or six times that they could speak to him if they wanted to see him about an attorney. This was done because of the Judges instructions. It appears that Morozov spoke only Russian. Since Whearty informed them that they could only speak to them if they wanted to talk to him about an attorney they left without talking to him. After their departure Mr. Whearty raised the question about the availability of a Russian speaking agent. Mr. Scheidt told him that none was immediately available--and there wasn't. Afterwards he raised the question as to the advisability of allowing one of our agents to appear before them. He and Mr. Whearty decided that it would not be a good idea. I have informed Mr. Ladd, Mr. Nichols of the above.

On September 15, 1947 the Justice Department submitted a Loyalty Form on Ulda Lillian Johnson Eldred, who was born March 21, 1912 at Altoona, Kansas and who was employed by the Department of Justice as a Secretary. On this Loyalty Form she listed her husband's name as being George Donald Eldred who was born February 22, 1907 at Altoona, Pennsylvania. This form reflects that Mrs. Eldred had been employed by the Department of Justice since 1937 and had resided since 1937 at 1620 E Street, N.E., Washington, D. C. This form was returned to the Department of Justice with a notation that no disloyalty data were found in the Bureau's files. (121-4-390730)

According to [] on December 19, 1947, Ruth Rifkin, Martin Popper's Secretary, spoke to Miss Copeland (Judith Coplon) at Extension 1134 in the Justice Department, who said "they saw the film which are four reels" and she asked Rifkin to inform the New York party not to send any more film; that the film was sent by bonded messenger, but the Government "doesn't have that facility to return them and they will return the film by Railway express." She stated that she didn't know the value for the insurance. Ruth Rifkin suggested she hold the film because Martin Popper would be back in town and she would ask him about the value. Copeland (Coplon) suggested Ruth Rifkin call Mrs. Eldred on Extension 1188 concerning this.

It is to be noted that Ruth Riskin resided at McLean Gardens, which is the same apartment development where Coplon lives. The above call would also appear to be in connection with the regular duties of Judith Coplon and Ulda Eldred.

The same informant also reflected an earlier call from Miss Copeland (Judith Coplon) on December 19, 1947 to Elaine West for Martin Popper. West suggested Popper's secretary call her. Copeland said to have Ruth Rifkin call her at the Department of Justice, Extension 1134.

At 6:40 p.m. this date, ASAC A. H. Belmont of New York called and said that as of 6:15 p.m. tonight Subject Coplon was still in the House of Detention. He informed me that her brother, together with her attorney, Bertram Adams, came in to see him this morning. They requested that a pass be issued to Coplon's brother so that he would be able to talk with her in person without the screen which apparently he must use at the present time. ASAC Belmont informed them the matter would have to be taken up with Mr. Whearty or Mr. Donegan. Coplon and Adams also wanted to know if the Bureau would afford the subject (Coplon) protection in the event she was released on bond, since apparently they had received several crank letters already. ASAC Belmont informed them that we definitely would not, since it was not within our province to do so.

They also wanted to know if Judith Coplon's brother could come to Washington and pick up some ^{material} letters from her apartment which she desired. Mr. Belmont informed he would clear this matter with Mr. Whearty. He talked to Mr. Whearty and Mr. Whearty told him to tell Coplon's brother that if he would contact Mr. Whearty ^{in Washington} sometime next week, possibly Tuesday, he, Mr. Whearty, would make arrangements for him to gain entrance to his sister's apartment. In addition to the above, Mr. Belmont informed me that the Grand Jury had returned indictments against Coplon and Gubitchev today. This information was secured very confidentially, however, and should not be disseminated at this time.

Mr. Belmont informed me, however, that Assistant Attorney General Campbell had been advised of the action taken. The Grand Jury voted on the indictments; however, the indictments have not been presented to the District Judge as yet. The tentative indictment is in four counts. Count No. 1 charges both of them with conspiring to violate the espionage statutes (18 USC, 371). Count No. 2 charges Coplon with attempted espionage (18 USC, 793). Count No. 3 charges Gubitchev with attempted espionage (18 USC, 793). Count No. 4 charges Coplon with attempting to transmit information in the Department of Justice files to Gubitchev (18 USC, 794). len

Mr. Belmont informed me that the indictment had been drawn up by the indictment expert in the Department of Justice; however, it will be studied by the USA and thereafter signed and delivered to the Judge sometime between 11:30 and 11:45 a.m. tomorrow morning. At that time or shortly thereafter a press release will be issued by the Attorney General from Washington. WJH

In addition to the foregoing, Mr. Belmont informed me that he had learned through discussions with Mr. Whearty and Mr. Donegan that the Department is considering obtaining an indictment against Judith Coplon in Washington, D. C. Definite plans in this regard have not been formulated and it is simply in the discussion stage at this time. The nature of the indictment contemplated is also unknown.

I furnished this information to Mr. Ladd and pursuant to his instructions advised Mr. McGuire concerning the indictment.

Coplon Girl Tagged As Pro-Red in 1946

A professor in a Midwestern university warned the House Committee on Un-American Activities about Judith Coplon, now charged with being in a spy conspiracy as far back as 1946.

Representative John S. Wood (D. Ga.) chairman of the committee, said in a formal statement yesterday that the professor named Miss Coplon as one of four "pro-Soviet" Department of Justice employees who had "subordinated certain investigations referred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section."

Miss Coplon, 27, was an analyst in this section when she was arrested in New York last Friday night along with Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, a Russian engineer on the staff of the United Nations. They were charged with conspiracy to commit espionage to remove Government documents relating to national defense.

Wrote Committee in 1946

Chairman Wood did not name the Midwestern university professor who wrote to the Un-American Affairs Committee on September 3, 1946.

"The professor," he said, "stated that the employees of the Registration Section of the Department of Justice were adopting a policy that everything pro-Soviet was considered legitimate activity, and that everything anti-Soviet was condemned by the employees of the Registration Section."

Four names of persons who were employed in this section at that time were given by the informant. One of them was Judith Coplon.

Required to Register

Under the law, foreign agents or their representatives in the United States are required to register with the Department of Justice. Miss Coplon, a graduate of Barnard College, was an analyst in the Registration Section and was valued because of her knowledge of foreign languages.

The professor stated, Chairman Wood said, that certain investigations referred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the department were in fact being subordinated and knowledge of the same was being prevented from reaching higher officials of the Justice Department.

He said the professor furnished information about certain individuals who should have registered as foreign agents but never did so. This, he represented the professor as saying, was because of "manipulation" by certain individuals connected with the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice.

Chairman Wood said the files showed that the Un-American Affairs Committee requested certain information from the Department of Justice regarding the foreign agents registration section. This request, he said, was referred to one of the four persons in the section about whom the midwestern professor had complained.

Never Furnished

At any rate, he said, the information requested was never furnished.

The Georgia law-maker said that legislation was now being prepared which would be directed at individuals active in espionage rings and individuals who form Communist cells within the Government.

He said that the clerical staff of the committee was now trying to answer a backlog of 250,000 communications from the American public.

Hearings soon would be held, he said, on the proposed new laws. Woman Still in Jail

Meantime, Miss Coplon still was in jail in New York, having failed to raise $20,000 bail. Gubitchev, the Russian engineer, also was in jail, the Soviet government having failed thus far to put up $100,000 bail.

A New York grand jury will resume its inquiry into the espionage case today listening first to one of the FBI agents who arrested the couple last Friday.

Over the weekend it was reported that a roundup of other suspected Government employees would grow out of the Coplon-Gubitchev case.

From all indications, however, Miss Coplon had no confederates in the Government service. In any case, it was evident yesterday that wholesale arrests of Government workers was in prospect.

Reference is made to the Bureau's memorandum to you on March 8, 1949, in connection with certain information which had been confidentially furnished to the Bureau by Mr. Walter Sanford who is employed in the Department of Labor. Mr. Sanford stated, upon a recontact with a Bureau official, that [redacted] who has been closely connected with Coplon has been receiving numerous telephone calls and that she only says a few words, then gets some nickels and goes out to a pay station to make a call.

Mr. Sanford further advised that Miss Mildred S. I received a telephone call from Walter Sanford, the Department of Labor, who previously furnished information to Mr. Gregg. Mr. Sanford stated that [] who has been closely connected with subject Coplon has been receiving numerous telephone calls today and that she only says a few words, then gets some nickels and goes out to a pay station outside the office.

Sanford further advised that Miss Mildred S. Barber whose name was furnished to Mr. Gregg as having considerable information about [] informed him that [] boy friend is named [] originally graduated from Amhurst, then entered Harvard Law School, and according to Miss Barber was the organizer of a law guild which she believed to be subversive.

AFTER NEMZERS MANIPULATION TO KEEP COPLON IN THE FAR SECTION HE ANNOUNCED THAT SHE WOULD TAKE OVER THE WORK IN THE SLAV FIELD WHICH DR. MAMZUR HAD BEEN HANDLING. DR. MAMZUR ARRIVED AT THE CONCLUSION THAT THE CLIQUE MENTIONED WAS PRO SOVIET BECAUSE OF THE FOLLOWING.

NEMZER, KNOWN TO THE INFORMANT FROM SOME TIME IN FORTYTWO, CONSISTENTLY REFERRED TO THE HCUA AS A FASCIST GROUP, STATED THAT DIRECTOR J. EDGAR HOOVER WAS A FASCIST AND THAT THE FBI WAS ONLY AFTER COMMUNISTS AND ANTI SOVIETS AND QUOTE SAW THINGS UNQUOTE. ^{NEMZER} ~~NUMBER~~ ALSO REFERRED TO ANYONE ANTI SOVIET AS FASCISTS AND CONTINUOUSLY CHARGED RED BAITING TO ANY STAND TAKEN BY PERSONS CRITICIZING COMMUNISTS OR PRO COMMUNIST ACTIVITIES. INFORMANT STATES THAT NATHAN ELLIFF ALSO CHARGED RED BAITING TO ANTI COMMUNIST ACTIVITY AND EXPRESSED DISPLEASURE WITH THE HCUA. BOTH HE AND NEMZER WERE HEARD TO TERM HCUA MEMBERS QUOTE THOSE S. O. B. S UNQUOTE.

INFORMANT RECALLED OVERHEARING NEMZER TALKING TO ~~DAVID KARR~~, ALIAS ~~KATZ~~, WHOSE CONNECTION AT THAT TIME WAS NOT KNOWN TO THE INFORMANT, RE A CHARGE OF BEING A NAZI AGENT MADE BY ~~ALBERT KAHN~~, JR., EDITOR OF QUOTE THE HOUR UNQUOTE, AGAINST ~~NICHOLAS GRIGORIEFF~~, A FORMER ^{PROF} PROFESSOR AT THE UKRAINIAN UNIVERSITY, PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA.

THIS CHARGE RESULTED IN A LIBEL SUIT AGAINST KAHN AND WAS MADE IN SOME ISSUE OF QUOTE THE HOUR UNQUOTE. INFORMANT OVERHEARD NEMZER TELL KARR THAT THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE KNEW OF NO JUSTIFICATION FOR THE CHARGE MADE AGAINST GRIGORIEFF. SHORTLY THEREAFTER INFORMANT BELIEVES KAHN MADE A TRIP

END PAGE THREE

TO WASHINGTON FOR THE PURPOSE OF DISCUSSING THE LIBEL SUIT WITH KARR, THE RESULT OF SUCH DISCUSSION BEING A SETTLEMENT OF THE SUIT OUT OF COURT. NEMZER ALWAYS RECOMMENDED QUOTE THE HOUR UNQUOTE TO THE ANALYSTS IN THE FAR SECTION AS BEING A GOOD SOURCE OF INFO AND RECOMMENDED THE QUOTE NEWS LETTER UNQUOTE OF THE ANTI DEFAMATION LEAGUE, BELIEVING THAT THE CHARGES OF PRO NAZISM THEREIN WERE GOOD BASES FOR INVESTIGATION. INFORMANT STATES NEMZER ACQUAINTED WITH ALBERT PERRY, FIRST EDITOR OF QUOTE THE HOUR UNQUOTE, AND KNEW PERRY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO, WHERE BOTH NEMZER AND PERRY ATTENDED. NEMZER INTRODUCED PERRY TO INFORMANT IN LATE FORTYTWO OR EARLY FORTYTHREE. NEMZER ALSO ACQUAINTED WITH ONE GOLD, BELIEVED BY THE INFORMANT TO BE POSSIBLY BEN GOLD, WHO WAS WITH THE FOREIGN NATIONALITY SECTION OF OSS, AT ABOUT THE SAME TIME. INFORMANT HAD NO INFO AS TO COMMUNIST ACTIVITIES OR CONNECTIONS ON PART OF GOLD. INFORMANT ALSO STATED THAT ALBERT KAHN, JR., HAD ARNOLD MARGOLAN FIRED FROM OSS ON A TRUMPED UP CHARGE OF BEING A FASCIST. INFORMANT COULD NOT CONNECT THIS WITH NEMZER EXCEPT THAT MARGOLAN'S DAUGHTER, A MRS. HANSEN, Handed Nemzer with FAR East section in WORKED ~~AT THE FAR SECTION IN WASHINGTON~~ FORTYTWO AND AT ONE TIME TOLD INFORMANT HE WAS A QUOTE TERRIBLE UKRAINIAN NATIONALIST UNQUOTE. INFORMANT STATES INVESTIGATOR RUSSELL OF THE HCUA IN MARCH OR APRIL OF FORTYSIX CAME TO THE FAR SECTION FOR INFO ON ONE ANTHONY BIMBA. RUSSELL WAS REFERRED TO NEMZER OR DAVID BOOKSTAVAR, AS A RESULT OF WHICH RUSSELL WAS NOT GIVEN ANY INFO AND WORD CAME DOWN THROUGH NEMZER THAT THEY WERE

NOT TO BOTHER WITH HCUA REQUESTS FOR INFO. INFORMANT BELIEVES THAT ELLIFF WAS IN AGREEMENT WITH THIS. INFORMANT STATED THAT NEMZER HAD RECOMMENDED THE REGISTRATION OF THE CP OF INDIA AS FOREIGN AGENTS ON ONE OCCASION. INFORMANT FELT THAT THIS MIGHT POSSIBLY HAVE BEEN A COVER UP. INFORMANT RECALLS THAT DAVID BOOKSTAVER WAS CONTACTED IN LATE FORTYFIVE OR EARLY FORTYSIX BY SEVERAL AGENTS OF THE PRO SOVIET POLISH GOVERNEMENT, WHO WERE INQUIRING OVER THE PHONE AS TO THE NECESSITY FOR REGISTERING UNDER THE RA. BOOKSTAVER INTIMATED THAT THEY SHOULD NOT ASK HIM IF THEY HAD TO REGISTER, INDICATING THEREBY THAT IF THEY DID HE WOULD HAVE TO SAY YES. HE TOLD THE AGENTS TO QUOTE FORGET IT UNQUOTE AND NOBODY WOULD BOTHER THEM IF THEY DID NOT REGISTER. INFORMANT STATES BOOKSTAVER KEPT NO MINUTES AT CONFERENCES HELD WITH POSSIBLE REGISTRANTS UNDER THE RA WHICH WAS AGAINST THE FAR SECTION POLICY. A POLITICAL ANALYST WAS NOT AT SOME OF THESE CONFERENCES HELD BY BOOKSTAVER WHICH ALSO WAS AGAINST THE POLICY. INFORMANT DURING HIS WORK IN THE FAR SECTION NOTICED THAT HE WAS NOT GETTING CERTAIN FILES AND CORRESPONDENCE HE BELIEVED WERE IN EXISTENCE FROM A MRS. THOMAS, IN CHARGE OF DOCUMENTS OF THE SECTION. HE LEARNED THAT BOOKSTAVER HAD TOLD HER TO SEND THE CORRESPONDENCE AND FILES TO HIM INSTEAD OF TO THE INFORMANT. INFORMANT IS UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT BOOKSTAVER MAY HAVE DISPOSED OF SOME CORRESPONDENCE RELATING TO ENFORCEMENT OF THE RA. INFORMANT RECALLS NOTHING SPECIFIC AS TO THE PRO SOVIET ATTITUDE OF NATHAN ELLIFF EXCEPT HIS CLOSE AND PERSONAL ASSOCIATION WITH NEMZER, WHO WAS HIS ASSISTANT. ELLIFF OFTEN BELITTLED THE INFORMANTS EFFORTS TO MORE RIGIDLY ENFORCE THE RA AND DEFINITELY DID NOT WANT THE ACT ENFORCED. ELLIFF WAS A CLOSE FRIEND OF NEMZER IN AND OUT OF THE OFFICE. - INFORMANT BELIEVES NEMZER HAD MUCH INFLUENCE WITH ELLIFF. INFORMANT TERMS [REDACTED] QUOTE SLAVE UNQUOTE OF NEMZER AND KNEW THEM TO BE GOOD FRIENDS. HE RECALLS NOTHING SPECIFIC BUT DOES KNOW THAT [REDACTED] HAD MADE OVER A PERIOD OF TIME GENERAL REMARKS AGAINST THE HCUA. [REDACTED] REMARKS INDICATED TO THE INFORMANT THAT HE WAS A QUOTE LEFTIST UNQUOTE. INFORMANT DID NOT CONSIDER LEON SEGAL AS PRO SOVIET BUT CONNECTED HIM WITH THE GROUP ONLY BECAUSE NEMZER WAS FAVORABLE TOWARD SEGAL AND SEEMS TO HAVE PROTECTED HIM. INFORMANT ALSO ASSERTED THAT NEMZER HAD FORMED A LUNCHEON GROUP COMPOSED OF PERSONS WORKING IN THE EAST EUROPEAN FIELD IN ALL THE GOVERNMENT AGENCIES, THAT IS, JUSTICE, FEA, G TWO, ONI AND OSS. INFORMANT DOES NOT RECALL THAT NEMZER EVER ANNOUNCED A SPECIFIC PURPOSE FOR THESE LUNCHEONS. THE INFORMANT ADVISES THAT HE HAS NEVER REPORTED THE ABOVE INFO TO THE FBI, HE RECALLS THAT TWO FBI AGENTS MADE A SURVEY OF THE DEPARTMENT IN FORTYFIVE, IT WAS HIS DESIRE TO TELL ^{them} ~~them~~ OF HIS SUSPICIONS REGARDING EMPLOYEES OF THE FAR SECTION BUT HE DOES NOT BELIEVE HE HAD THE OPORTUNITY TO DO SO. INFORMANT DOES RECALL HAVING DISCUSSED INDIVIDUAL ^{Registration} CASES WITH UNIDENTIFIED OFFICIALS OF THE FBI BUT DID NOT MENTION HIS SUSPICIONS BECAUSE HE WAS AFRAID IT WOULD GET BACK TO NATHAN ELLIFF OR NEMZER.

HE HAS NEVER

END PAGE SIX

REPORTED ALL OF THIS INFO TO ANYONE IN THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE ITSELF, ALTHOUGH HE TALKED IN A GENERAL WAY OF IT URGING MORE RIGID ENFORCEMENT OF THE RA TO LARRY KNAPP, ELLIFFS PREDECESSOR AS CHIEF OF THE FAR SECTION, TO ONE MC CAULEY, AN ADMINISTRATOR IN THE INTERNAL SECURITY SECTION OF THE DEPARTMENT, AND TO JAMES MC INERNEY, FORMER CHIEF OF THE INTERNAL SECURITY SECTION AND LATER ASSISTANT TO THE AG.

~~INFORMANT~~ ^{INFORMANT} DOES NOT BELIEVE HE MENTIONED ANY NAMES

BECAUSE OF HIS FEAR THAT HE WOULD BE ACCUSED OF TRYING TO RETAIN HIS POSITION. KNAPP INDICATED HE WAS INTERESTED AND WOULD DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT BUT LEFT IN NOVEMBER, FORTYFIVE, TO GO WITH THE STATE DEPARTMENT AND IT WAS THEN OUT OF HIS JURISDICTION. MCCAULEY SUGGESTED THAT HE SEE MC INERNEY. MC INERNEY, WHEN THE MATTER WAS DISCUSSED WITH HIM IN FORTYSIX, GAVE THE INFORMANT NO SPECIFIC ENCOURAGEMENT. AFTER RESIGNING, INFORMANT WENT TO THE HCUA IN AUGUST, FORTYSIX, FOR INFO TO ASSIST IN A BOOK INFORMANT PLANNED TO WRITE. HE, WHILE THERE, DISCUSSED WITH INVESTIGATOR RUSSELL HIS SUSPICIONS OF A PRO SOVIET CLIQUE IN CHARGE OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE REGISTRATION ACT IN THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE AS SET OUT ABOVE. HE DOES NOT RECALL THAT RUSSELL SHOWED A GREAT DEAL OF INTEREST AND STATES THAT HE HAS NEVER BEEN CALLED TO TESTIFY BEFORE THE HCUA. INFORMANT DOES NOT RECALL IF HE MENTIONED JUDITH COPLONS NAME SPECIFICALLY TO RUSSELL. INFORMANT GAVE INTERVIEWING AGENTS THE NAMES OF TWO PERSONS WHO WERE DISCHARGED FROM THE FAR SECTION IN THE REDUCTION OF PERSONNEL IN EARLY FORTYSIX AND WHO SHARED HIS OPINIONS AS TO THE PRO SOVIET CLIQUE THEREIN. THESE ARE MISS FRANCES BUTLER AND MISS AVANZINO. HE DOES NOT KNOW WHERE THEY ARE NOW EMPLOYED. ACCORDING TO THE INFORMANT, THE FEMALE EMPLOYEES IN THE FAR SECTION HATED JUDITH COPLON AND HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH HER BUT HE DOES NOT KNOW THE REASON FOR THIS HATRED. INFORMANT BELIEVES THAT JESSE MCKNIGHT, WHO WAS NEMZERS PREDECESSOR AS TOP POLITICAL ANALYST WAS NOT PRO COMMUNIST OR PRO SOVIET BUT DID GIVE NEMZER, WHO WAS WORKING UNDER HIM AT THE TIME, THE QUOTE RUN OF THE DEPARTMENT UNQUOTE. INFORMANT WAS NOT ASKED DIRECTLY IF HE HAD EVER MADE A REPORT TO THE HCUA. HE PROFFERED THE INFO, COMMENTING THAT HE HAD SEEN AN ARTICLE IN THE PAPER RE A SOCIOLOGY PROFESSOR WHO HAD GIVEN INFO TO THE HCUA AND HAD CONCLUDED THEREFROM THAT HE WAS THE PERSON INVOLVED. THE INFORMANT REQUESTED THAT THE INFO FURNISHED HEREIN NOT BE GIVEN TO THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE IF NATHAN ELLIFF AND OR LOUIS NEMZER COULD COME INTO POSSESSION OF IT.

DETROIT INDICES REFLECT THAT THE DIRECTORY OF UKRAINIAN PROFESSIONAL ASSN PUBLISHED NINETEEN THIRTYNINE INCLUDED NAME OF INFORMANT AS MEMBER OF THIS ORGANIZATION. UPA FOUNDED SUMMER NINETEEN THIRTYTHREE CHICAGO NOT INCORPORATED. PURPOSE TO HELP SOLVE PROBLEMS OF UKRAINIAN PEOPLE AND WORK TOWARD THEIR INDEPENDENCE IN UKRAINIA. DISCLAIMED ANY FOREIGN CONNECTIONS. IN NINETEEN THIRTYEIGHT SOME MEMBERS UPA ADVOCATED SUPPORT OF HITLER BELIEVING INDEPENDENT UKRAINE WOULD RESULT AND THEY WOULD BE SAVED FROM COMMUNISM. BACKGROUND

Judith Coplon was born May 17, 1921 in Brooklyn, New York. After attending the public schools and graduating from James Madison High School, Brooklyn, New York, she entered Barnard College, from which she graduated in June of 1943 with an AB degree as an honor student. In June, 1943 she entered the employ of the Department of Justice in New York City. On February 16, 1945 she came to the Department of Justice at Washington, D. C.

Valentine Alekskevich Gubitchev was born June 24, 1916, Ikol-oskoie, Orlov Province, U. S. S. R. At the time of his entry into the United States he was described as the Third Secretary of the USSR Secretariat of the United Nations. A recent listing, however, indicates he is assigned to the Planning Office of the Department of Administrative and Financial Services of the Manhattan Office of the United Nations.

Director J. Edgar Hoover stated that FBI Agents observed extreme caution on the part of ~~Miss Coplon~~ ^{Julia} from the moment she arrived in New York City until her contact with the Russian U. N. employee. From 7:23 pm when both appeared at the appointed meeting place at 193rd St. and Broadway until after 9 pm, both of these individuals avoided direct contact while they employed the numerous techniques used to detect surveillances. They finally affected a contact when both dashed aboard a bus near 42nd Street. The two were taken into custody on 3rd Avenue between 14th and 15th Streets.

Miss Coplon had concealed in her purse a flat package containing typewritten summaries of information abstracted from confidential documents involving security data and restricted information.

The Attorney General, immediately upon being informed by the FBI of Miss Coplon's suspected affiliations, insured against the misuse of restricted information coming into the possession of the department.

As the investigation progressed the Attorney General, department officials, Director J. Edgar Hoover, and State Department officials closely cooperated in bringing the case to a conclusion. Since Gubitchev was an employee of the United Nations Secretariat, the matter is being discussed between State Department officials and officials of the Secretariat.

Attorney General Tom C. Clark announced tonight that FBI Agents arrested Judith Coplon, 27, an employee of the Department of Justice, and Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, a member of the Russian delegation to the United Nations, in New York City, on charges of Conspiracy to commit an offense against The United States pertaining to the removal of Government records and defraud the U. S. of the faithful and impartial services of Miss Coplon.

The Attorney General said --- The FBI investigation under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover, culminating in the arrests was originally initiated as a part of the Federal Employee Loyalty Program; an extensive investigation was initiated. The resulting investigation disclosed clandestine meetings between Miss Coplon and Gubitchev. Gubitchev is described as the Third Secretary of the USSR Secretariat of the United Nations assigned to the Manhattan office of the U. N. Continued investigation disclosed that Miss Coplon's activities on March 4, 1949 paralleled her activities prior to other meetings with Gubitchev and, accordingly, her activities were closely scrutinized from the moment she departed from Washington at 1 p.m. Friday, en route to New York City.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR
FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Re: Judith Coplon - Espionage

Referring to the above matter, it is understood that there probably will be a meeting between the subjects in New York on the evening of March 4, 1949, at which time a transmission of information or documents relating to the national defense or other government materials or information may be effected.

It is the desire of the Department that this meeting be covered by the Bureau and, in the event it appears a transmission has occurred, that the subjects be apprehended. Upon such apprehension, both should be searched and questioned. If it is thus established that a transmission of documentary information within the terminology of the Espionage Act (viz. "relating to the national defense") has been effected or that a removal of government records within the purview of Sections 641 or 2071, Title 18 U.S. Code (1948 Ed.), has occurred, prosecution should be initiated by the filing of a complaint with the United States Commissioner and the prompt arraignment of both defendants. The prosecutive phase of the matter should be handled by the United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

If on the other hand it is found upon searching and questioning the subjects that no transmission has occurred and that no prior transmission of material and relevant data is admitted, the subject Gubitcher should be released promptly. The subject Coplon, however, in addition to the Bureau's questioning, should be served with a subpoena to appear before the regular Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York at its earliest following session and there should be examined at length under oath concerning every phase of this matter. Such examination, of course, will be conducted by the United States Attorney or one of his Assistants. The Bureau should exercise every precaution, however, to be cognizant of the subject's activities from the point of apprehension up to her examination before the Grand Jury and should endeavor, so far as possible, to prevent any collusive contacts with others which might afford opportunity for fabricating or altering testimony. The subject Gubitcher should also be subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury on the same date as the subject Coplon but should not be detained unnecessarily prior thereto if the results of the apprehension are negative.

It will be appreciated if you will arrange to advise me immediately as to developments in this matter in order that the State Department may be informed and enabled to make such contact with The Secretary General of the United Nations as may be necessary.

Notwithstanding the directions in the foregoing paragraphs, it is not intended hereby to restrict the Bureau in the exercise of its sound discretion as to whether the events as they develop on March 4th warrant the steps here outlined. If the agents covering the case feel the circumstances are unfavorable for carrying out the proposed action and that it should be delayed until a subsequent meeting, the decision is left to them.

Similarly, if you are of the opinion that the national interest will be better served by continuing observation for a further period to determine whether espionage of a more serious character is involved, do not hesitate to so advise the Department. Should you be of the opinion that the case should not be brought to an issue at this time, I should like to have your views as to whether the subject Coplon should be separated from the Department now or continued in her present capacity to permit of such observation. If separated, however, further surveillance of the subject Gubitcher should be so conducted as not to raise prematurely questions of a political nature before the Government is ready to act finally on the case.

Office Memorandum • UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : Mr. Fletcher WBFw

FROM : R. C. Godfrey

ESPIONAGE - R*Ladd*

Being handled on indiv basis

Mr. Ladd called at 4:40 PM advising that he had received following request from Mr. Peyton Ford, East. to the AG:

Any information concerning statements of substance concerning the case which may have been obtained from the interviews of Department of Justice employees.

Any like information which may have been obtained from the interviews of other contacts, friends, associates, etc., of the subject.

Mr. Ladd further advised that Mr. Ford believed that the person who had provided information to the House Committee on Un-American Activities concerning certain alleged conditions relating to certain practises in the Department, as reflected in the press this morning originating with Mr. Nixon (Congressman from California) and another spokesman for the HCUA, came from LOU NEMZER a former employee of the Department.

ENCL III

Mr. Ladd wanted Bureau files checked on NEMZER. Particular attention was to be given to any information indicating that NEMZER had previously provided information related to these alleged conditions either to the Department of Justice, the Bureau, or the HCUA. Also any information indicating that HCUA may have provided such information to the Bureau on any previous occasion.

I called Mr. Delavigne, WFO, who advised that the interviews thus far had not provided any substantive information from employees of the Department of Justice or other persons questioned indicating a knowledge by them of the espionage activities of the subject. Mr. Delavigne stated that the interviews were not as yet complete, however, and a number of the prospective interviewees were not yet available. He said one of the persons interviewed, [redacted] of the State Department an associate of the subject would be given more investigative attention as a possible subject. [redacted] made no admissions during his interview by WFO agents.

RECORDED

Mr. Delavigne further stated that authority had been granted to interview LOUIS NEMZER and arrangements would be made to have him located it being believed that he is presently at Ohio State University.

65-58365-252

Mr. Ladd was informed of the foregoing information. Mr. Ladd instructed the WFO should order the immediate interview of NEMZER and that the results should be received at the Bureau by 12:00 noon, Monday, March 7, 1949. NEMZER was to be questioned also specifically on following points: Has he previously provided any information to Bureau, Department of Justice, or HCUA. If so, the nature of the information provided and when.

54 MAR 29 1949

R12

Mr. Delavigne, WFO, was furnished Mr. Ladd's instructions at 4:59 PM. He advised he would make arrangements for the interview of NEMZER immediately.

I called all references to NEMZER in Bureau files, the name being checked under the following possibilities:

Louis Nemzer
Lou Nemzer
L. Nemzer
None" Nemzer

All references were reviewed on foregoing with exception of two references in the main case file re JUDITH COPLON. No information was located indicating that NEMZER had previously furnished information to the Bureau, the Department of Justice, or HCUA, or that latter had furnished information received from NEMZER to the Bureau.

Mr. Ladd was furnished the results of this file check. He requested that all files be assembled in your office and that summary be prepared on Monday concerning NEMZER by someone in Espionage Units.

It is to be noted Washington Post of this morning (March 6, 1949) relative to Congressman Nixons and the HCUA statement reads in part as follows:

"It was learned that Miss Coplon's name figured in a confidential report to Chairman John Wood (D., Ga.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities on September 3, 1946. The report carried highly critical statements by an informant about the Foreign Agents Registration Section.

"The informant, now a social science professor in a midwestern university said he had worked with Miss Coplon as a "political analyst". He did not specifically criticize the Government girl but said there was a definite pro-Soviet attitude in the registration section".

The article continues with further alleged info from this informant.

It is observed that if Mr. Ford's supposition is correct that NEMZER was the informant and the date of the information was September 3, 1946, then according to Bureau files NEMZER was then a Department of Justice employee.

The article from the Washington Post is attached for your information.

Nixon Demands Investigation Of Justice Dept.'s Fitness

A House spy investigator yesterday demanded a full-scale investigation to determine whether the Justice Department is qualified to protect this country against "Communist infiltration."

The demand was made by Representative Richard M. Nixon (R., Calif.), a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. It followed the arrest of a Justice Department employee in New York on charges of stealing United States secrets.

"In my opinion, this case shows why the department may be unfit and unqualified to carry out the responsibility of protecting the national security against Communist infiltration," Nixon said. He said the employee's activities should have been discovered years ago.

The Justice Department employee was pretty, 27-year-old Judith Coplon, who worked in the Foreign Agents Registration Section. She was arrested on a New York bus with Valentine A. Gubitchev, third secretary of the Soviet secretariat of the United Nations.

Meanwhile, another spokesman for the Committee on Un-American Activities said it may investigate charges that Soviet delegates to the United Nations have engaged in espionage activities in the United States. He disclosed the group will consider the question at a closed meeting Monday.

He said committee investigators already have made "preliminary" inquiries into the activities of U. N. delegates from the Soviet Union and satellite countries.

The spokesman, who asked that his name be withheld until the whole committee can consider the investigation, said an attempt may be made to bring Miss Coplon and Gubitchev before the group in executive session. He said the committee plans "to go as far as we can without interfering with the FBI." He added that some of the hearings probably will be public.

It was learned that Miss Coplon's name figured in a confidential report to Chairman John Wood (D., Ga.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities on September 3, 1946. The report carried highly critical statements by an informant about the Foreign Agents Registration Section.

The informant, now a social science professor in a midwestern university, said he had worked with Miss Coplon as a "political analyst." He did not specifically criticize the Government girl but said there was a definite pro-Soviet attitude in the registration section.

He alleged that the section "condemned" anything that was "anti-Soviet." At the same time, he said, anything that was "pro-Russian" was "considered satisfac-

Reports on pro-Soviet foreign agents often failed to reach the desks of responsible Government officials, the informant said. And prosecutions for failure of these agents to register were rarely pressed.

Nixon admitted there was such a report in the committee files. He said it indicated a "shocking inexcusable laxity on the part of the Justice Department in screening its own employees for loyalty."

The committee attempted to press an investigation of the matter at the time but was blocked by Justice Department refusal to cooperate, he said.

Nixon said that the report showed the section to be responsible for keeping four Communist fronts from registering under the Foreign Agents Registration Act. Any statement that Miss Coplon was a "minor" employee is "ridiculous," he said.

At approximately 12:40 P.M. today, Supervisor Branigan returned to the office of Mr. Clive Palmer the Department's personnel files on Stephen W. Mamchur and Louis Nemzer. At that time, Mr. Palmer advised that he had been instructed by Mr. Peyton Ford that the Bureau should interview Mamchur and Nathan Thomas Elliff.

At the same time when the personnel files were being returned, Mr. James McInerney was in the office of Mr. Palmer and he informed that he was instructed by Mr. Peyton Ford to contact Lou Russell of the HCUA and determine "what the fuss was all about." McInerney related that if Lou Russell had previously contacted anyone in the Department, it was probably himself since they were acquainted. McInerney also stated that he could not recall having any conversations with Russell regarding the Foreign Agents Registration Section. Two

The above facts were telephonically furnished to Mr. Ladd. Ladd

RECOMMENDATION:

Mr. Ladd instructed that we should review the indices on Nathan Elliff and set out appropriate instructions to the Field to have him interviewed. l

While talking with ASAC Belmont at 3:40 P.M. today in connection with another matter, he advised that Agents of the New York Office had spent about three hours today interviewing Bert Coplon, Judith's brother. Thus far it appears that Bert has not been able to get anything out of his sister although he indicated very definitely that he was "working on it." Mr. Belmont commented that Bert Coplon appears to have a strong desire to cooperate but thus far it looks like Judith is a "tough duck to crack" even for her own family.

COPLON described by NEMZER as a person who knew Party Line and to have had experience in watching the Party perform but never mentioned any CP membership. NEMZER does not believe COPLON had any ideological loyalty to the CP. COPLON also described by NEMZER as emotionally unstable and moody. No strong friendships of COPLON known to NEMZER. DETAILS: AT COLUMBUS, OHIO:

Mr. LOUIS NEMZER, was interviewed by Special Agent RALPH BACHMAN and reporting agent, at his residence, 451 Loveman Avenue, Worthington, Ohio, on March 7, 1949.

For the purpose of this investigation, this report is divided into logical sub-divisions, in order to facilitate the perusal of the subject matter, relative to the various topics of information obtained from Mr. NEMZER.

PERSONAL HISTORY, RESIDENCE AND OCCUPATION OF LOUIS NEMZER:

Mr. NEMZER advised that he was an American citizen, by birth, having been born August 15, 1913, at New York City. He is married, has three children, and is presently employed by Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, as an Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, where he has been employed since October, 1948. He lectured on American foreign policy in the Soviet Union. He was originally employed by the Department of Justice as a Consultant in the spring of 1941 and left the Department of Justice in the spring of 1947. He was employed by the State Department, Office of Intelligence Research, in May, 1947, and still acts as a Consultant to the Office of Intelligence Research of the Department of State.

Mr. NEMZER advised that he had also served as an expert witness for the government in several trials involving prosecution of foreign agents. He stated that he is an expert on Communism and the Eastern situation.

In connection with his employment by the Department of Justice, Mr. NEMZER stated that he had first worked for the Special Defense Unit with Mr. ALLEN C. SMITH and that this Unit later became the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department. Mr. NEMZER stated that he is able to read Russian and that in his testimony in the trials in which he had participated, he picked out items of propaganda that could be used in the trial. Mr. NEMZER stated that he had worked on the case of the United States vs RAYFIELD RUSH, a Russian Agent, who had disseminated propaganda in the United States, without registering as an agent. He also did some work for the Department in connection with the case of the United States vs VON ZIATSKY, whose trial was held in Hartford, Connecticut. Mr. NEMZER described VON ZIATSKY as a white Russian and the only other feature of the case he recalled at the time of the interview was the fact that a man named KUNZE was involved in the case.

INFORMATION CONCERNING JUDITH COPLON:

Mr. NEMZER stated that he first met JUDITH COPLON, whom he called "JUDY" in the fall of 1944, when she became an employee of the Foreign Agents Section of the Department. NEMZER said that he had received the impression at that time that she had previously been connected with the Anti-Trust Division of the Department before effecting her transfer to the Foreign Agents Registration Section. Mr. NEMZER said that he had not previously been acquainted with JUDY COPLON. At the time JUDITH COPLON became an employee of the Section, it was under the supervision of Mr. JESSE M. McKNIGHT. Mr. NEMZER described himself as one of the two Assistant Chiefs of the Section, who was responsible for the corrolation of data on foreign language groups. He specialized in activity in Left Wing groups, during the period after the war. JUDITH COPLON came to the Section as a Junior Assistant and assisted NEMZER as part of her duties. She had no real responsibility at this time.

Mr. NEMZER said that COPLON had little proficiency in the Russian language but handled the French language very well.

Mr. NEMZER described COPLON as a "political sophisticate." He explained that JUDITH COPLON had a certain amount of sophistication about Left Wing groups. By this, he said that he meant that "one sometimes learns by being burned," that COPLON knew the Party Line, could interpret a Party operation, was able to analyze Party propaganda and seemed to have had experience in watching the Communist Party perform. Mr. NEMZER said that COPLON had never mentioned any prior or present membership in the Communist Party and, based on his association with her in the Department, he did not feel that she would have volunteered any information concerning any Communist Party connection on her part. Mr. NEMZER also said that he believed that COPLON was "the most accomplished actress he had ever known", if she were sympathetic with the Communist Party and that he would be "tremendously startled" if she had any ideological loyalty to the Communist Party.

Mr. NEMZER said that COPLON was a very industrious girl, in connection with her work, but that she was emotionally unstable, greatly frustrated and moody. He believed that she had an active but not a first rate mind. He said that part of the work done by COPLON was to read the Daily Worker and other Left Wing publications and that on many occasions, he and COPLON "tossed jokes back and forth about the Communists" and that as a result of these exchanges of comments about the actions of the Communist Party, he did not believe that COPLON had any connection with the Communists.

Mr. NEMZER stated that he knew of no strong friendships that COPLON had and that he believed that she was a very lonesome person. He stated that the only knowledge he had of any social activities or contacts of COPLON outside of the Department were those occurring at several gatherings held at the home of JESSE MCKNIGHT, for the employees of the Foreign Agents Registration Section. COPLON had visited at the home of NEMZER perhaps twice, during their association but the NEMZERS had never visited the apartment of COPLON.

Mr. NEMZER stated that the only clue that he could offer concerning any Communist Party connection of COPLON was her association with MARTIN POPPER, Secretary of the National Lawyers' Guild. NEMZER stated that he believed that MARTIN POPPER was a "fellow traveller" because he was always in Communist front organizations and had made strong pro-Russian speeches. NEMZER said that at the time he met POPPER, POPPER was one of the Attornies for the Polish government and had had contact with the Department of Justice in connection with the registration of a motion picture concern, as a proper registration under the Foreign Agents Registration Act. NEMZER said that during the occasions that POPPER had contacted him, NEMZER, as a Polish Analyst of the Department, they argued politics and POPPER pressed him, NEMZER, very hard to get him outside of the Department at lunch and at social engagements. NEMZER stated that he always laughed these appointments off and advised POPPER that if he had anything to say to him, NEMZER, he could say it at his Department. NEMZER stated that he did not recall the exact date, but that on one occasion, he had some "very hot and unpleasant words" with POPPER concerning the registration of the motion picture concern referred to above; also that JUDITH COPLON knew of this. Nevertheless, COPLON later stated that she had talked with POPPER and had had lunch with him a couple of times. NEMZER said that he believed that POPPER was a very persuasive speaker and that taking into account the likely loneliness and emotional unstable condition of COPLON, it was possible that a man of POPPER's persuasiveness might have persuaded her to perform most any action.

JUDITH COPLON, to the best knowledge of Mr. NEMZER, was a single person. She resided alone in Washington, when first known to Mr. NEMZER and later, exact date unknown, she moved into some dormitory in

CIN FILE # 65-1674

Washington but the address of the apartment was not known to Mr. NEMZER. Mr. NEMZER stated, in connection with friendships of COPLON, that she once mentioned two girl friends whom she had known in New York but their names were not recalled by him. She also mentioned her parents and a brother in New York.

Mr. NEMZER stated that COPLON was also known to [redacted] who was employed by the Justice Department at approximately the same time as JUDY COPLON. Mr. NEMZER stated that he did not believe that COPLON and [redacted] knew each other before their association as fellow employees with the Department of Justice. [redacted] is presently employed by the State Department.

Mr. NEMZER advised that JUDY COPLON was also known to SIDNEY BRODY of the Criminal Division of the Department and that BRODY had had several strong arguments with COPLON but that these were of a personal nature, to the best of Mr. NEMZER's knowledge. Other than these arguments and personal differences, BRODY and COPLON apparently got along well together.

Mr. NEMZER said that NATHANIEL LENDIN of the Department of Justice had an office next to that occupied by COPLON in the Department but he did not know the extent of contacts between LENDIN and COPLON.

In connection with trips made by COPLON while she was associated with the Department of Justice, Mr. NEMZER stated that she made frequent week end trips to New York City, often leaving in the middle of Friday afternoons. Mr. NEMZER stated that these trips were made every two or three weeks and that he assumed that she went to New York to have contact with her early friends because she was such a lonely person in Washington. Mr. NEMZER also stated that he knew that JUDY COPLON had been making the trips to New York over the week ends prior to the fall of 1946, because, on one occasion, in the fall of 1946, he, NEMZER, drove to New York, with his family and COPLON suggested that her mother might be able to arrange hotel reservations for him. Mr. NEMZER also said that he knows that prior to his trip to New York, COPLON had been making regular week end trips there.

Mr. NEMZER also stated that in addition to the parents residing in New York City, he believed that COPLON had one brother residing there, who was a Dentist in the City. The parents and the brother were the only relatives mentioned by COPLON. Mr. NEMZER also stated that he recalled vaguely that on several occasions, COPLON stayed in New York over a period of a couple of weeks and that he believed these were on vacation.

Mr. NEMZER stated that in the summer of 1948, COPLON surprised him by stating that she was taking a conducted tour of France. Mr. NEMZER said that he was quite surprised by this statement because he knew that COPLON was attending the American University, working toward her Masters degree and that he had previously heard from her that she was going to take off the summer of 1948, for the purpose of writing her thesis. Mr. NEMZER said that this thesis was "French Propaganda in the United States During World War II." Mr. NEMZER stated that he was also surprised because she was taking a conducted tour of France and that he did not think that her actions "made sense." Mr. NEMZER stated that he saw COPLON in Washington after she came back from her trip to France, in the summer of 1948, just prior to his departure for Columbus, Ohio, for the purpose of taking up his duties with Ohio State University. Mr. NEMZER stated that at this time, COPLON did not look very well and stated that she had spent her time in France making a "sight-seeing tour" of the country. COPLON mentioned no specific contacts, acquaintances, or friends that she had made in France on this trip.

In connection with this trip to France, Mr. NEMZER stated that the financial condition of JUDITH COPLON appeared to be unusually good and that when he questioned her about finances relative to her trip to France, she stated that she had sufficient money to pay for the trip. Mr. NEMZER said that at no time during his association with COPLON had she ever mentioned any financial difficulties or problems to him and appeared not to have any.

Mr. NEMZER stated that he had visited Washington, D.C., during the Christmas holidays of 1948 and that he had planned to contact his former associates in the Department of Justice. He spoke to COPLON on the telephone concerning a luncheon engagement but that COPLON "weasled out" of the luncheon and gave as an excuse the reason that she had to help locate an apartment for her Doctor. Mr. NEMZER stated that they talked on the telephone for a couple of minutes and that at this time, some discussion was had between them ridiculing the Communist Party, through some items that had appeared in the Press at that time.

In connection with the excuse used by COPLON relative to her assisting her Doctor, Mr. NEMZER stated that COPLON had apparently been treated by a Doctor for "female trouble" and had undergone an operation, during the past two years.

Mr. NEMZER stated that when he left the Justice Department, he had taken [redacted] with him to work in the Department of State. At this time, [] and COPLON had been promised raises for some time. NEMZER said that prior to the time he had transferred to the State Department, COPLON had expressed her willingness to also transfer to the State Department, as requested, but on the occasion, when he had taken [] with him to the State Department, she seemed to have changed her views about transferring from the Justice Department and he, NEMZER, knew of no explanation for this change. Mr. NEMZER said that shortly after he had gone to the State Department, he, NEMZER, had gone back to the Justice Department and had spoken to COPLON's superior, stating that he would take JUDY to the State Department with him if they did not promote her or give her a raise. Shortly thereafter, NEMZER received a telephone call from COPLON. During the conversation, she spoke to him "very sharply" and said things that a "lady would not say" about his interference in her affairs and stated that she did not desire to leave the Justice Department. Mr. NEMZER said that he attributed COPLON's reaction to this incident as evidence of her emotional state and did not answer her back.

Mr. NEMZER said that while COPLON was an employee of the Foreign Agents Registration Section, he believed she had full access to everything in the records division of the Justice Department and could obtain any record by simply phoning for the record to be brought to her office or by a personal search of the files in the record room. He said that after the close of the War, the personnel of the Foreign Agents Registration Section had been reduced and, as a result of the reduction in force, the remaining personnel had a great deal of night work and it was quite a common occurrence for the remaining personnel to work at night. Mr. NEMZER said there was no guard against taking out records at night and that it was possible that COPLON could secure these records and remove them. Mr. NEMZER said that he believed that COPLON could even secure data from the locked files of the Records Division because he believed that she had keys and could secure the files.

Mr. NEMZER, from time to time, during the course of the interview with him, repeatedly stated that he felt that JUDY COPLON was a very lonely and emotionally unstable person and that he could only attribute any action on her part to which she is accused in this investigation as due to her emotional instability and had no information concerning any connection other than as set out above in this report.

INFORMATION CONCERNING "SITUATION" IN DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE:

Mr. NEMZER stated that to his recollection, he had, at no time, furnished any information or statement regarding any "situation" in the Department of Justice or the Federal Bureau of Investigation to any other government agency and to his recollection, any representative of any government agency or Department or to any member or representative of any house committee. He stated that he had never talked with anyone in the Department or the Federal Bureau of Investigation or any government agency in connection with JUDY COPLON or any leanings which he believed might indicate disloyalty. Mr. NEMZER stated that he had never talked with anyone concerning any leaks or indication of lack of security in the Department. He stated that when any question concerning any matters in the Department of Justice arose, it was handled within the Department and no comment was made by him to any person outside the Department other than his superiors. Mr. NEMZER stated that he considered his position with the Department of Justice to be a "very special" position and that he believed that his associates also considered their positions to be "very special" positions and that they were all extremely conscientious of the work and felt that it was highly confidential. Mr. NEMZER said that no discussion, to his knowledge, was ever had by him or any person in the Department concerning any pro-Russian or pro-Communist situation within the Department.

Mr. NEMZER stated that on several occasions, while he was associated with the Department of Justice, he had gone to the Committee room of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, for the purpose of reviewing records maintained by the Committee in connection with some of the subjects being handled by the Foreign Agents Registration Section. He stated that he had contacted an individual on these occasions by the name of "MANDEL" but that no discussion had ever been had with "MANDEL" or any other person connected with the House Committee on Un-American Activities concerning any "situation" in the Department of Justice. Mr. NEMZER said that his visits to the record room of the House Committee on Un-American Activities were not frequent and that the only discussions he ever had were those discussions regarding individuals who had furnished information to the House Committee and whom the House Committee were interested in having the State Department of the government keep in the United States.

Mr. NEMZER stated that he could not recall any specific case in this connection but that he did recall that one individual was the author of "Out of the Night." Mr. NEMZER also said that he had never been approached nor had any discussion ever been had with him by any member of any House Committee or any person connected with any House Committee, concerning his appearance as a witness before any House Committee.

In connection with any alleged "situation" in the Department of Justice, Mr. NEMZER said that during the early days of the war, there had been a Polish translator employed by the Department of Justice, named DON BROWSKY, first name unknown, who was finally forced out of the Department because of inefficiency. He stated that DONEROWSKY had done a "lot of talking" and may have written letters to the H.C.U.A. or other persons concerning the Department but that this was only a conjecture on his, NEMZER's, part.

Mr. NEMZER also stated that there was a Mrs. LANGLEY, who was employed by the Department of Justice and who was a "letter writer" who wrote to the Attorney General, stating that people in the Department were loafing. Mr. NEMZER offered this name as one of the few persons he could recall who might have transmitted information concerning any situation in the Department to outside sources.

On March 7, 1949, an article appeared in the Columbus Citizen, a daily newspaper published in Columbus, Ohio, concerning the investigation herein. A telephone call was received by reporting agent from Mr. NEMZER after the edition of the Columbus Citizen had been distributed and Mr. NEMZER stated that the March 7 edition of the Citizen in a story relating to instant case, carried an article with a date line of March 7, 1949, Washington, D.C. The pertinent portion of this article referred to by Mr. NEMZER was "Spy hunters have already lined up a Midwest University Professor for the role of starting (or startling) witness in the COPLON case. The Professor's name is not disclosed. He once worked as a Consultant to the Foreign Agents Registration Office. He resigned in 1946 because he said the division was pro-Russian and pro-Communist." Mr. NEMZER stated that the foregoing release did not refer to himself but might possibly refer to STEPHEN MAMCHUR who was formerly associated with the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice and had resigned about 1946 and appeared to be somewhat "resentful" at the time he left the Department. Mr. NEMZER said that he had last heard of MAMCHUR as a Professor of Sociology at Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan. NEMZER added, however, that he would be "surprised" if MAMCHUR had said that the Department or the Foreign Agents Registration Section was pro-Russian or pro-Communist.

One handwritten note covered information directed to the department from the FBI dated March 3, 1949 and after abstracting the data the author of the note showed as its source "Bureau memorandum 3-3-49." Another abstract stated: "I have not been able (and don't think I will) to get the top secret FBI Report...."

As the investigation progressed the Attorney General, department officials, Director J. Edgar Hoover, and State Department officials closely cooperated in bringing the case to a conclusion. Since he was an employee ^{Butcher} of the United Nations Secretariat, the matter is being discussed between State Department officials and officials of the Secretariat.

BACKGROUND

Judith Coplon was born May 17, 1921 in Brooklyn, New York. After attending the public schools and graduating from James Madison High School, Brooklyn, New York, she entered Barnard College, from which she graduated in June of 1943 with an AB degree as an honor student. In June, 1943 she entered the employ of the Department of Justice ~~and was assigned in its Economic Warfare Section in New York City.~~ On February 16, 1945 she ^{CAME} ~~was transferred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section~~ ^{to} ~~in the Department of Justice at Washington, D. C. The FBI~~ ~~applicant investigation of Miss Coplon in 1943 disclosed no~~ ~~evidence of espionage activities.~~

Valentine Alekskevich Gubitchev was born June 24, 1916, Ikoloskote, Orlov Province, U. S. S. R. ~~At the time of his arrival in the United States he was accompanied by his wife, Lidia Nazarovna Gubitchova, and his daughter. His wife left the United States on the S. S. Pobeda on July 31, 1948.~~ At the time of his entry into the United States he was described as the Third Secretary of the USSR Secretariat of the United Nations. A recent listing, however, indicates he is assigned to the Planning Office of the Department of Administrative and Financial Services of the Manhattan Office of the United Nations.

Attorney General Tom C. Clark announced tonight that FBI Agents arrested Judith Coplon, 27, an employee of the Department of Justice, and Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, a member of the Russian delegation to the United Nations, in New York City, on charges of Conspiracy to commit an offense against The United States pertaining to the removal of Government records and defraud the U. S. of the faithful and impartial services of Miss Coplon.

The Attorney General said — The FBI investigation under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover, culminating in the arrests was originally initiated as a part of the Federal Employee Loyalty Program; an extensive investigation was initiated. The resulting investigation disclosed clandestine meetings between Miss Coplon and Gubitchev. Gubitchev is described as the Third Secretary of the USSR Secretariat of the United Nations assigned to the Manhattan office of the U. N. Continued investigation disclosed that Miss Coplon's activities on March 4, 1949 paralleled her activities prior to other meetings with Gubitchev and, accordingly, her activities were closely scrutinized from the moment she departed from Washington at 1 p.m. Friday, en route to New York City.

Director J. Edgar Hoover stated that FBI Agents observed extreme caution on the part of Miss Coplon from the moment she arrived in New York City until her contact with the Russian U. N. employee. Miss Coplon had concealed in her purse a flat package containing typewritten summaries of information abstracted from confidential documents involving security data and restricted information.

The Attorney General, immediately upon being informed by the FBI of Miss Coplon's suspected affiliations, insured against the misuse of restricted information coming into the possession of the department.

As the investigation progressed the Attorney General, department officials, Director J. Edgar Hoover, and State Department officials closely cooperated in bringing the case to a conclusion. Since Gubitchev was an employee of the United Nations Secretariat, the matter is being discussed between State Department officials and officials of the Secretariat.

SUBJECT: JUDITH COPLON

Re FBI Laboratory report dated March 4, 1949, identifying Documents Q-25 through Q-33, as having been typed on Royal Typewriter, Serial KMM-2585483, located in room 2216, Department of Justice Building. It is observed that these documents are carbon copies.

An examination of a wooden box located on the west side of room 2220, which room is the office of subject, reflects that in the rear of this box in a section of unfiled material, the originals of Q-25 through Q-29 and Q-33 were located.

It has been learned that subject as a political analyst reviewed Bureau reports which might have a bearing on Foreign Agents Registration Act matters. If she felt the information appearing in the reports would be of some possible future use to the FARS, she underlined sentences in the synopsis and details she desired written up on a "data slip". In the upper left hand corner of the data slips, there usually appeared the name of the file or subject matter with which the Bureau report concerned itself. In the upper right hand corner of the data slips, there usually appears the names of individuals or organizations which are mentioned in the summary of information appearing on the data slips.

For an illustration, the Bureau's attention is directed to Q-25. In the upper left hand corner there is written, "Napoli". In the upper right hand corner there is written, "Communist Party Secretary of Peru" and "Artkino". This means that the stenographer in the FARS, Miss ETTA TAYLOR, typed an original and two carbons, making a sum total of three. If the upper right hand corner contained four names or subject matters, there would have been a sum total of five made. The original of Q-25 and only one carbon were located. It is assumed that subject had the second copy in her possession when arrested.

There are being transmitted herewith the originals of Q-25 through Q-29 and Q-33, as well as the carbon copies located with the original. It is observed that in each instance one carbon is missing.

There are also being enclosed the original data slips and carbons of Q-31 and Q-32, which were located in an unfiled portion of a paper file box which was on a file cabinet on the south side of room 2220. It is observed that one carbon is also missing from both Q-31 and Q-32.

Q-30, which is also a carbon, reflects that the name of NICHOLAS CARANFIL in the upper right hand corner of the data slip has a line underscored beneath it.

It is also observed that it bears the initials "BSM" as the identity of the analyst. [redacted] is a former analyst for the FARS. Q-30 bears the caption, "General NICOLAE RADESCU" in the upper left hand corner. In the upper right hand corner, there appears, "NICOLAE MALAXA", "M. NICHOLAS CARANFIL", and "M. BARBU NICULESCU".

b6

In a file cabinet marked "Miscellaneous" located on the north side of room 2220, there is a section devoted to Rumanians. Under this section, there is a name tab entitled, "General NICOLAE RADESCU". The original of Q-30 was filed behind this name tab. There is a tab bearing the caption, "NICOLAE MALAXA" and behind it there is a carbon of Q-30. There is also a name tab for "M. BARBU NICULESCU" and located behind this name tab is a carbon of Q-30. There is no name tab for "M. NICHOLAS CARANFIL", nor is there a carbon or original of Q-30 in the Rumanian file. It is presumed that subject removed the carbon for M. NICHOLAS CARANFIL and that it is the carbon found in subject's possession when she was arrested. The original of Q-30 is enclosed.

All of the above mentioned documents being submitted to the FBI Laboratory have been initialed by Special Agent COURTLAND J. JONES, who located them and also bear the initials of Mr. WILLIAM E. FOLEY, head of the FARS and Internal Security Division of the Department of Justice.

The FBI Laboratory is requested to make a typewriting comparison of the originals of Q-25 through Q-33 with the carbons taken from the person of subject when she was arrested on March 4, 1949, at New York City. Upon the completion of the examination, the original and carbons transmitted herewith should be returned to the Washington Field Office.

ELLIFF ADVISED COPLON WAS EMPLOYED IN THE SECTION WHEN TAKEN OVER BY THE CRIMINAL DIVISION AND HE HAD NO INFO CONCERNING ANY ACTIVITIES OR ASSOCIATES OF COPLON EITHER IN OR OUT OF THE OFFICE. HE ADVISED LARRY KNAPP, FORMER CHIEF OF THE SECTION, AND DAVE BOOKSTAVEN, ASSISTANT IN THE SECTION, SHOULD BE ABLE TO FURNISH INFO REGARDING HER ACTIVITIES AND ASSOCIATES. HE DID NOT RECALL RECEIVING ANY COMPLAINTS ABOUT HER EFFICIENCY OR LOYALTY. DUE TO BUDGETARY LIMITATIONS PERSONNEL HAD TO BE CUT FIFTY PERCENT AND ELLIFF, ROY MC CAULEY AND NATHAN FRANKE, AFTER SURVEY BY FBI AND REVIEW OF PERSONNEL FILES BY ABOVE THREE, MADE UP RETENTION SCHEDULES BASED ON SENIORITY AND OTHER ~~RELEVANT~~ CONSIDERED FACTORS, INCLUDING THAT OF SECURITY. ELLIFF COULD NOT NOW RECALL THE APPEARANCE OF ANY DETRIMENTAL OR DEROGATORY INFO IN THE FILE INDICATING INCOMPETENCY OR A POOR SECURITY RISK. ELLIFF TOLD AGENTS HE KNEW HIS NAME APPEARED IN THE FILES OF THE HOUSE UNAMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE AS A ~~COMMUNIST~~ COMMUNIST AND THAT HE RECEIVED THIS INFO FROM CONGRESSMAN HAROLD A. VELDE, WHO CALLED HIM BY PHONE ON MAR. SIX LAST. AFTER OTHER TELEPHONE CALLS MADE THIS WEEK AND RECEIVED THIS WEEK BY ELLIFF WITH JAMES MC INERNEY, DAVE BOOKSTAVER AND ALEXANDER CAMPBELL, ALL DEPT. EMPLOYEES, OR FORMER EMPLOYEES, ELLIFF CONSTRUCTED THE FOLLOWING STORY - AT THE TIME THE PERSONNEL WAS BEING DISMISSED BECAUSE OF THE BUDGET LIMITATIONS STEVE MAMSCHER PAREN PHONETIC CLOSE PARENS WAS RELEASED AND HE IS THE ONLY ONE WHO COMPLAINED BITTERLY TO ELLIFF AND MC INERNEY. ELLIFF SAID HE WAS NOT FULLY RESPONSIBLE FOR DISMISSAL OF MAMSCHER, BUT THAT HE DID ACCEPT HIS SHARE OF IT BECAUSE IT WAS ELLIFFS CON- TENSION THAT THE DEPARTMENT WOULD BENEFIT FROM THE RELEASE OF HIGH SALARIED ANALYSTS, WHO IN HIS OPINION WERE UNNECESSARY AND IT WOULD ALLOW THE RETENTION OF MORE LOWER SALARIED CLERKS OR ANALYSTS TO PERFORM THE CLERICAL AND BOOKKEEPING TYPE OF WORK NECESSARY IN THE SECTION. MAMSCHER WAS VERY ANGRY REGARDING DISMISSAL AND WENT TO THE HUAC AND GAVE THE NAMES OF ELLIFF, COPLON, BOOKSTAVER AND NEMSER PARENS PHONETIC CLOSE PARENS AS BEING COMMUNISTS IN THE FARS.

THIS MOVE, ACCORDING TO ELLIFF, WAS MOTIVATED BY REVENGE. ALEXANDER CAMPBELL IN A CALL ASKED ELLIFF IF HE RECALLED AN INVESTIGATOR FOR THE HUAC BY THE NAME OF RUSSELL. FROM THAT ELLIFF RECALLED THAT RUSSELL HAD ONCE ASKED HIM AS THE HEAD OF THE SECTION FOR CONFIDENTIAL FILES OF THE DEPARTMENT, WHICH INCLUDED FBI REPORTS AND ELLIFF REFUSED THE REQUEST AND SAID IT WOULD BE PLACED BEFORE MC INERNEY AND MC GRANERY FOR THEIR OPINION AS TO THE RELEASE OF THE FILES. ELLIFF SAID RUSSELL WAS VISIBLY UPSET BECAUSE HIS REQUEST WAS REFUSED. ELLIFF WROTE A MEMORANDUM REFERRING THE REQUEST TO THE HIGHER AUTHORITY MENTIONED ABOVE, AND DISCUSSED THE SITUATION PERSONALLY WITH MC INERNEY AND HE HAS THIS WEEK BEEN INFORMED BY CAMPBELL THAT THIS MEMORANDUM HAS NOW BEEN LOCATED IN THE DEPT. FILES AND THAT THE HUAC HAS RETRACTED ANY STATEMENT TO THE EFFECT ~~THAT~~ THAT ELLIFF ~~AND~~ WAS UNCOOPERATIVE AND REFUSED RUSSELL A REVIEW OF THE FILES AND ADMITTED THAT RUSSELL HAD NEVER ASKED ELLIFF ABOUT ^{judith} COPLON. ELLIFF REPORTED TO THE AGENTS THAT HE HAS TOLD THIS SAME STORY TO THE SECRETARY OF SENATOR SCOTT LUCAS OF ILLINOIS. SINCE THE PUBLICITY INCIDENT TO SUBJECTS ARREST, ELLIFF SAID HE HAS MADE REPEATED ATTEMPTS TO RECALL WHETHER OR NOT HE HAD ANY INFO CONCERNING COPLON WHICH WOULD NOW OR SHOULD HAVE EARLIER MADE HIM SUSPICIOUS OF HER WITH NEGATIVE RESULTS, AND HE EMPHASIZED THAT ALL DURING HIS EMPLOYMENT WITH THE DEPT. OF JUSTICE SECURITY HAD BEEN OF PRIME IMPORTANCE TO HIM.

Jack Neal called me on March 9 with reference to the article in the "Times Herald" by Ed Nellor indicating that the Bureau was going to arrest a State Department employee. He stated that the Secretary was having a press conference in the immediate future and wanted to know if he could include in his press statement that this matter had been checked with the FBI and that there was no truth to the story.

I told Mr. Neal very definitely that he could not use this in any press release, that the Bureau was authorized not to make press releases in connection with this matter and certainly could, therefore, not authorize the State Department to quote the Bureau.

I informed him if the Secretary wanted any statement he would have to obtain a statement from the Attorney General.

An individual identifying herself as Miss Jean Branch, 20 Chesapeake Street, S.E., Washington, D. C., called this morning and stated, "This Coplon case has intrigued me." She stated that at the present time there are a number of employees located in the "office proper - the white collar workers" of the Picker X-ray Corporation located, she believed, on Fourth Avenue, New York, with whom she has reason to believe Judith Coplon has associated. She pointed out that in her opinion the Picker X-ray Corporation itself, which incidentally did a great deal of Government work, is a reputable concern but had "too many avid CC NY students who lean much too far to the left" working in its front office. She did add that she believed this Corporation to be a "formidable Semitic outfit."

When I asked Miss Branch as to anyone in particular with whom Coplon allegedly associated, she could not give any names but stated that she had reason to know Coplon was connected with various employees in the office proper of this concern.

Miss Branch was extremely breezy and refused to be pinned down during the conversation. She volunteered, "I'm being a squealer. I guess it's smart but I did want to help you people."

ACTION:

In view of the nebulous information obtained during this call it is suggested that the Washington Field interview Branch to determine if she has any information in her possession on which further investigation might be predicated.

Results of Examination:

Specimens Q44 through Q135 were examined for the presence of microdots and for other types of concealed messages by methods which would not change or alter their appearance with negative results.

Non-staining treatment revealed no secret ink on specimens Q44 through Q135. Although specimens Q90 and Q91 could be used for the preparation of a secret ink, it does not appear likely that specimens of this type would be so used because of the availability of their components, namely sugar and aspirin, in more convenient forms.

It has been concluded that the handwriting on Q105, Q106 and Q107, which are COPLON'S address book, diary and check book, respectively, was written by JUDITH COPLON, whose known handwriting is contained in her Justice Department personnel file, listed in the Laboratory as K14. COPLON was previously identified as the writer of the questioned note removed from her purse, listed and described in the Laboratory report dated March 7, 1949 as Q39.

D-95739 ET

It has been concluded that the handwriting [redacted] on Q103, which is the book entitled, "All Thy Conquests", was not written by JUDITH COPLON, K14.

b7C

It has been concluded that the handprinting on Q114, which is the Marianne et Fils business card, was not prepared by JUDITH COPLON, K14.

No conclusion could be reached whether the handwriting on Q111, which is the Public Library card issued to JUDITH COPLON, was written by COPLON, K14, because characteristics were noted in this questioned handwriting which could not be explained on the basis of the known specimens available for comparison.

The surname and the first name originally typewritten on Q46 had been erased. These names originally appeared as follows:

GUBITCHEV
Valentine

A duplicate set of the four large keys contained on COPLON'S key chain, Q132, was made and have been retained in the Laboratory for any possible future use in this case.

A supplemental Laboratory report on the Cryptanalysis examination of the above listed specimens will be sent your office in the near future.

Specimens Q44 through Q135 were returned to you by special courier on March 9, 1949. Photographic copies of these specimens have been retained. It is noted that your letter listing the evidence taken from VALENTINE GUBITCHEV, listed on page four one tie clip and also one tie clasp. However, only one tie clip was received.

With reference to the attached memorandum dated March 15, 1949, relating to a safe in the closet in the office of Assistant Attorney General Alexander M. Campbell, this is to record that at 4:40 p.m. on March 16, I talked with Mr. Ray Whearty and secured his permission to interview Miss Brookley and Miss Clements. He stated these two secretaries are the ones who have the combination to this safe. Sup. Appene

I told Mr. Whearty we wanted to determine whether or not Coplon had in any manner secured access to the contents of this safe because we were trying to determine the entire scope of her activities and the information which was available to her. I did not advise him that Colonel Naramore had furnished the initial information concerning this safe and the possibility that Judith Coplon might possibly have obtained access to it.

At 12:00 Noon this date, while calling at the Bureau on another matter, Colonel W. W. Naramore of the Department advised that he was concerned over the possibility that Judith Coplon might have found out something concerning the Attorney General's program for detention of Communists in the event of sudden difficulty with the Soviet Union.

He pointed out that he did not have anything definite on which to base such an idea except that the papers on which Campbell's staff was working, as well as the preliminary draft of the program, had been placed in an auxiliary safe in a closet outside of Mr. Campbell's office after working hours during September and October, 1948.

Naramore advised that it had come to his attention that the secretaries who were charged with the responsibility for opening and closing the safe kept the combination in their desks. He was worried over the idea that Judith Coplon might have at some time during the pertinent period or even prior thereto requested these secretaries to permit her to place material in that safe and so was able to determine where the combinations were kept.

ACTION:

It is suggested that consideration be given to having the secretaries who possessed the combination to the safe in question interviewed for the purpose of determining whether or not Judith Coplon ever utilized that safe.

Mr. Raymond P. Whearty of the Department called at 10:20 a.m. today and stated that Coplon was scheduled to come to Washington, D. C., tomorrow morning at 8:30 for arraignment on the indictment returned by the Grand Jury yesterday, March 16. Mr. Whearty advised that he had arranged with Coplon's attorney to call him upon arrival at Union Station, at which time a meeting place and time will be agreed upon. Mr. Whearty stated that in all probability he will meet Coplon and her attorney at the Court House for the arraignment at about 1:30 p.m. He indicated that he would ask for bail, a "moderate sum" of from $5,000 to $10,000.

In connection with the instant matter, on March 16, 1949, Mr. Bertram Adams, the attorney for Judith Coplon, telephonically contacted our New York Office with reference to the indictment which had been returned against Judith Coplon in Washington on March 16, 1949. Mr. Adams advised that Miss Coplon desired to surrender to Special Agents of the FBI as a result of the indictment rather than having U. S. Marshals come up to her home and arrest her and thereby cause a great deal of discomfort to her parents, who are in a serious physical condition.

Mr. Adams' request was telephonically made known to Mr. Thomas J. Donegan, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, and to Mr. Ray Whearty. Pursuant to the request of Mr. Whearty, Mr. Donegan was advised that the warrant had not been issued in Washington as yet and that one would be requested in the morning. Mr. Donegan was also advised that thereafter the usual removal proceedings would be instituted by having a non est return made on the warrant and a copy of the same forwarded to New York, along with a copy of the indictment, where the removal complaint would be filed. Thereafter, Miss Coplon would be arrested and the removal hearing held unless she waived the same. Mr. Donegan was advised that it was Mr. Whearty's suggestion that as an alternative, Mr. Donegan could determine whether the bail under which she was presently at liberty prevented her from leaving the Southern District of New York. In the event it did not, arrangements could be made to have her surrender in Washington, D. C., thereby eliminating any necessity for her surrendering to the Bureau in New York City.

Subsequently, when Mr. Adams recontacted the New York Office, he was referred to Mr. Donegan. Following this conversation Mr. Donegan advised that Adams had offered to surrender Miss Coplon at any time. It was agreed that she would surrender in Washington, D. C., on Friday. During the conversation, Mr. Adams requested that she not be apprehended on that evening nor that she be apprehended at her home. Mr. Donegan stated he agreed to this and asked Mr. Adams to call at his office today, at which time he would be informed if the arrangements for the surrender on Friday would be satisfactory.

The above is being called to your attention in order to advise you of the results of the conference between Mr. Donegan and Mr. Adams, which apparently will obviate the necessity of Miss Coplon surrendering to this Bureau.

Night Supervisor Albert G. McGrath of the New York Division called. He stated that Bertram Adams, Attorney for Judith Coplon had called the New York Office with reference to the indictment which had been returned against her in Washington today. He said that Adams informed him that Coplon desired to surrender to the Agents of the FBI as a result of this indictment rather than having Marshals coming out to her home and arrest her and thereby undoubtedly causing a great deal of discomfiture to her parents who are in a serious physical condition.

Pursuant to your request, I called Mr. Ladd and informed him of the above. He suggested that I call the New York Division back and have them contact the United States Attorney and inform him of the call and be guided by his desires. He also mentioned that it should be determined whether the warrant had actually been issued at this time since it appeared that the indictment had only been returned late today.

I called Mr. McGrath back and informed him of Mr. Ladd's instructions at which time he said that Adams had also talked to Mr. Donegan and Donegan informed Adams that the case was being handled by Mr. Whearty here in Washington and that he, Donegan, did not know what arrangements had been made. Mr. McGrath also informed me that the United States Attorney's Office in New York did not know anything about the matter since the case was being handled by Mr. Whearty. JEM

After talking to Mr. Ladd, I called Mr. Whearty and informed him of Adams' call. Mr. Whearty informed me that the warrant had not been issued as yet but that they would request one in the morning. He said that thereafter the usual removal proceedings will be instituted by having a non est return made on the warrant and a copy of the same forwarded to New York along with a copy of the indictment where the removal complaint would be filed. The subject would be arrested and the removal hearing held unless she waived the same. Mr. Whearty suggested as an alternative that we call Mr. Donegan in New York and have him determine whether the bail under which the subject was presently at liberty prevented her from leaving the Southern District of New York. In the event it did not, then it was suggested that Mr. Donegan attempt to arrange to have the subject surrender herself in Washington, D. C., thereby eliminating any necessity for the Bureau becoming involved in the matter. I informed Mr. Whearty that it was our intentions to inform Mr. Adams when he called our New York Office again regarding this matter to refer him to Mr. Donegan or to Mr. Jm Whearty. Mr. Whearty said that if we would deliver the above message concerning his suggestions to Mr. Donegan and to inform Adams when he called that he should speak to Donegan, it would be deeply appreciated.

After speaking to Mr. Whearty, I informed Mr. Ladd of my call to him and at Mr. Ladd's instructions I called Mr. McGrath in New York and informed him that he should have Mr. Belmont call Mr. Donegan and deliver Mr. Whearty's message. I also informed Mr. McGrath that he should advise me of the outcome of the various conversations between the New York Office and Mr. Donegan as well as Mr. Adams' call to Mr. Donegan, if and when the information was received.

At 9:45 p.m., Mr. McGrath called again. He said that Mr. Belmont had called Mr. Donegan as had been suggested. Adams had called the New York Office as was planned, at which time he was requested to call Mr. Donegan. After the conversation between Donegan and Adams terminated, Donegan informed Mr. Belmont that Adams had offered to surrender Coplon at any time. It was agreed between them that she would surrender in Washington, D. C., on Friday. During their conversation, Adams requested that she not be apprehended tonight or that she be apprehended at home. Donegan agreed to this and instructed Adams to call at Donegan's office tomorrow, at which time he would be advised finally if the arrangements for Friday were satisfactory. I informed Mr. Ladd of the above.

Supervisor Kenneth Delavigne of the WFO called at 10:45 this morning and referred to a telephone call received by Harold Shapiro shortly after the arrest of Coplon from an individual named Rosen. The tenor of this call was generally that Rosen was commiserating with Shapiro and asked him if there was anything he could do to help him.

Mr. Delavigne stated that Rosen has now been identified as A. B. Rosen, formerly head of the Civil Rights Unit in the Department of Justice and now a practicing attorney in Chicago. Rosen has been in touch with Shapiro recently and has indicated that he is a close contact of Mr. Ray Whearty of the Department. In a call yesterday, Rosen, who is in Chicago, told Shapiro that he planned on being in New York over this week-end and would try to see Whearty. The purpose of his seeing Whearty was not explained although it is surmised that it may be on behalf of Shapiro.

Shapiro is planning on leaving Washington for New York at 2:00 P.M. today, arriving in New York at 6:00 P.M. and is planning to meet Rosen at the Harmony (phonetic) club. Rosen told Shapiro that he wanted to talk to him before he saw Whearty.

Mr. Delavigne recalled that during one of the two interviews with Shapiro, he indicated that he might endeavor to see Coplon. Should he do this, he said he "would let someone know, possibly Whearty."

Mr. Delavigne explained that Shapiro has been under physical surveillance by the WFO but he is very surveillance conscious and it has been necessary to discontinue the surveillance on occasions. Delavigne said that Agents of the WFO will not continue the surveillance on Shapiro on his trip to New York unless the Bureau's instructions are to the contrary.

RECOMMENDATION:

Since it is known that Shapiro is going to New York for the purpose of meeting Rosen, it would appear that no purpose would be served to have him taken to New York by WFO Agents. It is suggested, however, that the New York Office be instructed to pick up Shapiro upon his arrival there at 6:00 P.M. It is noted that the NY Office has previously conducted a surveillance on Shapiro and he is known to Agents in that office. If you concur, the New York Office will be cautioned to exercise the utmost discretion in its handling of this surveillance because Shapiro is extremely surveillance conscious.

It is also suggested that consideration be given to notifying Mr. Whearty concerning this matter for his information.

PURPOSE:

The purpose of this information is to outline instructions which were furnished to the New York Office concerning the surveillance of Harold Shapiro, an employee of the Department, during the time he is in New York over this weekend.

DETAILS:

In a memorandum to you dated March 18, 1949, concerning this matter which is attached, Supervisor Kenneth Delavigne of the Washington Field Office advised that Harold Shapiro was going to New York over this weekend where he expected to meet A. B. Rosen, former head of the Civil Rights Unit in the Department of Justice and now a practicing attorney in Chicago. Rosen had previously told Shapiro that he would see him in New York this weekend and after talking with Shapiro would try to see Ray Whearty of the Department. The purpose of Rosen seeing Whearty was not explained but it was surmised that it might be on behalf of Shapiro.

At 3:15 PM today, Mr. Delavigne called me and stated that Shapiro presumably left Washington at 2:00 PM today via the Pennsylvania Railroad for New York. He said that Shapiro has planned to meet Rosen at the Harmony (phonetic) Club in New York City. Mr. Delavigne further advised that Shapiro's home is in New Hartford, Connecticut.

In accordance with your instructions, I called ASAC Belmont of the New York Office and furnished him with the following instructions: New York is to pick up Shapiro upon his arrival at 6:00 PM and keep him under continuous surveillance during the entire time he is in New York. I furnished all of the background information regarding this matter to Mr. Belmont and told him to cover the meeting between Rosen and Shapiro at the Harmony Club, as well as any other contacts Shapiro may make and told him we were particularly interested in any contacts Shapiro might have with Judith Coplon during the time he is in New York.

Mr. Belmont raised the question as to whether Shapiro should be kept under surveillance should he go to his home in New Hartford, Connecticut. After this matter was checked with you by Mr. Leo L. Laughlin, I advised Mr. Belmont that Shapiro should be surveilled to his home in New Hartford, Connecticut by New York Agents in the event he does not go there. They should then arrange to turn the surveillance over to the New Haven Office and the New Haven Office should be instructed to keep a full time physical surveillance on Shapiro while he is there and when he leaves, take him back to New York where he will be turned over to New York Agents. I told Mr. Belmont that New York should then keep him under surveillance until he leaves for Washington, D. C., and that they should put him on the train at New York and then call the Bureau advising us that he has left, giving us the time of his departure and the identity of the train on which he is coming to Washington. I specifically instructed Mr. Belmont that this surveillance must be handled most discreetly and that it should be lost rather than ^{have} for the Agents made.

Mr. Belmont asked me for a description of A. B. ~~Rosen~~ and I advised him that I would endeavor to secure such a description for him, inasmuch as there was no description of Rosen in the Bureau's files.

In this connection, I called Mr. Ray Whearty of the Department and he furnished me with the following description of Rosen:

Age - 33

Height - 5 feet 10 inches

Hair - Black wavey, parted in the middle

Eyes - Black and flashy

Complexion - Rudy

Teeth - Very good

Characteristics - Somewhat round shouldered with heavy black eyebrows, a heavy chin and a mouth that assumes a triangular shape when he smiles. Also that Rosen is beginning to get fat around the middle.

I immediately telephonically furnished this information to Mr. Belmont.

I also instructed Mr. Belmont that if it were possible to do so, arrangements should be made to obtain the names of individuals called by Shapiro from whatever hotel he may stay at while in New York.

Mr. Belmont stated that the Bureau instructions would be complied with and he would furnish the Bureau with the results of this surveillance upon its completion. I again warned Mr. Belmont that Shapiro is very surveillance conscious and that good judgment and great care should be exercised in carrying out this assignment in order that Shapiro would not be aware of the fact that he was under surveillance.

Grand Jury to Get Spy Case Today Of FBI Girl and Soviet Engineer

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP).—Details of the newest case of alleged spying against the United States, involving a woman employe of the Justice Department and a Russian engineer, will be laid before a federal grand jury tomorrow.

The principals in the case, Miss Judith Coplon, 27, and Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, have been served with subpoenas to appear before the grand jury.

The two were seized Friday night by FBI agents who reported trailing them almost the length of Manhattan Island before taking them into custody.

The young woman was accused of attempting to turn over to the Russian documents she had taken from Justice Department files.

The Russian, who has been working on plans for a permanent United Nations headquarters in New York, is held in $100,000 bond. Miss Coplon was held in $20,000 bail.

Neither had been able to furnish it tonight.

Meanwhile it appeared likely the Russian government would insist that Gubitchev is immune from prosecution because of his diplomatic status. He is attached to the Russian United Nations delegation.

Interviewed

The Justice Department said in Washington that Soviet representatives had told the man in an interview last midnight that he is fully protected by diplomatic immunity.

The Soviet ambassador already had made representations to the State Department in Washington.

The State Department's answer was that it is investigating the case. Wilder Foote, director of the UN press section, said Gubitchev did not have diplomatic immunity.

Details of the case will be presented to the grand jury, beginning at 11 a.m. (E. S. T.) Monday morning by two special assistants to the attorney general, Raymond P. Whearty and Thomas Donegan. This was announced in Washington by Attorney General Tom Clark.

Meanwhile the documents which the FBI said were taken from Miss Coplon's handbag at the time of her arrest have been sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington for detailed examination, the Justice Department said.

These documents, the FBI said, constituted typed extracts of government papers.

Coincident with the federal grand jury investigation in New York, the House Un-American Activities Committee may decide in Washington tomorrow whether to make:

New Search

1—Another search for spies within the U. S. Government.

2—And an inquiry to ascertain whether foreigners attached to the United Nations may be indulging in espionage activities.

Rep. Nixon (R., Calif.), committee member, has said that the committee got information nearly two and half years ago about conditions in the Justice Department office where Miss Coplon worked.

But, Nixon said, the department refused to co-operate and further inquiry was blocked.

He said the department displayed "shocking, inexcusable laxity" in Miss Coplon's case.

SUBJECT: BINGHAMTON SUN
BINGHAMTON, NEW YORK

There is transmitted a newspaper clipping of an article which appeared in the Binghamton Sun on the morning of March 7, 1949 captioned "Grand Jury to get Spy Case Today of FBI Girl and Soviet Engineer."

SA Patrick A. Munley called my attention to the article and advised that WILLIAM H. HILL, President of the Binghamton Sun and Publisher of that newspaper, was away from Binghamton and would be unavailable for a period of thirty days.. Upon my instructions he contacted WALTER J. LYON, Managing Editor, and called the article to his attention, advising him that Miss JUDITH COPLON was not an employee of the FBI and had not been an employee of the FBI.

Agent Munley advises that Mr. LYON was disgusted about the part referring to the "FBI Girl" and explained that a new man was handling the City Desk on the preceding evening and that he was not "too smart." He advised that he knew from the press reports that the girl was not an employee of the FBI. He informed Agent Munley he was sorry that it had happened but made no mention about a retraction. In accordance with my instructions Agent Munley informed Mr. LYON that we wanted to call this matter to his attention so that there would be no misunderstanding relative to Miss COPLON's not being employed by the Bureau. No request was made for a retraction, the interview merely being placed on the basis of wanting to make certain that he knew the facts.

For the information of the Bureau, the Binghamton Sun during the period of time I have been assigned to this office has on a number of occasions misstated information and on a number of occasions to my knowledge has inaccurately reported news items, and my impression is that this occurs more frequently than with most newspapers. It is also my impression that this is attributable to the caliber of personnel employed by that newspaper rather than to intent on the part of the Publisher.

I do not plan to take any further action in this instance.

Irrespective of the merits and future outcome of the case involving Judith Coplon I think the work of the New York Office in handling this surveillance was outstanding. Scheidt tells me that a total of 33 representatives of the New York Office worked on the case throughout the night including 25 agents, 4 clerks, a nurse and 3 supervisors. They were on duty from 8 a.m. Friday morning, many staying until 4 p.m. Saturday afternoon. To date Scheidt has had no requests for Compensatory Leave. It would of course be most difficult in a big operation like this to single out individuals and I think that it would be well to send the attached letter to the New York Office.

Reference is made to my memorandum of March 10, 1949, setting forth that Mr. William E. Foley, on the evening of March 9, 1949, had made reference to the HCUA release asserting that the Committee had alerted the Department about two years ago on the possible disloyalty of Coplon. At that time, Mr. Foley advised me that there was a reference in the HCUA release to a letter dated in September, 1946, and he advised me that that letter had been located and it made no disloyal reference to Coplon. He also told me the Attorney General was making a press release denying the statement of the HCUA so far as it related to furnishing information about Coplon.

There is attached a carbon copy of a memorandum, dated September 3, 1946, which Mr. Foley handed to Special Agent Courtland Jones of the Washington Field Office at 5:25 p.m., March 10, and requested that it be delivered to me. Mr. Foley made no other comment except to say that he would have given it to me but he had to go to see Mr. Peyton Ford. It is understood that this attached copy of the memorandum dated September 3, 1946, is the one referred to by Mr. Foley when talking to me on March 9, 1949. The name of Coplon appears therein, but there is no allegation of disloyalty contained in the memorandum relating to her.

It is noted the press release made by the Attorney General announcing the indictment of Coplon and Gubitchev sets forth that no Committee of Congress prior to Miss Coplon's arrest had been in communication with the Department of Justice concerning the activity of Judith Coplon.

MEMORANDUM

TO : Honorable John S. Wood, Chairman
Committee on Un-American Activities

ATTENTION: Ernie Adamson, Chief Counsel
Committee on Un-American Activities

SUBJECT : Foreign Agents Registration Section
U. S. Department of Justice

DATE : September 3, 1946

This is to advise that a source considered confidential who was closely connected with the government branch mentioned above, called at the office and stated that the agency mentioned is in a process of deterioration and that it has recently been cut down to nothing. He said that the agency has recently been cut down from one hundred political analysts to four political analysts.

Also the source said that the person presently in charge of the Registration Section at one time wrote a blistering letter to Attorney General Biddle wherein he stated that there is no need for such a registration statute. Nathaniel Eliff is the person presently in charge of the section and the person who wrote the letter condemning the registration statute.

Louis Hemyer

Judith Coplon
Leon Segal

b7C

The source also said that one of the attorneys in the registration section named David Lockstavor had called the "Readers Digest" magazine

a Fascist publication. The source said that in effect Bookstaver and Elliff have attempted to create a Pro-Soviet attitude among the employees of the division. The source said everything pro-Russian is considered satisfactory by the administrators of the section. Everything anti-Russian is condemned.

The source related that since Elliff has taken over the section, cases are never moved to the top officials and they never see them.

The source said that numerous specific cases have been called to the attention of Elliff and others which have never been prosecuted. For instance he said one Antonio ~~Bimba~~ has acted as an agent for Lithuanian Communists, but has never registered with the Department of Justice as a foreign agent.

Also he said that one Leo ~~Kryzcki~~, of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, was asked by one ~~Kadzelewski~~, a Minister of the Polish Provisional Government, to secure the services of someone to set up and manage an American branch of the Polish Press Agency. Kryzcki recommended Edward ~~Falkowski~~ who is now registered as an agent of a foreign principal. Kryzcki has never registered as a foreign agent although he acted as an agent for a Moscow puppet when he secured the services of Falkowski.

The source said that the following are also agents of a foreign principal but have never registered:

- ~~Polonia Society of the International Workers Order~~
- ~~Kosciusko League~~
- ~~Union of Polish Patriots~~
- ~~Polish Committee of National Liberation~~

The source said that the Kosciusko League and the Polonia Society of the International Workers Order had solicited funds for the Polish Army in the USSR and had therefore violated the Act when they did not register as agents of foreign principals.

He also said that the Union of Polish Patriots and the Polish Committee of National Liberation are direct agents of Russia, since both organizations during the war functioned from Moscow.

Also the source said the ~~"American-Jewish Year Book"~~ is full of information which indicates that many of the organizations mentioned are acting as agents of various foreign groups.

Further the source said that an organization called the ~~National Organization of Polish Jews~~ received $3000 from the Polish Government Information Center of London, England, for the purpose of publishing a book entitled ~~"Black Book of Polish Jewry."~~ The Polish Government Information Center, however, is part of the anti-Russian group which functioned as the London Polish Government in exile during the war years.

After publication of the books called the "Black Book of Polish Jewry" certain individuals connected with the Foreign Agents Registration Section decided that the National Organization of Polish Jews should be required to register as an agent of a foreign principal. ~~George Kovarsky~~ of the Department of Justice opposed the decision to have the agency register with the Department of Justice.

Congressman Emanuel Celler also opposed the registration and said that he could not permit the Department to require registration of the Organization of Polish Jews.

The local office of the "Enai-Drith" was also instrumental in preventing the "National Organization of Polish Jews" from being compelled to register with the Department of Justice. The Enai-Drith initially was contacted by George Kovarsky of the Department, and this individual, along with Herbert Kechaler and the Enai-Drith, attempted to work out a solution whereby the above-named organization could avoid registering. Originally it was suggested that the organization could repay the money to the London Poles and prevent registering. The money later actually was repaid, but the question of agency has not been eliminated since the book or the "Black Book of Polish Jewry" was actually published.

Lawrence Knapp of the Department of Justice was the individual who was instrumental in attempting to compel the organization discussed to register.

All in all, the source said that apparently there is no attempt by the Department of Justice to appropriately enforce the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

As a matter of interest, it should be noted that Nathan Elliff has referred to the Committee obscenely. As stated herein, Elliff is Chief of the Foreign Agents Registration Section, and also as has been stated, wrote a letter to the Attorney General protesting the necessity of a Foreign Agents-Registration statute.

I have noticed in the press that Congressman Ford has stated that several years ago he had called to the attention of the Department of Justice certain activities of the section of the Department in which Miss Coplon was employed. The press report set forth that the House Committee on Un-American Activities had received some information indicating either irregularities or a question of security in its mind as to the personnel of that particular section of the Department of Justice.

This Bureau would appreciate being advised of any such information which this Committee called to the attention of the Department, and also being furnished with any information developed by the Department following any inquiry or investigation which may have been made upon the memorandum from the House Committee on Un-American Affairs which Congressman Ford stated was supplied to the Department of Justice. The purpose of this request is that it is possible that this Bureau may find some leads therefrom which would be of assistance in the present investigation of Miss Coplon and her associates.

Coplon Girl Tagged As Pro-Red in 1946

A professor in a Midwestern university warned the House Committee on Un-American Activities about Judith Coplon, now charged with being in a spy conspiracy, as far back as 1946.

Representative John S. Wood (D., Ga.), chairman of the committee, said in a formal statement yesterday that the professor named Miss Coplon as one of four "pro-Soviet" Department of Justice employees who had "submerged" certain investigations referred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section.

Miss Coplon, 27, was an analyst in this section when she was arrested in New York last Friday night along with Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, a Russian engineer on the staff of the United Nations. They were charged with conspiracy to commit espionage to remove Government documents relating to national defense.

Wrote Committee in 1946.

Chairman Wood did not name the Midwestern university professor who wrote to the Un-American Affairs Committee on September 3, 1946.

"The professor," he said, "stated that the employees of the Registration Section of the Department of Justice were adopting a policy that everything pro-Soviet was considered legitimate activity, and that everything anti-Soviet was condemned by the employees of the Registration Section."

"Four names of persons who were employed in this section at that time were given by the informant. One of them was Judith Coplon."

Required to Register

Under the law foreign agents or their representatives in the United States are required to register with the Department of Justice. Miss Coplon, a graduate of Barnard College, was an analyst in the Registration Section and was valued because of her knowledge of foreign languages.

"The professor stated," Chairman Wood said, "that certain investigations referred to the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the department were in fact being submerged, and knowledge of them was being prevented from reaching higher officials of the Justice Department."

He said the professor furnished information about certain individuals who should have registered as foreign agents but never did so. This, he represented the professor as saying, was because of "manipulation" by certain individuals connected with the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice.

Chairman Wood said the files showed that the Un-American Affairs Committee requested certain information from the Department of Justice regarding the foreign agents registration section. This request, he said, was referred to one of the four persons in the section about whom the midwestern professor had complained.

"Never Furnished"

At any rate, he said, "the information requested was never furnished."

The Georgia law-maker said that legislation was now being prepared which would be directed at individuals active in espionage rings and individuals who form Communist cells within the Government.

He said that the clerical staff of the committee was now trying to answer a backlog of 250,000 communications from the American public.

Hearings soon would be held, he said, on the proposed new laws.

Woman Still in Jail

Meantime, Miss Coplon still was in jail in New York, having failed to raise $20,000 bail. Gubitchev, the Russian engineer, also was in jail, the Soviet government having failed thus far to put up $100,000 bail.

A New York grand jury will resume its inquiry into the espionage case today, listening first to one of the FBI agents who arrested the couple last Friday.

Over the weekend it was reported that a roundup of other suspected Government employees would grow out of the Coplon-Gubitchev case.

From all indications, however, Miss Coplon had no confederates in the Government service. In any case, it was evident yesterday that no wholesale arrests of Government workers was in prospect.

Clark Denies Congress Units Warned Him on Spy Suspect

By United Press

Attorney General Clark yesterday denied that any congressional committee ever warned the Justice department of the activities of Judith Coplon, who has been indicted for stealing government secrets.

Several members of Congress, including Sens. Ferguson (R) of Michigan and Mundt (R) of South Dakota, have charged the department knew of Miss Coplon's activities two years ago. They said both the House un-American activities committee and a subcommittee of the Senate judiciary committee had warned Clark of Miss Coplon's pro-Soviet leanings.

Miss Coplon, a Justice department employee for the past five years, was arrested in New York last Friday, with Valentine A. Gubitchev, Russian attache to the United Nations. She was carrying in her purse a flat packet of typewritten papers which the Justice department said contained "abstracts" from secret government files.

Miss Coplon, 27, worked for the department's foreign agents registration section.

Denying the congressional charges, Clark said:

"Prior to Miss Coplon's arrest, no committee of Congress had been in communication with the Department of Justice concerning the activity of Judith Coplon."

Your memorandum of March 14, 1949, calls attention to press notices to the effect that Congressman Wood stated that several years ago he had called to the attention of this Department certain activities of the Section in which subject was employed. You request to be advised of any information which the Committee may have called to the attention of the Department.

Chairman Wood's press release of March 8, 1949, is the first intimation this Department received to the effect that the Committee had ever been furnished with the name of Judith Coplon or with any information relating to the Foreign Agents Registration Section. On March 10, 1949, there was turned over to the Department a copy of an inter-committee memorandum, dated September 3, 1946, which shows that the only information the Committee received concerning Judith Coplon was that she was one of the four analysts named in the memorandum who were still employed by the Foreign Agents Registration Section after the heavy reduction in staff which occurred in 1946. The memorandum reflects further that the Committee had received a complaint to the effect that the reduction in staff would lead to a deterioration of the Section and result in a failure to enforce the Foreign Agents Registration Act. The Committee's source is alleged to have stated further, as reflected in the press release, that the administration of the Act was resulting in a pro-Russian attitude which required the registration of anti-Russian groups but not of pro-Soviet groups.

Since the Chairman of the House Committee on un-American Activities is reflected in the press to have stated that the source of the foregoing is now a professor at Wayne University, it is certain that the source of the information was Stephen W. Mamchur. Mamchur, who now teaches at Wayne University, was released from his job in 1946 due to the reduction in staff. At that time he protested to Assistant Attorney General Caudle because of the effect which the staff cut would have upon the efficiency of the Section. He made no mention within the Department, however, of any charge of a pro-Soviet bias within the Section. The files of the Department fail to reflect that the House Committee ever communicated with the Department prior to March 10, 1949, regarding Mamchur's complaint.

In August, 1946, an investigator from the Committee did seek to examine certain files in the Foreign Agents Registration Section which were not part of the public file. Following the Departmental rule the Chief of the Section denied to the Committee's investigator access to these files. Thereafter, on September 20, 1946, the Clerk of the Committee wrote to the Attorney General requesting these files to which the Committee was again denied access. This was accomplished by a telephone conversation by Mr. Harold Baynton, notation of which appears in the file. Mr. Baynton explained to the Committee's Clerk that confidential files of the Department could not be released but that specific questions would be answered whenever possible. There is no indication that the Committee ever approached the Department in this matter again or ever explained why it wished to review the specific files for which a request had been made.

Dear Sir:

Reference Bureau letter February 2, 1949, concerning the current investigation of JUDITH COPLON.

It is pointed out that the technique being used in the above investigation might, at least temporarily, affect the ability of this office to use Confidential Informant [REDACTED]. The possibility exists that the information mentioned in the referenced letter might already have been transmitted to AMTORG or official Russian circles in New York. If this has been done it is believed that it would cause the Russians to take security measures that would focus attention on [REDACTED] particularly since [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] In their expected attempts to identify [REDACTED] the AMTORG people might resort to plants that conceivably could involve [REDACTED].

In view of the above, therefore, the agents who deal with [REDACTED] will make only the most circumspect contacts with him and will undertake no highly confidential operations at AMTORG for such period of time as deemed by the Bureau and the New York Office to be adequate for security.

The New York Office would appreciate the comments of the Bureau in this matter inasmuch as [REDACTED].

In connection with the instant investigation, I desire to call to your attention the close relationship which has existed between Judith Coplon and [redacted]

Our investigation of Judith Coplon reflected that from shortly following the institution of the investigation on December 30, 1948, to March 4, 1949, Miss Coplon spent most of her free time in the company of [redacted]

On January 7, 1949, a physical surveillance reflected that [redacted] and Coplon drove together in Chapin's automobile to Baltimore where they registered at the Southern Hotel as [redacted]

[redacted] Connecticut. They were assigned to room 412 and checked out of the hotel at 3:01 P.M. on January 8, 1949. That night at 7:07 P.M., they registered at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia as man and wife and checked out at 4:09 P.M. on January 9, 1949. They occupied room 1523. On January 19, 1949, they travelled together to New York City where [redacted] registered at the Piccadilly Hotel. Judith Coplon accompanied him to his room but did not stay overnight. She went to her parents' home in Brooklyn, New York.

On the nights of February 4, February 11, February 12, February 13, and February 17, physical surveillances reflected that Judith Coplon was in [redacted] apartment at [redacted] overnight.

During an interview of [redacted] on March 5, 1949, [redacted] Judith Coplon at his apartment at various times, as well as in the Southern Hotel in Baltimore and the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia on the occasion of their trip to those cities on January 7 and January 8, 1949.

In a subsequent interview with [redacted] conducted on March 14, 1949, he again admitted to the Agents [redacted] Coplon on various occasions. [redacted] I decline to name this friend as he does not know Judith and has never met her so far as I know as he was out of the city on this particular occasion. Shortly thereafter, in the early part of January, Judith and I drove to Baltimore, Maryland in my car after work one Friday. I don't recall definitely who suggested this trip but presume it was I. In Baltimore we stayed at the Southern Hotel, where I registered for Judith and myself as [redacted] Connecticut. We spent the night together in the hotel room.

[redacted] at this point declined further comment concerning the trip above mentioned or to further furnish a statement concerning [redacted] with Judith Coplon. The written portion of the statement obtained up to this point was handed to [redacted] to read and he affirmed that it was true in substance and accurately reflected what he had said. [redacted] stated that he was willing to cooperate in every respect with the FBI in respect to the case of Judith Coplon but that he felt that in further discussing or furnishing a signed statement concerning [redacted] with her he was 'sticking his neck out' and actually not giving assistance of value to the espionage investigation.

"Witness:

[redacted] has advised that the arrest of Judith Coplon came as a great surprise to him and that he had never had any reason to suspect that she was not entirely loyal to the United States.

PURPOSE

This memorandum is prepared in response to your pencilled questions on the attached memorandum from Mr. H. B. Fletcher to me dated March 11, 1949, to which was attached a copy of a memorandum dated September 3, 1946 from the Chief Counsel of the Committee on Un-American Activities to the Chairman of the Committee, which copy was furnished the Bureau by Mr. William E. Foley, of the Department, on March 10, 1949.

"WAS THIS EVER CALLED TO OUR ATTENTION BEFORE?"

It does not appear that this was ever called to our attention prior to the arrest of Judith Coplon. A complete file search against the name of Coplon, as well as against the name of Nathan Thomas Elliff, failed to disclose any references to this memorandum of the Committee on Un-American Activities.

You will recall, however, that subsequent to the arrest of Coplon, Mr. Lou Russell, House Committee Investigator, advised an Agent in strictest confidence that about September, 1946, he came to the Department of Justice to check a list of names against the Department files, which list he believed contained the names of both Coplon and Elliff. His desire to check the files was as a result of information furnished the House Committee by Stephen W. Manchur, a former employee of the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department. According to Mr. Russell, he was referred to Elliff who declined to make the file available for review and who stated that he would take the matter up with the Attorney General. Russell stated that a follow-up letter was subsequently directed to the Department by the House Committee but no reply was received.

The memorandum dated September 3, 1946, a copy of which was made available by Mr. Foley, would appear to be either the memorandum that Russell had when he desired to check the files, or the follow-up sent by the House Committee to the Department.

"WHAT HAVE WE ON ELIFF?"Background

A Departmental Applicant investigation was conducted concerning Nathan Thomas Elliff in 1940, as a result of a request from Mr. Mathew F.

McGuire, the Assistant to the Attorney General. The investigation disclosed that he was born at Pekin, Illinois, July 20, 1905. He attended Pekin Community High School from September, 1919, to June, 1923, and graduated with honors. He entered the University of Illinois, September 17, 1923, transferred to the law school, September, 1925, and received his LL.B. Degree on June 13, 1928. He was admitted to the Illinois State Bar October 11, 1928, and was associated with his father in the practice of law in Pekin from 1928 to 1930. For several months during 1930, he was employed in the New Business Department of the St. Louis Union Trust Company, St. Louis, Missouri, and subsequently returned to Pekin and was again associated with his father in the practice of law. He acted as State's Attorney of Tazewell County, Illinois, from 1932 to 1936.

The investigation failed to disclose any derogatory information except that he had a speech impediment and lacked vigor in presenting cases in court. (77-10663)

Employment in the Department

Elliff's personnel file in the Department indicates that he first took the oath of office on August 20, 1940 as principal attorney in the Criminal Division. He served as an attorney and Special Assistant to the Attorney General until his resignation on April 4, 1947, after which he returned to Pekin, Illinois to practice law.

During 1946 he acted as Chief of the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department and, in addition, served as Chief of the Internal Security Section. The personnel file discloses no derogatory information concerning him and he consistently received Excellent efficiency reports. He was one of the nine individuals in the Department of Justice who were recommended to receive the Selective Service Medal on March 19, 1946. It is noted that for some time he handled Selective Service matters in the Department.

You will recall that in November, 1945, "Newsweek," carried a story on the case of the eight saboteurs. Assistant Director Nichols was advised confidentially by Colonel McInerney of the Department that John Terrell of "Newsweek" had filched a copy of the transcript pertaining to the saboteur case. It was stated that Terrell got a copy of the transcript from someone in the Criminal Division and that the first draft of the summary had been prepared either by Nathan Elliff or in Elliff's section. Subsequent information received concerning this incident indicated that the Attorney General had approved of giving an advanced copy of the brief to Terrell and that Elliff apparently was only acting pursuant to the Attorney General's instructions, even though the material had not been previously approved by the Bureau. (98-10288-35-29; 94-3-4-61-92 & 100)

On December 5, 1945, Mr. E. A. Tamm met with Mr. James McGranery and others of the Department to discuss the program of conducting investigations of alien property cases in Europe and the Bureau's assignment of Agents to these investigations. Mr. Tamm advised Mr. McGranery of five conditions which must be met before you would be in a position to consider the request that Agents be sent to Europe. One of the conditions was that attorneys in the Department with whom the Bureau had been unable to work harmoniously were not to be assigned to handle this matter. Mr. McGranery was advised that you would not permit Bureau Agents to undertake an assignment of this kind if "Mr. William Powers Maloney, Mr. Elliff or Mr. Woerhide were to participate in this assignment."

Interview with Stephen W. Mamchur

Dr. Stephen W. Mamchur, in the interview concerning Judith Coplon, subsequent to her arrest, stated that she was connected with a group of individuals in the Foreign Agents Registration Section described as "pro-Soviet." This group included Nathan Elliff, Louis Nemzer, and others. According to Mamchur, he recalls nothing specific as to the pro-Soviet attitude of Nathan Elliff except his close and personal association with Nemzer who was his assistant. Elliff often belittled the informant's efforts to more rigidly enforce the Registration Act and definitely did not want the Act enforced. Elliff was a close friend of Nemzer in and out of the office and informant believes Nemzer had considerable influence over Elliff. He further stated Nemzer had referred to anyone who was anti-Soviet as a Fascist and continuously charged red baiting to any stand taken by persons criticizing Communists or pro-Communist activities.

According to the informant, Nemzer also charged red baiting to any anti-Communist activity and expressed displeasure with the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Both Elliff and Nemzer were heard to call House Committee members "those SOBs."

Interview with Elliff

The Springfield Office was instructed to interview Elliff on March 10, 1949 concerning his knowledge of Judith Coplon and to determine whether anyone had ever furnished him derogatory information relating to her.

He was interviewed on March 11, 1949 and advised that ~~presently~~ he was employed in the Foreign Agents Registration Section when that Section was taken over by the Criminal Division, and that he had no information concerning her activities or associates either in or out of the office. He stated that when the Section was reduced in personnel, he reviewed her personnel file but did not recall any derogatory information contained therein. He stated that he knew his name appeared in the files of the House Un-American Activities Committee as a Communist. He received his information from Congressman Harold A. Velde by phone on March 6, 1949. He was also in telephonic communication with Mr. James McInerney, Mr. Dave Bookstaver and Alexander Campbell of the Department, as a result of which he has concluded that when Mamchur was dismissed from the Foreign Agents Registration Section, he went to the House Committee and gave the names of Elliff, Coplon, Bookstaver and Nemzer as being Communists.

Elliff concluded that Mamchur was motivated by revenge. Elliff recalled that the House Committee Investigator Russell had once asked him as Head of the Section for confidential files of the Department, which included FBI reports. Elliff refused the request and told Russell it would be placed before his superiors for their opinion. Russell was visibly upset, according to Elliff. Elliff wrote a memorandum referring the request to his superiors and discussed the situation personally with McInerney. Elliff was advised by Mr. Campbell of the Department last week that this memorandum has now been located and that the House Committee had retracted any statement to the effect that Elliff was uncooperative and further admitted that Russell had never asked Elliff about Coplon.

Elliff stated he had told this same story to the Secretary of ~~the~~ Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois.

He further indicated that he could not recall any information concerning Coplon which should have made him suspicious of her, and emphasized that all during his employment with the Justice Department, security had been of prime importance to him.

Mr. Elbert H. Gray, Identification Division employee reported the following information concerning Judith Coplon:

Mr. Gray lives at 1419 Rhode Island Avenue, N. W., in a rooming house owned by Mr. Franklin Whorton. The colored maid named Lillian (last name not known), who cleans this rooming house each day from 7:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., told Mr. Gray, after seeing Miss Coplon's picture in the paper that she had known Miss Coplon previously.

Lillian said that she worked for a Mr. Marvin Tobise a few years ago when he lived in the vicinity of Mt. Alto Hospital and at that time Judith Coplon lived next door. Tobise became very friendly with Coplon and had reportedly obtained a job for her in some Government department. However, Miss Coplon declined to accept this position in order to accept a position in the Justice Department. (It is to be noted that this would be in error; however, it is possible that Coplon did not want to transfer to another Government position from the Justice Department.) Tobise at that time was also employed in a Government position. He is now living, according to Lillian, in San Francisco, California. Lillian also stated that she was cutting a picture of Miss Coplon out of one of the local newspapers and mailing it to Mr. Tobise just to remind or ask him if she wasn't the girl who lived next door to him a few years ago.

The Bureau's files do not reflect any information concerning Marvin Tobise. This information is being furnished to you for your information in connection with your current investigation of this matter.

OFFICE MEMORANDUM - UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : Mr. W. M. Ladd

FROM : H. B. Fletcher

SUBJECT: LOYALTY PROGRAM

DATE: March 15, 1949

At 11:30 a.m. this date, former Special Agent Walter Yeagley of ECA phoned and advised Mr. Whitson that there had been some conversations between General Clark and Director Paul Hoffman, with the result that General Hoffman and Yeagley are going to the Department to confer with Mr. Coplon Ford and Mr. C. [redacted] regarding employees of ECA involved in the Loyalty Program. [redacted] also mentioned that he did not know specifically what the Department had in mind. Yeagley mentioned recently in connection with the investigation of David Lasser, who is being considered for assignment to ECA, that the Department had been requested to advise whether the Workers Alliance was controlled by the Communists while Lasser was associated with it. A reply had been received from the Department over the signature of Mr. Peyton [redacted] which could be interpreted as stating that the Workers Alliance was controlled only after Lasser had severed connection with it. [redacted] there were no initials on the Department's reply but he was calling it to our attention in case there might be a tie-in to the Coplon case; that is, that the research on the Workers Alliance might have been conducted by Coplon.

ACTION:

This is for your information.

With regard to the Coplon case, [redacted] that Washington Field is already conducting investigation as to the various assignments and types of work that Judith [redacted] handled prior to her recent arrest.

At 5:25 P.M., COPLON emerged from the Department of Justice Building and entered a 1946 black Plymouth sedan with white sidewall tires bearing current Connecticut license number BP-280.

On January 7, 1949, a teletype request was sent to the New Haven Office to obtain registration information concerning this license and New Haven replied on the same date that 1949 Connecticut automobile license number BP-280 was issued to HAROLD P. Information regarding HAROLD P. SHAPIRO appears in another section of this report.

It was ascertained that [redacted] car was driven to the Downtown Garage by a hotel attendant. His parking ticket number was 11167.

The surveillance was subsequently at this point turned over to the Baltimore Field Division but was discontinued at 9 A.M. on January 8, 1949.

By teletype of January 10, 1949, the Baltimore Field Division was requested to ascertain the check-out time of COPLON and [redacted] from the Southern Hotel and were requested in the event hotel records reflected subject and her escort checked out on January 8, 1949 to set out a lead for the Philadelphia Office to determine if the same registration was made at the Bellevue Stratford there. By teletype dated January 12, 1949, the Baltimore Field Division advised that the individuals registered as [redacted] at 11:16 P.M., January 7, 1949 and checked out at 8:01 P.M. on January 8, 1949.

Baltimore teletype advised that it had been determined that no phone calls were made by either the subject or Mr. SHAPIRO. This teletype also set out a lead for the Philadelphia Office to check registrations at the Bellevue Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia under the names of [redacted]

~~SECRET~~

Washington T-3 advised that the subject had returned to Washington, D.C. later in the day of January 9, 1949.

January 13, 1949

On January 10, 1949, confidential informant Washington T-3 advised that the subject had been in contact with one [redacted] and that she planned to have lunch with him on January 13.

It is noted that Washington T-1 advised on February 10, 1949 that COPLON had a notation on the January 13, 1949 leaf of a calendar pad in her office, [redacted]

At 12:40 P.M., on instant date, subject left the Department of Justice Building, proceeded on foot to the S.W. corner of 14th and G Streets, at which location is situated the Pennsylvania Railroad ticket office. Just outside of this entrance she met a man described as 6' 1" in height; weight 170 pounds; age 25-30; hair brown, cut short; wearing light brown suit, brown shoes, brown and checked tie and eye glasses. This individual, who undoubtedly was [redacted] met the subject at 12:50 P.M., talked to her for approximately one minute and then left her and walked to the Hamilton National Bank located at 619 14th Street, N.W.

The subject walked slowly south on 14th Street, window shopping until 12:57 P.M., when she again met [redacted] at 14th & F Street entrance of Garfinkel's Department Store. They entered this store and after subject made a purchase of what appeared to be a set of men's cuff links, returned to the sidewalk and after viewing merchandise on display in the show windows, re-entered the store. At this point, because of security reasons, the surveillance was discontinued. It should be pointed out that Garfinkel's Department Store contains a cafeteria.

After [] had left the Hamilton National Bank, Special Agent JOHN CAVADINE immediately contacted bank teller W. L. SANDERSON, who exhibited a check which [] had just deposited. This check was numbered 30490, dated January 7, 1949; was drawn on the Fifth Avenue Office of the Guaranty Trust Company, New York, Fifth Avenue and 49th Street; payable to [] and issued by the "New Republic," 40 East 49th Street, New York City.

b6

It is noted that Special Agent CAVADINE at the time that the subject and [] met on the corner of 14th and G Streets, N.W., prior to his going to the bank, observed [] stuffing what appeared to be a business size, white envelope into his pocket which may have been given him by COPLON, although the transfer from her to him was not actually observed.

It is further pointed out that Washington T-3 advised on January 10, 1949, that [] had indicated that he was working on a "column" and that he intended going to New York over the weekend of January 19 and 20 as there was a story in New York "brewing" which he intended writing. The possibility therefore exists that the subject at this meeting furnished [] with some material from the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice.

January 14, 1949

A surveillance was instituted by Special Agents THOMAS A. MENDENHALL and H. DUDLEY PAYNE and HAROLD W. BRUEGGEMAN at the Union Station and at 12:45 P.M., the subject was located on the Pennsylvania train leaving Washington for New York at 1:00 P.M. Agents PAYNE and MENDENHALL boarded the train and continued the surveillance to New York City.

The New York Office was telephonically advised that COPLON occupied coach No. 3911 of train #176 of the Pennsylvania railroad and was requested to place her under physical surveillance upon her arrival.

~~SECRET~~

It should be noted that HAROLD SHAPIRO was in the company of the subject when she was first observed on the train. He, however, left the train prior to its departure from Washington, D.C. and the subject was alone during the trip to New York City.

January 19, 1949

At 12:10 P.M. on instant date, subject walked out of the 10th Street court entrance of the Department of Justice Building. She walked one half block to the corner of 10th and Pennsylvania Avenue, where she was joined by HAROLD SHAPIRO. While SHAPIRO remained at the corner of 10th and Pennsylvania Avenue, subject crossed over to the City Bank on the north east corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and 10th Street. At 12:20 P.M. COPLON returned to the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and 10th Street, and she and SHAPIRO caught a cab proceeding over Pennsylvania Avenue to the Union Station. At 12:27 P.M., subject and SHAPIRO entered Union Station and after stopping to make a purchase at a station news stand, continued to the entrances to trains. At 12:40 P.M., subject and SHAPIRO boarded Pennsylvania train #176, proceeded to car #1657, and occupied seats in the middle of the car. Special Agents JOE R. CRAIG and JOHN O. CAVADINE boarded this train and continued the surveillance to New York City, where they were met by New York agents at the Pennsylvania Station and turned this surveillance over to them.

January 30, 1949

On January 25, 1949, ^{Mrs.} [redacted] Washington T-2, advised that [redacted] previously mentioned in this report, had invited COPLON and SHAPIRO to dinner at 5:30 P.M. on January 30, 1949.

At 4:40 P.M. on instant date, surveillance commenced at [redacted], Virginia.

It was observed that [redacted] resided in apartment [redacted] at this address. At 5:25 P.M., JUDITH COPLON was driven by HAROLD SHAPIRO to this address and after parking, both entered the building where the [redacted] reside. Insofar as it could be ascertained, there were no other visitors at the [redacted] apartment.

January 31, 1949

At 8:05 P.M., [redacted] drove to the Rodman
